A Cut in Taxes.
Saturn Causes Trouble.
Lady Housemaids.
Starts New School.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE expects another good sized cut in taxes. Good management by Secretary Mellon and good times will find Uncle Sam with an enormous surplus, and five hundred million dollars, at least, will be cut from taxes this coming year. That will be an agreeable national present for the 1928 convention year.

There is the "if." It reads: "If business and conditions continue to be good. Conditions will continue to be good, if nobody interferes with them."

MR. OPPERMANN, a Viennese astrologist, says the planet Saturn is causing some of our troubles just now. In consequence there will be a business crisis in Spain next month, and a great economic crisis in America beginning next December. Even worse things would happen were it not for the assistance of Jupiter."

In these days only a few of the weak-minded ones will pay any attention to this.

Once such an announcement would have had importance.

When Kepler needed the emperor's help in his serious scientific work he was compelled to pretend that he believed in astrology, keeping the emperor interested [illegible] tell about his future.

DEAN INGE of St. Paul's in London, says, "there ought to be 'lady housemaids.'" Also, "the social status of domestic service should be raised, so that it could be recognized as an honorable profession for the daughters of professional men." He thinks that would solve one great social problem.

It would, temporarily.

The real solution is to develop electrical apparatus to take the place of "housemaids." Any woman good enough to be a good housemaid ought to be married and taking care of a family.

You would have been told in India, a while ago, that you must always have servants, otherwise who would work the "punkah," a fan to keep the air moving, while you slept? Now a small noiseless electric fan will do that and cost less than the cheapest Hindu servant.

If you have it in you to make money, you make money. Young Roger Kahn, son of an able financial father took to music. People said "too bad, he might have made himself a rich man."

But wait. Now he is organizing to distribute innumerable jazz bands to bring in an income of $3,000,000 a year.

Is Europe Moving Into Asia?

Europe is about 100,000 square miles smaller than it was ten years ago. One great city of more than 100,000 people, Perm, has been moved out of Europe, into Asia.

The boundary between these continents has been radically altered by the Soviet government, great slices of land now being considered in Asia although west of the Ural Mountains, which formed the old boundary line. An area almost as large as Italy or Poland has been shifted to another continent.

These changes are shown for the first time on any map in the new MAP OF EUROPE secured by our Washington Information Bureau. Copies of this up-to-date map, in full colors, with complete statistical data about Europe, may be had by any reader for a postage and handling charge of ten cents.

NEW YORK, March 28.—Smiling farewell to a huge crowd, 107 United States marines left the Brooklyn navy yard today bound for the war zone in China. They entrained for Philadelphia from where they will go to the coast. The "leathernecks" were fully equipped for action.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Hoping for the best and fearing the worst, official Washington continued preparations today to meet any exigencies in China.

SHANGHAI, March 28.—Anti-foreign agitators redoubled their activities today in the Chinese districts of Shanghai.

Approximately 70 additional American refugees have arrived from the Nanking district on board the steamships Tseangtah and Hsin-Tseangtah, two American-owned freighters plying the Yangtse river.

Sleep on Ship Decks.

Owing to lack of accommodations, men, women and children slept upon the decks, huddled close together for warmth.

Many of the refugees and some of the sailors on the United States destroyer Noa were ill of ptomaine poisoning from eating canned food on board the Noa where they took refuge when they fled from Nanking. None of the sailors was in serious condition, but 12 of the refugees were so ill that they had to be removed to a hospital for treatment.

A majority of the refugees wore Chinese garments, their own being torn off by Nationalist soldiers during their flight.

After landing the refugees were carried in motor cars to the Astor house where hot food, baths and clean beds were awaiting them. It was their first taste of real, clean civilization since they fled the orgy of terrorism at Nanking.

U. S. IS SILENT ON REPORTS OF MEXICAN PLOT

Kellogg Declines to Confirm or Deny Forged Documents.

NOTE DISPATCHED

Speedy Investigation Made by Both Governments.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Silence was maintained by the state department today concerning reports that a cleverly executed plot to embroil the United States and Mexico through the use of forged international documents had been discovered and frustrated. Secretary of State Kellogg declined to either confirm or deny that the existence of these forged documents had been established.

"I have nothing whatever to say about it," he said.

The latest American note to Mexico, the so-called "mystery note" is reported to have dealt with this alleged plot. According to rumors which have filtered through the capital, while the relations between Mexico City and Washington were [illegible] recently suspended. A[illegible] found its way through regular channels into the hands of the Mexican foreign office. It was of a nature calculated to inflame already intense Mexican feeling. Simultaneously there appeared in Washington a Mexican note of similar import.

Speedy investigation was undertaken by both governments, according to reports, and the misunderstandings were cleared up.

According to some officials, the rumore of the plat have greatly exaggerated the matter. The real knowledge of the ramifications of the plot, however, is confined to Secretary Kellogg and a few associates. They decline to throw any light on it, or to reveal the identity of the perpetrators, if known

WILLARD, O., March 28.—Francis A. Richards, 14, is dead here today following a hanging which police believe was accidental. THIRD WOUNDED AFTER DETROIT GAMBLER AIDE IS KIDNAPED

Suspect in Kent, O., Murder Blamed for Attack.

SLAYERS ESCAPE

Bodies of Victims Are Riddled With Bullets.

DETROIT, March 28.—Two men were killed and a third was seriously wounded today in Detroit's first machine gun shooting.

Joe Bloom and George Cohen were mowed down with an unaccountable number of bullets. Frank Wright, alias Burke, 23, of Chicago, was seriously injured.

The shooting resulted from the kidnaping of "Fish" Bloomfield, employee of "Doc" Brady, operator of a gambling establishment.

[illegible] Wright [illegible] Cadillac October 20, 1926. Files of Chicago newspapers telling of beer and gambling feuds in which machine guns have been used, were found in Wright's room.

Police expressed the belief that gunmen from Chicago and New York have been imported to carry on a gambling war here.

In the apartment occupied by the operators of the machine gun, police found a circular bearing the picture of Salvatore Miroglotta, alias Sam Miller, said to be wanted for the slaying of Patrolman Clayton Apple of the Kent police department, Kent, O., March 23, 1925. The landlady identified the picture as that of Miller.

Wright received a call at hotel [illegible] Cadillac early today that Bloom[illegible] was kidnaped and was being held for ransom. He was asked to come to apartment 308, 106 East Canfield, to discuss negotiations for Bloomfield's release.

Arming themselves Wright, Cohen and Bloom went to the apartment. A few minutes later they started to leave the building, the negotiations for ransom apparently having failed.

BELLEFONTAINE JUDGE WILL PRESIDE AT MAY TRIAL OF TWO SUSPECTS IN ALLEGED MURDER OF PASQUALE ANANIA

Judge H. M. Whitcraft, of Bellefontaine, probably will preside at the trial of Salvatore Rini, 26, of East Liverpool, and Mrs. Marie Chorgas, 28, Minneapolis, charged with the murder of Pasquale (Patsy) Anania, 25, if they are indicted at the April 11 session of the grand jury, it was announced today.

The trial probably will be assigned during early May.

Hearing is expected to be held Thursday or Friday before Probate Judge Lodge Riddle, Lisbon, on the motion of defense attorneys for bond for Rini and his sister-in-law, who are prisoners in the county jail.

Prosecutor Robert M. Brookes will seek first degree indictments against the suspects in the death of Anania, whose body, with a stab wound in the heart, was found in a Walnut street apartment last Tuesday night.

Eleven Arrests for Murder.

Arrest of Rini and Mrs. Chorgas made a total of eleven persons who have faced homicide charges in Columbiana county during the last seven years.

During the four-year incumbency of Prosecutor J. C. Hanley, there were three murder trials, two of which resulted in convictions and another in acquittal.

Although he served out three years, Prosecutor Brookes, who was assistant to Hanley, has had five murder trials and now faces his sixth should indictments be returned against Rini and Mrs. Chorgas.

Brookes obtained conviction in four of the five cases which he prosecuted although one case—that of Nick Scaccuto of Wellsville, under life sentence in the death of Patrolman James Kenney, Wellsville—has been carried to the court of appeals on error.

Hanley's first murder trial was that of James Memone, Wellsville, charged with the killing of Frank Nance, Wellsville grocer. Memone was acquitted.

Edward Johnson, colored, was the next man against whom a murder indictment was returned. He was charged with slaying Special Patrolman Hyatt in Wellsville. Johnson was found guilty and sentenced to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary where he died.

Prosecutor Brookes' First Case.

William Wolfe, charged with killing Mrs. Deborah Dearth, Mulberry street restaurant keeper in October 1924, was found guilty of murder in the second degree and sentenced to the state penitentiary. He also died in prison after he had served less than a year. This was Hanley' third and last murder trial.

Prosecutor Brookes' first homicide case was that of James Gagliridi, Wellsville, charged with killing Rocco Benvento, also of Wellsville. Gagliridi was convicted.

Then followed the acquittal of Fred Longo and Nick Shatti, Canton, in connection with the death of Vencenzo Desmona, of Wellsville.

The long fought George Anderson case was the next homicide trial in which Brookes was the prosecutor. Anderson, charged with the death of

THIRD WOUNDED AFTER DETROIT GAMBLER AIDE IS KIDNAPED

Suspect in Kent, O., Murder Blamed for Attack.

SLAYERS ESCAPE

Bodies of Victims Are Riddled With Bullets.

DETROIT, March 28.—Two men were killed and a third was seriously wounded today in Detroit's first machine gun shooting.

Joe Bloom and George Cohen were mowed down with an unaccountable number of bullets. Frank Wright, alias Burke, 23, of Chicago, was seriously injured.

The shooting resulted from the kidnaping of "Fish" Bloomfield, employee of "Doc" Brady, operator of a gambling establishment.

Common knowledge [illegible] Wright registered at the Book-Cadillac October 20, 1926. Files of Chicago newspapers telling of beer and gambling feuds in which machine guns have been used, were found in Wright's room.

Police expressed the belief that gunmen from Chicago and New York have been imported to carry on a gambling war here.

In the apartment occupied by the operators of the machine gun, police found a circular bearing the picture of Salvatore Mirogliotta, alias Sam Miller, said to be wanted for the slaying of Patrolman Clayton Apple of the Kent police department, Kent, O., March 23, 1925. The landlady identified the picture as that of Miller.

Wright received a call at hotel Book-Cadillac early today that Bloom-[illegible] Cohen kidnaped and was being held for ransom. He was asked to come to apartment 308, 106 East Canfield, to discuss negotiations for Bloomfield's release.

Arming themselves Wright, Cohen and Bloom went to the apartment. A few minutes later they started to leave the building, the negotiations for ransom apparently having failed.

Judge H. M. Whitcraft, of Bellefontaine, probably will preside at the trial of Salvatore Rini, 26, of East Liverpool, and Mrs. Marie Chorgas, 28, Minneapolis, charged with the murder of Pasquale (Patsy) Anania, 25, if they are indicted at the April 11 session of the grand jury, it was announced today.

The trial probably will be assigned during early May.

Hearing is expected to be held Thursday or Friday before Probate Judge Lodge Riddle, Lisbon, on the motion of defense attorneys for bond for Rini and his sister-in-law, who are prisoners in the county jail.

Prosecutor Robert M. Brookes will seek first degree indictments against the suspects in the death of Anania, whose body, with a stab wound in the heart, was found in a Walnut street apartment last Tuesday night.

Eleven Arrests for Murder.

Arrest of Rini and Mrs. Chorgas made a total of eleven persons who have faced homicide charges in Columbiana county during the last seven years.

During the four-year incumbency of Prosecutor J. C. Hanley, there were three murder trials, two of which resulted in convictions and another in acquittal.

Although he served out three years, Prosecutor Brookes, who was assistant to Hanley, has had five murder trials and now faces his sixth should indictments be returned against Rini and Mrs. Chorgas.

Brookes obtained conviction in four of the five cases which he prosecuted although one case—that of Nick Scacuto of Wellsville, under life sentence in the death of Patrolman James Kenney, Wellsville—has been carried to the court of appeals on error.

Hanley's first murder trial was that of James Memone, Wellsville, charged with the killing of Frank Nance, Wellsville grocer. Memone was acquitted.

Edward Johnson, colored, was the next man against whom a murder indictment was returned. He was charged with slaying Special Patrolman Hyatt in Wellsville. Johnson was found guilty and sentenced to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary where he died.

Prosecutor Brookes' first homicide case was that of James Gagliardi, Wellsville, charged with killing Rocco Benvento, also of Wellsville. Gagliardi was convicted.

Then followed the acquittal of Fred Longo and Nick Shatti, Canton, in connection with the death of Vencenzo Desmona, of Wellsville.

The long fought George Anderson case was the next homicide trial in which Brookes was the prosecutor. Anderson, charged with the death of

A Cut in Taxes.
Saturn Causes Trouble.
Lady Housemaids.
Starts New School.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE expects another good sized cut in taxes. Good management by Secretary Mellon and good times will find Uncle Sam with an enormous surplus, and five hundred million dollars, at least, will be cut from taxes this coming year. That will be an agreeable national present for the 1928 convention year.

There is the "if." It reads: "If business and conditions continue to be good. Conditions will continue to be good, if nobody interferes with them."

MR. OPPERMANN, a Viennese astrologist, says the planet Saturn is causing some of our troubles just now. In consequence there will be a business crisis in Spain next month, and a great economic crisis in America beginning next December. Even worse things would happen were it not for the assistance of Jupiter."

In these days only a few of the weak-minded ones will pay any attention to this.

Once such an announcement would have had importance.

When Kepler needed the emperor's help in his serious scientific work he was compelled to pretend that he believed in astrology, keeping the emperor interested by making the stars tell about his future.

DEAN INGE of St. Paul's in London, says, "there ought to be 'lady housemaids.'" Also, "the social status of domestic service should be raised, so that it could be recognized as an honorable profession for the daughters of professional men." He thinks that would solve one great social problem.

It would, temporarily.

The real solution is to develop electrical apparatus to take the place of "housemaids." Any woman good enough to be a good housemaid ought to be married and taking care of a family.

You would have been told in India, a while ago, that you must always have servants, otherwise who would work the "punkah," a fan to keep the air moving, while you slept? Now a small noiseless electric fan will do that and cost less than the cheapest Hindu servant.

If you have it in you to make money, you make money. Young Roger Kahn, son of an able financial father took to music. People said "too bad, he might have made himself a rich man."

But wait. Now he is organizing to distribute innumerable jazz bands to bring in an income of $3,000,000 a year,

Is Europe Moving Into Asia?

Europe is about 100,000 square miles smaller than it was ten years ago. One great city of more than 100,000 people, Perm, has been moved out of Europe, into Asia.

The boundary between these continents has been radically altered by the Soviet government, great slices of land now being considered in Asia although west of the Ural Mountains, which formed the old boundary line. An area almost as large as Italy or Poland has been shifted to another continent.

These changes are shown for the first time on any map in the new MAP OF EUROPE secured by our Washington Information Bureau. Copies of this up-to-date map, in full colors, with complete statistical data about Europe, may be had by any reader for a postage and handling charge of ten cents.

ANTI-FOREIGN HATRED RULES IN SHANGHAI

Rain Helps Keep Crowds Off Streets in Foreign Settlement.

NEW YORK, March 28.—Smiling farewell to a huge crowd, 107 United States marines left the Brooklyn navy yard today bound for the war zone in China. They entrained for Philadelphia from where they will go to the coast. The "leathernecks" were fully equipped for action.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Hoping for the best and fearing the worst, official Washington continued preparations today to meet any exigencies in China.

Overnight reports from Admiral C. S. Williams, commanding the Asiatic fleet from Shanghai, emphasized the tensity of the situation throughout the Yangtze river district where agitators are whipping up anti-foreign sentiment Japanese Troops Land.

LONDON, March 28.—The Shanghai defense commissioner has succeeded in establishing order in the Chinese city and no fears are held for an immediate attack from the Nationalists, according to dispatches to the foreign office today.

No unified military action has been agreed upon as yet, the dispatches said.

Seven additional Japanese destroyers are reported to have arrived at Shanghai and are landing troops.

SHANGHAI, March 28.—Anti-foreign agitators redoubled their activities today in the Chinese districts of Shanghai.

All was quiet in the foreign settlements.

Rain fell heavily throughout the day which helped keep crowds off the streets.

The U.S.S. Preble arrived here today, being the sixth vessel to arrive here with refugees from Nanking.

Approximately 70 additional American refugees have arrived from the Nanking district on board the steamships Tseangath and Hsin-Tseangtah, two American-owned freighters plying the Yangtse river.

Sleep on Ship Decks.

Owing to lack of accommodations, men, women and children slept upon the decks, huddled close together for warmth.

Many of the refugees and some of the sailors on the United States destroyer Noa were ill of ptomaine poisoning from eating canned food on board the Noa where they took refuge when they fled from Nanking. None of the sailors was in serious condition, but 12 of the refugees were so ill that they had to be removed to a hospital for treatment.

Two of the victims were believed to be dying.

A majority of the refugees wore Chinese garments, their own being torn off by Nationalist soldiers during their flight.

After landing the refugees were carried in motor cars to the Astor house where hot food, baths and clean beds were awaiting them. It was their first taste of real, clean civilization since they fled the orgy of terrorism at Nanking.

HATTIE

By Samuel Merwin

SYNOPSIS

HATTIE JOHNSON, Just 17, is a somewhat colorless little girl, who works in the mailing room of a printing and bookbinding establishment. She and the office boy have been seen holding hands—otherwise there has been no romance in her life. One day a girl who had formerly worked in the mailing room comes to call. Her name is

LUCILLE OVERMAN, and she is now working in pictures. She takes Hattie to the studio where she, Lucille, is to have a screen test. Hattie there is seen by the famous director,

De BRISSAC, who makes a screen test of her. Hattie lives with her married sister,

ALICE and her baby daughter, Emily, and

GRANDMA, a querulous semi-invalid. Hattie is scolded for being late home and resolves it shall not happen again, but that night she again goes to the studio and is again late. Alice and Grandma are wondering and worrying.

Hattie tells Alice that she has had the test, that it is a success and that she is to have a job in the movies.

CHAPTER SEVEN.

"Will you, or will you not go to your room?" demanded Gran'ma.

"I don't mean to be impertinent, Gran'ma, but I must ask you to be reasonable."

"You are very impertinent. You are turning against me."

"No I'm not—but—"

"How dare you—"

"Hattie" — Alice was surprisingly abrupt, was indeed, rather sharply businesslike—"you're going down there at ten o'clock?"

"Mm-hmm!"

"I'm going with you. You can't make a contract anyway. You're a minor. They'll dock me at the office, but—" She turned in a burst of nervous emotion on the gaunt, crippled old woman in the doorway. "Oh, Gran'ma, won't you at least try to rise out of these old prejudices and see what this may mean?"

"Prejudices!" The thin face was drawn sternly down; the eyes were blazing.

"Oh, I dont' mean that either, but can't you see that just by a wonderful chance we may be swept up out of all this squalor—plenty of money, everything easy—we could take such beautiful care of you—"

"Are you trying to tell me that for a little dirty money you'd sell the virtue of your own sister? Beverly!"

"But Gran'ma, you're utterly unreasonable!"

"Oh, I am?"

Gran'ma turned, with what Alice felt, even at the moment, to be pathetic dignity, and stumped angrily back to her room. Shut the door with a bang.

Hattie, though her eyes were still mistily radiant, spoke in an oddly practical little voice.

"It's going to be an awful night, Alice. She'll get back at us."

"I know." But Alice couldn't quite permit the girl to persue that line of talk. Though she did know. Gran'ma would be ill; would be calling on first one and then the other; there would be hot water bags to fill; she herself would have to run over to the all-night drugstore for spirits of ammonia. And merely trying again to be kind would get them nowhere. Gran'ma would be unforgiving. To her crabbed nature that would seem just. She would be implacable. She certainly wouldn't let them sleep. Doubtless she'd wake Emily up.

Alice sighed. Then she looked down at her dreamily happy little sister. Queer business! A topsy-turvy world! . . .. Misgivings came. "Beverly"—a queerly make-believe far-off place, out of which whispery stories drifted like smoke. The girls in the store talked pruriently of it. And what sad influences mightn't a lot of happy-go-lucky picture people have on a colorless little girl like Hattie. Not that they need be worse than other people. They couldn't be worse than New Yorkers. For that matter, almost every house back in Elizabeth, up and down the simple street, had had its whispery story of intrigue, even of blood. But those houses weren't dangerously attractive. They'd never lure a girl into wrong. About Beverly hovered a glamour. It was even possible that the money might come too easily Money did change people; lot of it, pouring in all at once. And in the pictures every one seemed to deal in tens and hundreds of thousands. Even in millions. Millions . .. . !

They sat, Alice and Hattie, in the spacious office of the pleasant Mr. Kremmer.

"How—how much will you pay?" It was Alice who phrased the question. They had come to it.

"Now, I'll tell you." Thus the smilingly shrewd Mr. Kremmer. Hattie's mouth curled again in that quite complacent smile; Alice hung on his words in a nervous tension that was nearly unbearable. "Miss Johnson is a very fortunate young lady. Mr. de Brissac believes he can do great things with her—that she really has a future. And Mr. de Brissac doesn't often go wrong in his judgment. You understand, of course, that it is an unusual thing to hire an untried girl on a salary basis and pay her expenses to the Coast and back. But that is Mr. de Brissac's wish. It is a very unusual opportunity. Mr. de Brissac plans to make this his greatest picture. We stand ready to spend up to a half million dollars—"

The sisters looked at each other.

"—if necessary to see it through. And we are willing to guarantee employment for not less than four months."

"How much will you—"

"I'm coming to that. In view of all the circumstances, we feel that seventy-five dollars a week would be—"

The sisters looked again. Hattie's eyes clouded, and her under lip quivered. Mr. Kremmer studied her narrowly. Alice felt a flash of anger coming into her eyes, and fought it back.

"Oh!" breathed Hattie, unhappily.

You see, Alice explained, nervously brisk. "I can't let my sister go alone . . ."

"No, indeed. We are quite willing to—"

". . . and I should have to give up my own job in the store. My sister'd have to give up her job, too. Then there's my little girl and an invalid grandmother. They're both helpless. We couldn't leave them. I'm really afraid we can't—"

Hattie put out a fluttering hand to stop this. She couldn't consider not going.

Mr. Kremmer hesitated; drew pictures on an envelope. Alice rushed eagerly on. But he said he'd have to talk it over with both Mr. de Brissac and Mr. Veach. He finally told them to come back at four and bowed them out.

The sisters ate unhappily at Child's. Then they went to see a picture. And toward four their courage nearly failed. But Alice stuck grimly to it; dragged the girl into the elevator that led up to the headquarters of nearly all Filmdom, and after a brief time of waiting was arguing again.

Mr. Kremmer's next proposition, however, proved nearly as surprising as the first. He insisted on tying Hattie up for three years, starting at a hundred dollars a week, and increasing by a hundred during each of the other years.

"But she might make a hit," cried Alice.

"Then she must keep her contract. She takes that chance. On the other hand, we take the chance of a failure. We will, besides, give you a drawing room for four people to the Coast—and return at the end of the three years! We will pay for any other transportation that may be necessary. And if you need a little money to clear up here and get away—say two or three hundred dollars—we'll give you that . .. . This is the best offer we can make. I'm afraid I must ask you to take it or leave it. And I don't mind adding that you are very fortunate in having Mr. de Brissac on your side.

There was to be no overnight fortune. But as they walked over to the subway, their spirits rose somewhat. At least it was something—a chance and a chance.

HATTIE

By Samuel Merwin

SYNOPSIS

HATTIE JOHNSON, Just 17, is a somewhat colorless little girl, who works in the mailing room of a printing and bookbinding establishment. She and the office boy have been seen holding hands—otherwise there has been no romance in her life. One day a girl who had formerly worked in the mailing room comes to call. Her name is

LUCILLE OVERMAN, and she is now working in pictures. She takes Hattie to the studio where she, Lucille, is to have a screen test. Hattie there is seen by the famous director,

De BRISSAC, who makes a screen test of her. Hattie lives with her married sister,

ALICE and her baby daughter, Emily, and

GRANDMA, a querulous semi-invalid. Hattie is scolded for being late home and resolves it shall not happen again, but that night she again goes to the studio and is again late, Alice and Grandma are wondering and worrying.

Hattie tells Alice that she has had the test, that it is a success and that she is to have a job in the movies.

CHAPTER SEVEN.

"Will you, or will you not go to your room?" demanded Gran'ma.

"I don't mean to be impertinent, Gran'ma, but I must ask you to be reasonable."

"You are very impertinent. You are turning against me."

"No I'm not—but—"

"How dare you—"

"Hattie" — Alice was surprisingly abrupt, was indeed, rather sharply businesslike—"you're going down there at ten o'clock?"

"Mm-hmm!"

"I'm going with you. You can't make a contract anyway. You're a minor. They'll dock me at the office, but—" She turned in a burst of nervous emotion on the gaunt, crippled old woman in the doorway. "Oh, Gran'ma, won't you at least try to rise out of these old prejudices and see what this may mean?"

"Prejudices!" The thin face was drawn sternly down; the eyes were blazing.

"Oh, I dont' mean that either, but can't you see that just by a wonderful chance we may be swept up out of all this squalor—plenty of money, everything easy—we could take such beautiful care of you—"

"Are you trying to tell me that for a little dirty money you'd sell the virtue of your own sister? Beverly!"

"But Gran'ma, you're utterly unreasonable!"

"Oh, I am?"

Gran'ma turned, with what Alice felt, even at the moment, to be pathetic dignity, and stumped angrily back to her room. Shut the door with a bang.

Hattie, though her eyes were still mistily radiant, spoke in an oddly practical little voice.

"It's going to be an awful night, Alice. She'll get back at us."

"I know." But Alice couldn't quite permit the girl to persue that line of talk. Though she did know. Gran'ma would be ill; would be calling on first one and then the other; there would be hot water bags to fill; she herself would have to run over to the all-night drugstore for spirits of ammonia. And merely trying again to be kind would get them nowhere. Gran'ma would be unforgiving. To her crabbed nature that would seem just. She would be implacable. She certainly wouldn't let them sleep. Doubtless she'd wake Emily up.

Alice sighed. Then she looked down at her dreamily happy little sister. Queer business! A topsy-turvy world! . . .. Misgivings came. "Beverly"—a queerly make-believe far-off place, out of which whispery stories drifted like smoke. The girls in the store talked pruriently of it. And what sad influences mightn't a lot of happy-go-lucky picture people have on a colorless little girl like Hattie. Not that they need be worse than other people. But those houses weren't dangerously attractive. They'd never lure a girl into wrong. About Beverly hovered a glamour. It was even possible that the money might come too easily Money did change people; lot of it, pouring in all at once. And in the pictures every one seemed to deal in tens and hundreds of thousands. Even in millions. Millions . .. . !

They sat, Alice and Hattie, in the spacious office of the pleasant Mr. Kremmer.

"How—how much will you pay?" It was Alice who phrased the question. They had come to it.

"Now, I'll tell you." Thus the smilingly shrewd Mr. Kremmer. Hattie's mouth curled again in that quite complacent smile; Alice hung on his words in a nervous tension that was nearly unbearable. Mr. Kremmer hesitated; drew pictures on an envelope. Alice rushed eagerly on. But he said he'd have to talk it over with both Mr. de Brissac and Mr. Veach. He finally told them to come back at four and bowed them out.

The sisters ate unhappily at Child's. Then they went to see a picture. And toward four their courage nearly failed. But Alice stuck grimly to it; dragged the girl into the elevator that led up to the headquarters of nearly all Filmdom, and after a brief time of waiting was arguing again.

Mr. Kremmer's next proposition, however, proved nearly as surprising as the first. He insisted on tying Hattie up for three years, starting at a hundred dollars a week, and increasing by a hundred during each of the other years.

"But she might make a hit," cried Alice.

HATTIE

By Samuel Merwin

SYNOPSIS

HATTIE JOHNSON, Just 17, is a somewhat colorless little girl, who works in the mailing room of a printing and bookbinding establishment. She and the office boy have been seen holding hands—otherwise there has been no romance in her life. One day a girl who had formerly worked in the mailing room comes to call. Her name is

LUCILLE OVERMAN, and she is now working in pictures. She takes Hattie to the studio where she, Lucille, is to have a screen test. Hattie there is seen by the famous director,

De BRISSAC, who makes a screen test of her. Hattie lives with her married sister,

ALICE and her baby daughter, Emily, and

GRANDMA, a querulous semi-invalid. Hattie is scolded for being late home and resolves it shall not happen again, but that night she again goes to the studio and is again late. Alice and Grandma are wondering and worrying.

Hattie tells Alice that she has had the test, that it is a success and that she is to have a job in the movies.

CHAPTER SEVEN.

"Will you, or will you not go to your room?" demanded Gran'ma.

"I don't mean to be impertinent, Gran'ma, but I must ask you to be reasonable."

"You are very impertinent. You are turning against me."

"No I'm not—but—"

"How dare you—"

"Hattie" — Alice was surprisingly abrupt, was indeed, rather sharply businesslike—"you're going down there at ten o'clock?"

"Mm-hmm!"

"I'm going with you. You can't make a contract anyway. You're a minor. They'll dock me at the office, but—" She turned in a burst of nervous emotion on the gaunt, crippled old woman in the doorway. "Oh, Gran'ma won't you at least try to rise out of these old prejudices and see what this may mean?"

"Prejudices!" The thin face was drawn sternly down; the eyes were blazing.

"Oh, I dont' mean that either, but can't you see that just by a wonderful chance we may be swept up out of all this squalor—plenty of money, everything easy—we could take such beautiful care of you—"

"Are you trying to tell me that for a little dirty money you'd sell the virtue of your own sister? Beverly!"

"But Gran'ma, you're utterly unreasonable!"

"Oh, I am?"

Gran'ma turned, with what Alice felt, even at the moment, to be pathetic dignity, and stumped angrily back to her room. Shut the door with a bang.

Hattie, though her eyes were still mistily radiant, spoke in an oddly practical little voice.

"It's going to be an awful night, Alice. She'll get back at us."

"I know." But Alice couldn't quite permit the girl to persue that line of talk. Though she did know. Gran'ma would be ill; would be calling on first one and then the other; there would be hot water bags to fill; she herself would have to run over to the all-night drugstore for spirits of ammonia. And merely trying again to be kind would get them nowhere. Gran'ma would be unforgiving. To her crabbed nature that would seem just. She would be implacable. She certainly wouldn't let them sleep. Doubtless she'd wake Emily up.

Alice sighed. Then she looked down at her dreamily happy little sister. Queer business! A topsy-turvy world! . . .. Misgivings came. "Beverly"—a queerly make-believe far-off place, out of which whispery stories drifted like smoke. The girls in the store talked pruriently of it. And what sad influences mightn't a lot of happy-go-lucky picture people have on a colorless little girl like Hattie. Not that they need be worse than other people. They coudn't be worse than New Yorkers. For that matter, almost every house back in Elizabeth, up and down the simple street, had had its whispery story of intrigue, even of blood. But those houses weren't dangerously attractive. They'd never lure a girl into wrong. About Beverly hovered a glamour. It was even possible that the money might come too easily. Money did change people; lot of it, pouring in all at once. And in the pictures every one seemed to deal in tens and hundreds of thousands. Even in millions. Millions . .. !

They sat, Alice and Hattie, in the spacious office of the pleasant Mr. Kremmer.

"How—how much will you pay?" It was Alice who phrased the question. They had come to it.

"Now, I'll tell you." Thus the smilingly shrewd Mr. Kremmer. Hattie's mouth curled again in that quite complacent smile; Alice hung on his words in a nervous tension that was nearly unbearable. "Miss Johnson is a very fortunate young lady. Mr. de Brissac believes he can do great things with her—that she really has a future. And Mr. de Brissac doesn't often go wrong in his judgment. You understand, of course, that it is an unusual thing to hire an untried girl on a salary basis and pay her expenses to the Coast and back. But that is Mr. de Brissac's wish. It is a very unusual opportunity. Mr. de Brissac plans to make this his greatest picture. We stand ready to spend up to a half million dollars—"

The sisters looked at each other.

"—if necessary to see it through. And we are willing to guarantee employment for not less than four months."

"How much will you—"

"I'm coming to that. In view of all the circumstances, we feel that seventy-five dollars a week would be—"

The sisters looked again. Hattie's eyes clouded, and her under lip quivered. Mr. Kremmer studied her narrowly. Alice felt a flash of anger coming into her eyes, and fought it back.

"Oh!" breathed Hattie, unhappily.

You see, Alice explained, nervously brisk. "I can't let my sister go alone . . ."

"No, indeed. We are quite willing to—"

". . . and I should have to give up my own job in the store. My sister'd have to give up her job, too. Then there's my little girl and an invalid grandmother. They're both helpless. We couldn't leave them. I'm really afraid we can't—"

Hattie put out a fluttering hand to stop this. She couldn't consider not going.

Mr. Kremmer hesitated; drew pictures on an envelope. Alice rushed eagerly on. But he said he'd have to talk it over with both Mr. de Brissac and Mr. Veach. He finally told them to come back at four and bowed them out.

The sisters ate unhappily at Child's. Then they went to see a picture. And toward four their courage nearly failed. But Alice stuck grimly to it; dragged the girl into the elevator that led up to the headquarters of nearly all Filmdom, and after a brief time of waiting was arguing again.

Mr. Kremmer's next proposition, however, proved nearly as surprising as the first. He insisted on tying Hattie up for three years, starting at a hundred dollars a week, and increasing by a hundred during each of the other years.

"But she might make a hit," cried Alice.

"Then she must keep her contract. She takes that chance. On the other hand, we take the chance of a failure. We will, besides, give you a drawing room for four people to the Coast—and return at the end of the three years! We will pay for any other transportation that may be necessary. And if you need a little money to clear up here and get away—say two or three hundred dollars—we'll give you that . .. . This is the best offer we can make. I'm afraid I must ask you to take it or leave it. And I don't mind adding that you are very fortunate in having Mr. de Brissac on your side.

There was to be no overnight fortune. But as they walked over to the subway, their spirits rose somewhat. At least it was something—a chance and a chance.

OUR SILVER YEAR

119-121 EAST FIFTH STREET. OPPOSITE FIRST NATIONAL BANK.

"Big Oaks from Little Acorns Grow"

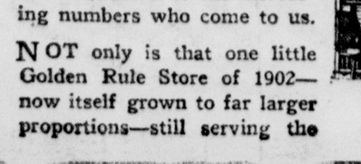
A SMALL dry goods, shoe and clothing store was opened in a small town in the West, serving a few hundred homes.

1927

THE one small store has grown into a Nation-wide Institution of 773 Department Stores, serving millions of homes.

A quarter of a century of achievement . . . a period of human helpfulness

BEGINNING April 1st, we will celebrate with pride and thankfulness, our Twenty-fifth or Silver Anniversary —with pride for the privilege of serving the American public—with thankfulness for the generous response that has come to our effort.



ORIGINAL STORE AT KEMMERER, WYO.

SINCE the Spring day in April, 1902, when Mr. Penney inaugurated, in a small and inconspicuous manner, a Retail Shopping Service which was destined to become one of Nation-wide Helpfulness, a quarter of a century has passed.

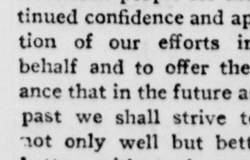
IT has been a period of notable growth and expansion, of winning millions of friends, of serving them faithfully, of basing achievement upon the good will of mutual satisfaction.

DURING all these eventful years, we have been mindful of our responsibilities to the legion of patrons who have contributed and are today contributing, so continuously and so generously, in helping making our Service one not of profit alone but of the confidence that rests on good will.

NEVER for a moment have we knowingly wavered from the responsibility of this relationship. It has always been to us an inspiration to reach out for greater things, that we might be the better prepared to render a Service which should prove to be more and more beneficial to the increasing numbers who come to us.

THE PENNEY HOME IN 1907

NOT only is that one little Golden Rule Store of 1902—now itself grown to far larger proportions—still serving the people in and about Kemmerer, Wyoming, but there has sprung from its applied principles and policies, others to a present total of 773 Department Stores, scattered over 46 States.



TYPICAL J. C. PENNEY CO. STORE OF TODAY

ALL these are children of what we now affectionately term The Mother Store; all happily operate in the Service of the public under the name of the J. C. Penney Company.

THE Founder of this Organization—Mr. James C. Penney—builded in his pioneering days more enduring and substantially than he knew.

HIS ideals and practices—square treatment alike to all always—and the extent to which he packed Value into every Dollar of purchase—these constitute the pattern according to which this enormous business has been shaped and which has caused it to grow until it has now become a Nation-wide Institution, serving more than 3,000,000 homes.

THE dynamic selective and buying power of the Company created by its tremendous volume of cash sales, which in 1926, amounted to $115,682,737.86, gives a saving power to the public which means much to the thrift and to the economic life of the people of every community where it operates a Store.

AT this milepost in our history, we pause only long enough to express our thanks to the great American people for their continued confidence and appreciation of our efforts in their behalf and to offer the assurance that in the future as in the past we shall strive to serve not only well but better and better with each succeeding business day.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 93

Mother! It's Cruel to "Physic" Your Child

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept constanly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even if the child is chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself.

LEGISLATURE IS FACING GRIND

Members of the committee on labor will meet the same night when employers will be given an opportunity to express their views on pending measures dealing with labor subjects.

Hearing on the water power bill will be held Wednesday morning by the joint committees of the house and senate.

FEAR SALESMAN IN LOVE CRIME MAY KILL SELF

Police Watch Man in Murder of Editor.

WOMAN CHEERFUL

Passionately Phrased Letters Found in New York Quiz.

NEW YORK, March 28.—Officials of the Queens county jail today redoubled their vigilance to prevent Henry Judd Gray, middle aged corset salesman and lover of Mrs. Ruth Snyder, from taking his own life. Gray is in a desperate state of mind and threats muttered while he restlessly paced his cell led the authorities to fear that he might try to commit suicide if an opportunity offered.

Mrs. Snyder who is jointly under murder indictment with Gray for the murder of her husband, Albert Snyder, art editor of "Motor Boating," is in a more cheerful frame of mind. Her sole determination is to free herself from the charge hanging over her head.

With the announcement by District Attorney Newcombe, of Queens county, that he has come into possession of a series of passionately-phrased love letters—all written in code—which passed between Mrs. Snyder and Gray, it was revealed that the state regards these missives as one of its strongest links of evidence against the accused pair. These love letters were exchanged during the last few weeks which proceded the murder of the woman's husband.

Third Party Involved.

The letters addressed to Mrs. Snyder, Newcombe said, had been mailed to the Snyder home, after arrangements had been made whereby she would receive them without fear of their interception by the husband.

He intimated that a third party had been involved in the plan for their delivery to the woman's home in Queens Village.

Snyder knew three years before he was murdered by his wife and her lover that the woman had been untrue to him. At that time he made the first moves for a divorce that would have saved his life, but he dropped the action before it reached the courts—actuated by his love for his daughter, Lorraine.

Police are trying to trace the source of the bichloride of mercury which Gray had mixed with a bottle of Scotch whisky that the authorities found in his baggage. They want to find whether it was purchased by Gray or Mrs. Snyder. They believe that Gray may have intended to use it to take his own life if the crime was fastened upon him, although the opinion is also advanced that Gray and his mistress may have planned to administer it to Snyder.

To save a cat that had climbed to the top of a stack at Swansea, Wales, and could not get down, a man climbed the sixty feet and rescued the pet.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 93

Mother! It's Cruel to "Physic" Your Child

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept constanly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even if the child is chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself.

WOMAN CHEERFUL

Passionately Phrased Letters Found in New York Quiz.

NEW YORK, March 28.—Officials of the Queens county jail today redoubled their vigilance to prevent Henry Judd Gray, middle aged corset salesman and lover of Mrs. Ruth Snyder, from taking his own life. Gray is in a desperate state of mind and threats muttered while he restlessly paced his cell led the authorities to fear that he might try to commit suicide if an opportunity offered.

Mrs. Snyder who is jointly under murder indictment with Gray for the murder of her husband, Albert Snyder, art editor of "Motor Boating," is in a more cheerful frame of mind. Her sole determination is to free herself from the charge hanging over her head.

With the announcement by District Attorney Newcombe, of Queens county, that he has come into possession of a series of passionately-phrased love letters—all written in code—which passed between Mrs. Snyder and Gray, it was revealed that the state regards these missives as one of its strongest links of evidence against the accused pair. These love letters were exchanged during the last few weeks which proceded the murder of the woman's husband.

Third Party Involved.

The letters addressed to Mrs. Snyder, Newcombe said, had been mailed to the Snyder home, after arrangements had been made whereby she would receive them without fear of their interception by the husband.

He intimated that a third party had been involved in the plan for their delivery to the woman's home in Queens Village.

Snyder knew three years before he was murdered by his wife and her lover that the woman had been untrue to him. At that time he made the first moves for a divorce that would have saved his life, but he dropped the action before it reached the courts—actuated by his love for his daughter, Lorraine.

Police are trying to trace the source of the bichloride of mercury which Gray had mixed with a bottle of Scotch whisky that the authorities found in his baggage. They want to find whether it was purchased by Gray or Mrs. Snyder. They believe that Gray may have intended to use it to take his own life if the crime was fastened upon him, although the opinion is also advanced that Gray and his mistress may have planned to administer it to Snyder.

To save a cat that had climbed to the top of a stack at Swansea, Wales, and could not get down, a man climbed the sixty feet and rescued the pet.

England is to have a cigarette factory covering nine acres of floor space.

The National Parks

Visitors to the 19 national parks and 32 national monuments of the United States were more numerous by 260,343 in 1926 than in the preceding year. There is no doubt that enjoyment of the parks is gaining right along, and more and more Americans every year are becoming acquainted with these vast and beautiful playgrounds.

Extensive construction of new roads and trails has already begun throughout the park system, so that there will be new scenes and trips for repeaters and greater opportunities for those who enter the parks for the first time. The park system will soon include certain enchanting areas in the Blue Ridge mountains in Virginia and the Great Smokies in North Carolina.

All this is matter for real public pride and satisfaction. The slow but steady expansion of the national park system means the preservation to the American people of many beautiful and unusual regions, as worthy of attention as any of the scenic wonders of other lands and other continents.

A Million Colors

"Ask your friends how many distinct colors they can recognize," says a writer in Popular Science Monthly. "Most of them will guess that they can see 50 or a hundred separate colors."

This ridiculously low, it appears. Recent scientific tests have shown that even people with eyes not trained to be especially color sensitive can distinguish upwards of 60,000 colors, shades and hues, while artists can distinguish two or three times as many color variations. More surprising, still, it is said that new gauges recently developed by the nited States Bureau of Standards are able to distinguish a million different possible color shades.

Scientists and psychologists are studying colors with definite purposes in mind such as aiding health and sanity, stimulating certin emotions or abilities, and so on.

In the meantime, the people who name colors for fashion ads will have a glorious orgy of invention and will keep the long-suffering public busy guessing and trying to learn what names mean which shades and colors. Right now we defy even a salesgirl to pick out of a pile of colored yarns the ones exactly described by such shade names as "sonata," "illusion," "hoggar," "cascade," "Arab," and monkey-skin."

The Brainiest Businesses

"Which are the brainiest and most successful of America's huge enterprises" asks B. C. Forbes, prominent business commentator. He suggests this list of ten businesses:

General Motors.
General Electric.
J. P. Morgan & Co.
Steel Corporation.
Standard Oil.
American Telephone and Telegraph.
Metropolitan Life.
National City Bank.
Eastman Kodak.
Woolworth's.

"What is missing from this picture?" as the puzzle editors say. Many will suggest additions or changes. Perhaps the omission of Ford Motor company is the most notable thing about Mr. Forbes' list. It might make a good subject for debate—whether Ford's great and profitable enterprise should be in the first 10, and if not, why?

Buliding Too Strongly

Wreckers have been trying in vain for several weeks to destroy the vault of a bank building in New York City, in process of razing it to make room for a new skyscraper. The walls are two stories high and two feet thick, made of twisted steel and concrete. Dynamite accomplishes little. and the most effective modern drills make slow work.

Here is something to think about, in a country whose business sections, as a rule, are completely rebuilt every 20 or 30 years, and which nevertheless insists on erecting buildings "as durable as the pyramids." Many a structure erected in recent years would offer almost as much resistance to destruction, in every part, as that bank vault does.

If we're going to build so strongly, we shall not be able to tear down and reconstruct with the growth of cities. If we want to keep our cities plastic, and remodel them from generation to generation, we can't build so strongly.

Veteran Skater

A lively citizen named Hitchcock, aged 87, boasts himself the champion skater of Sarnia, Ontario, and is much put out because John Govette of Meaford claims the provincial championship. Govette is a mere stripling of 82 years. Hitchcock challenges him to a contest of anything that can be done on skates, and promises to show him some real fancy skating when the contest's over. He has been skating for 80 years, and thinks he ought to be pretty good by this time.

Such talk, while smacking of egotism, has a wholesome sound. It is good to know that there is still some regard on this continent for the ancient and invigorating sport of skating, which in these latter years is yielding shamefully to such pusillanimous diversions as indoor golf and jazz dancing.

My Favorite Stories
By IRVIN S. COBB

WHEN DAVIS TAKES PEN IN HAND

"Bob" Davis, editor of Munsey's magazine, is one of the best letter writers in the world, as those who have had personal or professional correspondence with him can testify. He packs as much of wisdom into three lines on a sheet of office notepaper as some people could put into a whole book.

I remember once that a friend of mine sent Davis a very bad short story. Davis returned the manuscript with these words:

"Dear Bill: This yarn smells to Heaven. Control yourself, my dear boy—control yourself."

But I think he rose to his most inspired heights here when he received from an unknown author a jingle. The sender, in a letter accompanying the verse, declared them to be his very own. But somehow or other, as Davis read them over, he was struck by a haunting note of familiarity. He pondered a bit and then he had the answer. Line for line, and almost word for word, the poem was copied from a lyric which had been sung years before in "The Yankee Prince."

So Davis fired the offering back to the plagiarist with this letter:

"My Dear Sir: I do not believe I care to use this work of yours. It may be original, as you claim. Far be it from me to take issue with you on that point. But I will say this:

"It is entirely too much of a George M. Cohancidence!"

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 28.—Diary of a modern Pepys: A sombre gray day much to my liking and Carl Seitz, of Shanghai, came and Mrs. Nancy Allen, too, and my labors neglected for pleasant talk. Then to a coffee house where I was holpen thrice to country sausage.

So to walk in a slashing downpour to the water front and the sun popped out in splendor and there was breath of blossoming verdure from Jersey hills. And some gamins in the street were stoning a wounded bat and jeered when I interfered.

In the evening Ray Long, Hugh Murray and their wives came, and all quite merry. So afterward to my task and at it until almost dawn. Then to bed.

Specialization has hit the laundries. One in the Fashionable Fifties catering exclusively to the Gold Coast charges 14 cents for each collar and 80 cents for each shirt. We wonder what the tax would be for Big Bill Edward's nightshirt.

A famous cotillion leader of the Gay Nineties was found recently living in obscurity of Harlem. His leisure hours are now devoted to coloring meerschaum pipes. Still one can't lead a cotillion all his life.

Many men whose early lives have been concentrated to the butterfly life seek old age Nepenthe amid the bees and flowers or similar simple pursuits. In Paris there is a group of ex patriates with a prurient past. New York knew them as young bloods who flew high. Many were involved in escapades that caused families to banish them. They took up the life of remittance men abroad and gather semi-annually for dinner at a little cafe near Eiffel Tower. All are past 60 and each spends his leisure time puttering around a garden.

Manhattan tales of quick success draw thousands here yearly who should, perhaps remain at home. Few men succeed here without suffering greater deprivations than those experienced by similar success in smaller cities. Competition is keener and there is less time for that friendly sympathy so needed by those struggling up. The world naturally hears of those who rise but nothing of those who sink among the millions. In a boarding house recently were found five people who came to New York more than 20 years ago hugging the Big Dream. All found positions but not one among them had ever received promotion or increase in salary. I doubt if that would happen in any other city in America. In the biz shuffle here many are beaten and lost.

The elder Cornelius Vanderbilt's mansion on Fifth Avenue, just torn down, was perhaps the finest type of French architecture ever reproduced in America. It was suggested that it be preserved as a municipal art museum instead of being turned over to skyscraper builders, but New York is in such a hurry the suggestion came too late. For years it had a deserted, dingy look and was seldom occupied. Several months before it was razed a joker hung a sign on the grilled gates reading: "Boarders by the day or week."

The Helen Gould home at 47th and the Avenue is the only brown stone front left in the district once housing so many illustrious rich. The window boxes still bloom with fresh flowers and during the opera season the mansion often blazes with light.

Fifty-seventh street's smart window displays attract a nightly crowd of promenaders. And also many beggars who dart out from the shadows to whine a tale of woe.

A beggar there last night introduced a new one: He wanted 50 cents to attend a musicale. He got it and actually bought a ticket.

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Cooperative Summer Meeting.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 28.—More than one thousand people, representing more than forty states, various provinces of Canada, and a number of foreign countries, are expected to be in attendance at the third session of the American Institute of Cooperation, which will be held in Chicago this year, June 20 to July 16, at the Northwestern University School of Commerce.

As lecturers and instructors at this school, for that is what it amounts to, 130 authorities on various phases of cooperation will be brought from Europe and different sections of the United States. This huge array of talent will be drawn from successful cooperative business enterprises, colleges and universities, research organizations, and federal and state agencies which are directly and indirectly in touch with the cooperative movement.

The subjects that will be featured at this year's Institute will be the problems of cooperatives engaged in marketing grain and cotton, livestock and wool, dairy and poultry products, and perishable fruits and vegetables. Cooperative buying and cooperative credit will be discussed, but only incidentally. For most of the organizations in the Institute, selling or marketing is regarded as the important thing. There are about twenty-five of these organizations that control the Institute, which has its headquarters in this city.

Connected with the sessions of the Institute will be a number of special meetings called by various agricultural associations. Another feature will be a joint meeting of the national organization of attorneys of cooperatives with the national association of cooperative accountants.

Special Courses for Students.

In addition to the trade conferences and intensive discussions of practical problems, it is announced, the Institute is offering five courses open to advanced college students. Those completing these courses will receive credit from the faculty of Northwestern university. Also there will be a special conference course so that a student may take it as well as two of the other courses and receive the equivalent of four hours of credit for work done while the Institute is in session. All of the special conferences and lectures will be open to these credit students.

The teachers who will conduct these courses include professors Fred E. Clark, of Northwestern university; H. E. Erdman, of the University of California; E. G. Nourse, of the Institute of Economics, of Washington, D. C.; J. T. Horner, of Michigan State college; and Paul L. Miller, of Iowa State college.

Professor Clark's course will be on terminal market functions and the cooperative association, and will deal with the methods of handling, storing, and selling farm products in the terminal market with special reference to Chicago. It will include a discussion of the manner in which cooperatives are represented in such trade centers and of problems arising in the course of this business.

The organization and membership problems of the California cooperative associations, with a discussion of the structure of several typical organizations, distribution of administrative control, member participation, and allied problems, will be the course conducted by Professor Erdman.

Professor Nourse will present the price objective of cooperatives. His course will include an examination of the price theories of cooperative leaders and executives, the purpose animating the formation of associations, and the determination of their form and general plan of operation. Against this background there will be discussion of the history and trend of actual commercial operations and the modifications in price policy which appear to have taken place.

Problems of cooperative dairy marketing, with special reference to price bases, classification, and the adjustment of supplies to market needs, will be offered by Professor Horner, while the Iowa member of this summer school faculty, Professor Miller, will give a course in cooperative management problems. The latter will cover the typical problems of practical management as handled by present-day cooperative organizations, and the class work will be arranged on the basis of the discussion presented in the regular program sessions of the Institute. It will be conducted largely by successful managers who are in attendance at the conference and will afford opportunity for a more intensive

Visitors to the 19 national parks and 32 national monuments of the United States were more numerous by 260,343 in 1926 than in the preceding year. There is no doubt that enjoyment of the parks is gaining right along, and more and more Americans every year are becoming acquainted with these vast and beautiful playgrounds.

Extensive construction of new roads and trails has already begun throughout the park system, so that there will be new scenes and trips for repeaters and greater opportunities for those who enter the parks for the first time. The park system will soon include certain enchanting areas in the Blue Ridge mountains in Virginia and the Great Smokies in North Carolina.

All this is matter for real public pride and satisfaction. The slow but steady expansion of the national park system means the preservation to the American people of many beautiful and unusual regions, as worthy of attention as any of the scenic wonders of other lands and other continents.

A Million Colors

"Ask your friends how many distinct colors they can recognize," says a writer in Popular Science Monthly. "Most of them will guess that they can see 50 or a hundred separate colors."

This ridiculously low, it appears. Recent scientific tests have shown that even people with eyes not trained to be especially color sensitive can distinguish upwards of 60,000 colors, shades and hues, while artists can distinguish two or three times as many color variations. More surprising, still, it is said that new gauges recently developed by the nited States Bureau of Standards are able to distinguish a million different possible color shades.

Scientists and psychologists are studying colors with definite purposes in mind such as aiding health and sanity, stimulating certin emotions or abilities, and so on.

In the meantime, the people who name colors for fashion ads will have a glorious orgy of invention and will keep the long-suffering public busy guessing and trying to learn what names mean which shades and colors. Right now we defy even a salesgirl to pick out of a pile of colored yarns the ones exactly described by such shade names as "sonata," "illusion," "hoggar," "cascade," "Arab," and monkey-skin."

The Brainiest Businesses

"Which are the brainiest and most successful of America's huge enterprises" asks B. C. Forbes, prominent business commentator. He suggests this list of ten businesses:

General Motors.
General Electric.
J. P. Morgan & Co.
Steel Corporation.
Standard Oil.
American Telephone and Telegraph.
Metropolitan Life.
National City Bank.
Eastman Kodak.
Woolworth's.

"What is missing from this picture?" as the puzzle editors say. Many will suggest additions or changes. Perhaps the omission of Ford Motor company is the most notable thing about Mr. Forbes' list. It might make a good subject for debate—whether Ford's great and profitable enterprise should be in the first 10, and if not, why?

Buliding Too Strongly

Wreckers have been trying in vain for several weeks to destroy the vault of a bank building in New York City, in process of razing it to make room for a new skyscraper. The walls are two stories high and two feet thick, made of twisted steel and concrete. Dynamite accomplishes little. and the most effective modern drills make slow work.

Here is something to think about, in a country whose business sections, as a rule, are completely rebuilt every 20 or 30 years, and which nevertheless insists on erecting buildings "as durable as the pyramids." Many a structure erected in recent years would offer almost as much resistance to destruction, in every part, as that bank vault does.

If we're going to build so strongly, we shall not be able to tear down and reconstruct with the growth of cities. If we want to keep our cities plastic, and remodel them from generation to generation, we can't build so strongly.

Veteran Skater

A lively citizen named Hitchcock, aged 87, boasts himself the champion skater of Sarnia, Ontario, and is much put out because John Govette of Meaford claims the provincial championship. Govette is a mere stripling of 82 years. Hitchcock challenges him to a contest of anything that can be done on skates, and promises to show him some real fancy skating when the contest's over. He has been skating for 80 years, and thinks he ought to be pretty good by this time.

Such talk, while smacking of egotism, has a wholesome sound. It is good to know that there is still some regard on this continent for the ancient and invigorating sport of skating, which in these latter years is yielding shamefully to such pusillanimous diversions as indoor golf and jazz dancing.

WHEN DAVIS TAKES PEN IN HAND

"Bob" Davis, editor of Munsey's magazine, is one of the best letter writers in the world, as those who have had personal or professional correspondence with him can testify. He packs as much of wisdom into three lines on a sheet of office notepaper as some people cou'd put into a whole book.

I remember once that a friend of mine sent Davis a very bad short story. Davis returned the manuscript with these words:

"Dear Bill: This yarn smells to Heaven. Control yourself, my dear boy—control yourself."

But I think he rose to his most inspired heights here when he received from an unknown author a jingle. The sender, in a letter accompanying the verse, declared them to be his very own. But somehow or other, as Davis read them over, he was struck by a haunting note of familiarity. He pondered a bit and then he had the answer. Line for line, and almost word for word, the poem was copied from a lyric which had been sung years before in "The Yankee Prince."

So Davis fired the offering back to the plagiarist with this letter:

"My Dear Sir: I do not believe I care to use this work of yours. It may be original, as you claim. Far be if from me to take issue with you on that point. But I will say this:

"It is entirely too much of a George M. Cohancidence!"

NEW YORK, March 28.—Diary of a modern Pepys: A sombre gray day much to my liking and Carl Seitz, of Shanghai, came and Mrs. Nancy Allen, too, and my labors neglected for pleasant talk. Then to a coffee house where I was holpen thrice to country sausage.

I remember once that a friend of mine sent Davis a very bad short story. Davis returned the manuscript with these words:

"Dear Bill: This yarn smells to Heaven. Control yourself, my dear boy—control yourself."

But I think he rose to his most inspired heights here when he received from an unknown author a jingle. The sender, in a letter accompanying the verse, declared them to be his very own. But somehow or other, as Davis read them over, he was struck by a haunting note of familiarity. He pondered a bit and then he had the answer. Line for line, and almost word for word, the poem was copied from a lyric which had been sung years before in "The Yankee Prince."

So Davis fired the offering back to the plagiarist with this letter:

"My Dear Sir: I do not believe I care to use this work of yours. It may be original, as you claim. Far be if from me to take issue with you on that point. But I will say this:

"It is entirely too much of a George M. Cohancidence!"

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 28.—Diary of a modern Pepys: A sombre gray day much to my liking and Carl Seitz, of Shanghai, came and Mrs. Nancy Allen, too, and my labors neglected for pleasant talk. Then to a coffee house where I was holpen thrice to country sausage.

So to walk in a slashing downpour to the water front and the sun popped out in splendor and there was breath of blossoming verdure from Jersey hills. And some gamins in the street were stoning a wounded bat and jeered when I interfered.

In the evening Ray Long, Hugh Murray and their wives came, and all quite merry. So afterward to my task and at it until almost dawn. Then to bed.

Specialization has hit the laundries. One in the Fashionable Fifties catering exclusively to the Gold Coast charges 14 cents for each collar and 80 cents for each shirt. We wonder what the tax would be for Big Bill Edward's nightshirt.

A famous cotillion leader of the Gay Nineties was found recently living in obscurity of Harlem. His leisure hours are now devoted to coloring meerschaum pipes. Still one can't lead a cotillion all his life.

Many men whose early lives have been concentrated to the butterfly life seek old age Nepenthe amid the bees and flowers or similar simple pursuits. In Paris there is a group of ex patriates with a prurient past. New York knew them as young bloods who flew high. Many were involved in escapades that caused families to banish them. They took up the life of remittance men abroad and gather semi-annually for dinner at a little cafe near Eiffel Tower. All are past 60 and each spends his leisure time puttering around a garden.

Manhattan tales of quick success draw thousands here yearly who should, perhaps remain at home. Few men succeed here without suffering greater deprivations than those experienced by similar success in smaller cities. Competition is keener and there is less time for that friendly sympathy so needed by those struggling up. The world naturally hears of those who rise but nothing of those who sink among the millions. In a boarding house recently were found five people who came to New York more than 20 years ago hugging the Big Dream. All found positions but not one among them had ever received promotion or increase in salary. I doubt if that would happen in any other city in America. In the biz shuffle here many are beaten and lost.

The elder Cornelius Vanderbilt's mansion on Fifth Avenue, just torn down, was perhaps the finest type of French architecture ever reproduced in America. It was suggested that it be preserved as a municipal art museum instead of being turned over to skyscraper builders, but New York is in such a hurry the suggestion came too late. For years it had a deserted, dingy look and was seldom occupied. Several months before it was razed a joker hung a sign on the grilled gates reading: "Boarders by the day or week."

The Helen Gould home at 47th and the Avenue is the only brown stone front left in the district once housing so many illustrious rich. The window boxes still bloom with fresh flowers and during the opera season the mansion often blazes with light.

Fifty-seventh street's smart window displays attract a nightly crowd of promenaders. And also many beggars who dart out from the shadows to whine a tale of woe.

A beggar there last night introduced a new one: He wanted 50 cents to attend a musicale. He got it and actually bought a ticket.

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Cooperative Summer Meeting.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 28.—More than one thousand people, representing more than forty states, various provinces of Canada, and a number of foreign countries, are expected to be in attendance at the third session of the American Institute of Cooperation, which will be held in Chicago this year, June 20 to July 16, at the Northwestern University School of Commerce.

As lecturers and instructors at this school, for that is what it amounts to, 130 authorities on various phases of cooperation will be brought from Europe and different sections of the United States. This huge array of talent will be drawn from successful cooperative business enterprises, colleges and universities, research organizations, and federal and state agencies which are directly and indirectly in touch with the cooperative movement.

The subjects that will be featured at this year's Institute will be the problems of cooperatives engaged in marketing grain and cotton, livestock and wool, dairy and poultry products, and perishable fruits and vegetables. Cooperative buying and cooperative credit will be discussed, but only incidentally. For most of the organizations in the Institute, selling or marketing is regarded as the important thing. There are about twenty-five of these organizations that control the Institute, which has its headquarters in this city.

Connected with the sessions of the Institute will be a number of special meetings called by various agricultural associations. Another feature will be a joint meeting of the national organization of attorneys of cooperatives with the national association of cooperative accountants.

Special Courses for Students.

In addition to the trade conferences and intensive discussions of practical problems, it is announced, the Institute is offering five courses open to advanced college students. Those completing these courses will receive credit from the faculty of Northwestern university. Also there will be a special conference course so that a student may take it as well as two of the other courses and receive the equivalent of four hours of credit for work done while the Institute is in session. All of the special conferences and lectures will be open to these credit students.

The teachers who will conduct these courses include professors Fred E. Clark, of Northwestern university; H. E. Erdman, of the University of California; E. G. Nourse, of the Institute of Economics, of Washington, D. C.; J. T. Horner, of Michigan State college; and Paul L. Miller, of Iowa State college.

Professor Clark's course will be on terminal market functions and the cooperative association, and will deal with the methods of handling, storing, and selling farm products in the terminal market with special reference to Chicago. It will include a discussion of the manner in which cooperatives are represented in such trade centers and of problems arising in the course of this business.

The organization and membership problems of the California cooperative associations, with a discussion of the structure of several typical organizations, distribution of administrative control, member participation, and allied problems, will be the course conducted by Professor Erdman.

Professor Nourse will present the price objective of cooperatives. His course will include an examination of the price theories of cooperative leaders and executives, the purpose animating the formation of associations, and the determination of their form and general plan of operation. Against this background there will be discussion of the history and trend of actual commercial operations and the modifications in price policy which appear to have taken place.

Problems of cooperative dairy marketing, with special reference to price bases, classification, and the adjustment of supplies to market needs, will be offered by Professor Horner, while the Iowa member of this summer school faculty, Professor Miller, will give a course in cooperative management problems. The latter will cover the typical problems of practical management as handled by present-day cooperative organizations, and the class work will be arranged on the basis of the discussion presented in the regular program sessions of the Institute. It will be conducted largely by successful managers who are in attendance at the conference and will afford opportunity for a more intensive

POLA IS STAR IN WAR FILM

Miss Negri's Picture Opens at Ceramic Theatre.

The most unusual war drama arrived at the Ceramic theatre where Pola Negri's new Paramount starring vehicle, "Hotel Imperial," opened a two-day engagement.

The overwhelming realization of war is present every moment, yet the drama is centered upon a small group of individuals, rather than sweeping battle fronts, with numberless soldiers fighting through the holocaust of conflict in confused masses. The battles that form the story's background are suggested rather than pictured. Swift moving glimpses are given, conveying an indelible impressing of fighting hordes, paving the way for the drama itsself which portrays the reactions of nations at war upon the individual human—their devastating effect upon mind, soul and physical conduct.

The three central figures are the chambermaid of the Hotel Imperial, in a town on the Austro-Russian frontier, captured by the invading Russians; the Russian general and a fugitive Hungarian officer. These portray one of the tensest dramas that has yet reached the screen.

Pola Negri gives what is declared to be the supreme characterization of her career, even surpassing Du Barry in "Passion," in the role of a chambermaid who is given luxury and tosses it aside in heroic sacrifice for her country and lover.

James Hall, Paramount's latest "find," is the Hungarian officer; and George Siegmann, the general. Others in the supporting cast include Max Davidson, Otto Fries, Nicholas Soussanin and Michael Vavitch. Erich Pommer, Europe's greatest film maker, produced the picture as his first for Paramount. Mauritz Stiller, directed.

"A "porcupine cork" with glass spikes that bristle in every direction, has been invented for bottles containing poison.

POLA IS STAR IN WAR FILM

Miss Negri's Picture Opens at Ceramic Theatre.

The most unusual war drama arrived at the Ceramic theatre where Pola Negri's new Paramount starring vehicle, "Hotel Imperial," opened a two-day engagement.

The overwhelming realization of war is present every moment, yet the drama is centered upon a small group of individuals, rather than sweeping battle fronts, with numberless soldiers fighting through the holocaust of conflict in confused masses. The battles that form the story's background are suggested rather than pictured. Swift moving glimpses are given, conveying an indelible impressing of fighting hordes, paving the way for the drama itself which portrays the reactions of nations at war upon the individual human—their devastating effect upon mind, soul and physical conduct.

The three central figures are the chambermaid of the Hotel Imperial, in a town on the Austro-Russian frontier, captured by the invading Russians; the Russian general and a fugitive Hungarian officer. These portray one of the tensest dramas that has yet reached the screen.

Pola Negri gives what is declared to be the supreme characterization of her career, even surpassing Du Barry in "Passion," in the role of a chambermaid who is given luxury and tosses it aside in heroic sacrifice for her country and lover.

James Hall, Paramount's latest "find," is the Hungarian officer; and George Siegmann, the general. Others in the supporting cast include Max Davidson, Otto Fries, Nicholas Soussanin and Michael Vavitch. Erich Pommer, Europe's greatest film maker, produced the picture as his first for Paramount. Mauritz Stiller, directed.

How Children Quickly Gain Robust Health

For weak, puny, inactive children—and especially those that have rickets, and need a sure builder that promotes the growth of teeth and bones, cod liver oil is the one medicine supreme—nothing helps like it.

But it is nasty and repulsive and evil smelling and nearly always upsets children's stomachs—so now up-to-date pharmacists advise McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, with their wealth of vitamines.

Children love them as they do candy, because they are sugar coated and easy to take. One boy gained 11½ pounds in seven weeks, and is now healthy and happy—thousands of other children have grown strong and robust.

Sixty tablets for 60 cents at druggists everywhere. Try them for 30 days and if you are not happily satisfied with the test get your money back. But demand McCoy's—it pays to get the genuine.

BRITON SHOT BY COUNTESS IS NEAR DEATH

Chicago Woman Fails in Suicide Attempt After Crime.

LOVE TRIANGLE

Shooting Aftermath of Move for Divorce.

PARIS, March 28.—The condition of Raymond Vincent De Trafford, young scion of a titled British family, who was shot and seriously wounded by the Countess De Janze, the former Alice Silverthorne of Chicago, who later tried to kill herself, was very grave at noon today. His condition was more serious than that of the countess despite the fact that the bullet fired by the latter with suicidal intent pierced the stomach, intestines and kidneys.

Joseph Duvivier, attorney employed in behalf of the countess, revealed that she had filed suit for divorce in the Seine tribunal some time ago. The formalities of "attempted reconciliation," which is a preliminary in French divorce actions, had already been completed.

The countess, who is a cousin of Mrs. K. Ogden Armour, of Chicago, is technically under arrest at La Riboisiere hospital, although the seriousness of her condition makes it unecessary for a police guard. If she recovers sufficiently she will be transferred to a prison, charged with the shooting of De Trafford.

It is My Secret," Woman Says.

"If the countess recovers," said Attorney Duvivier," she undoubtedly will be tried for assault. If De Trafford should die the charge would be a more serious one."

Rudolph De Trafford, brother of Raymond, arrived from London and hurried to the hospital. The wounded man was so weak that he could only whisper monosyllables in response to his brother's questions.

Jealousy was the motive attributed to the shooting.

The countess was questioned briefly by Special Police Commissioner Cals, but she threw little light upon the affair.

"It is my secret," she gasped in a whisper. "You are asking me something I cannot answer. But it was I who shot my friend. I did it upon an impulse. Then I could think of nothing but suicide. Oh, I deeply regret this."

Shooting Occurs on Train.

The young Englishman was on his way to London when the shooting took place in a first class compartment of a train bound for Boulogne. The train had not yet left the Gare Du Nord.

A gendarme, who was attracted by the shots and the excited cries of nearby persons, rushed to the compartment. He found De Trafford lying upon the floor bleeding freely and the woman huddled nearby. The young man was unconscious, but the countess was conscious for a few moments and managed to gasp out a few words to the policeman before she too lost consciousness.

It is reported that the count threatened to divorce his wife some time ago because of her attachment for De Trafford, whom she had met first in America. The countess is said to have deserted her home and two children to be with her young lover.

How Children Quickly Gain Robust Health

For weak, puny, inactive children—and especially those that have rickets, and need a sure builder that promotes the growth of teeth and bones, cod liver oil is the one medicine supreme—nothing helps like it.

But it is nasty and repulsive and evil smelling and nearly always upsets children's stomachs—so now up-to-date pharmacists advise McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, with their wealth of vitamines.

Children love them as they do candy, because they are sugar coated and easy to take. One boy gained 11½ pounds in seven weeks, and is now healthy and happy—thousands of other children have grown strong and robust.

Sixty tablets for 60 cents at druggists everywhere. Try them for 30 days and if you are not happily satisfied with the test get your money back. But demand McCoy's—it pays to get the genuine.

BRITON SHOT BY COUNTESS IS NEAR DEATH

Chicago Woman Fails in Suicide Attempt After Crime.

LOVE TRIANGLE

Shooting Aftermath of Move for Divorce.

PARIS, March 28.—The condition of Raymond Vincent De Trafford, young scion of a titled British family, who was shot and seriously wounded by the Countess De Janze, the former Alice Silverthorne of Chicago, who later tried to kill herself, was very grave at noon today. His condition was more serious than that of the countess despite the fact that the bullet fired by the latter with suicidal intent pierced the stomach, intestines and kidneys.

Joseph Duvivier, attorney employed in behalf of the countess, revealed that she had filed suit for divorce in the Seine tribunal some time ago. The formalities of "attempted reconciliation," which is a preliminary in French divorce actions, had already been completed.

The countess, who is a cousin of Mrs. K. Ogden Armour, of Chicago, is technically under arrest at La Riboisiere hospital, although the seriousness of her condition makes it unecessary for a police guard. If she recovers sufficiently she will be transferred to a prison, charged with the shooting of De Trafford.

It is My Secret," Woman Says.

"If the countess recovers," said Attorney Duvivier," she undoubtedly will be tried for assault. If De Trafford should die the charge would be a more serious one."

Rudolph De Trafford, brother of Raymond, arrived from London and hurried to the hospital. The wounded man was so weak that he could only whisper monosyllables in response to his brother's questions.

Jealousy was the motive attributed to the shooting.

The countess was questioned briefly by Special Police Commissioner Cals, but she threw little light upon the affair.

"It is my secret," she gasped in a whisper. "You are asking me something I cannot answer. But it was I who shot my friend. I did it upon an impulse. Then I could think of nothing but suicide. Oh, I deeply regret this."

Shooting Occurs on Train.

The young Englishman was on his way to London when the shooting took place in a first class compartment of a train bound for Boulogne. The train had not yet left the Gare Du Nord.

A gendarme, who was attracted by the shots and the excited cries of nearby persons, rushed to the compartment. He found De Trafford lying upon the floor bleeding freely and the woman huddled nearby. The young man was unconscious, but the countess was conscious for a few moments and managed to gasp out a few words to the policeman before she too lost consciousness.

It is reported that the count threatened to divorce his wife some time ago because of her attachment for De Trafford, whom she had met first in America. The countess is said to have deserted her home and two children to be with her young lover.

Strength Sapped by Overwork Rebuilt by Tanlac

Ben Romano broke under long hours and heavy work. On verge of breakdown, tried Tanlac and regained lost vitality. Praises Tanlac highly

Ben Romano lives at 799 Bowery St., Akron, Ohio. A native of Birmingham, Ala., he has a host of friends in that city. While working for the Sloss-Sheffield Iron Company there, he spared no effort to succeed, putting all his strength and energy into his work. "Lugging pig iron ten hours a day takes strength and vitality," said Mr. Romano, "and in the end it got me. For three months I was played out, nervous—on the verge of a breakdown.

"My stomach and liver went back on me, and heartburn, gas and sourness, kept me in constant misery. I could neither eat, sleep nor digest normally, so grew steadily weaker. Shortly before coming to Akron I started on Tanlac and have been in the pink of condition ever since. My friends would congratulate me on my improvement and I would always say that Tanlac and nothing else is responsible for the change. It certainly put an end to my troubles."

Kill that skin eruption at the start

Neglect of even the slightest skin rash, roughness, or chafing may have serious consequences. Painful, disfiguring complaints like eczema, stubborn sores, etc., all start in a small way.

The safest plan is to keep a jar of Resinol Ointment ready to use at the first sign of skin trouble. It promptly stops itching and reduces inflammation and burning. The tiny pores readily receive this soothing ointment, and its healing influence is carried far below the surface of the skin.

Midol is a more remarkable means of relieving such pain than even a habit-forming drug. It acts directly on the organs affected by menstruation, and relief comes in five to seven minutes.

Don't have another day of forced quiet, of pain, low spirits or even discomfort! Midol is effective twelve hours or more. Yet it does not depress the heart; is not narcotic, and is utterly harmless. All druggists, 50 cents, in thin aluminum box that fits the smallest purse.

So writes Mr. Frank J Trumbull of Jersey City, N J., whose letter goes on to say: "I had heard about Carter's Little Liver Pills for years but never knew they helped overcome poor appetite and sour stomach until I read about another man in the same plight who took Carter's with good results. Nature Doesn't Punish Her Any Longer

Menstruation is Nature—but menstrual pain is NOT natural, and not necessary. Science has conquered the painful part. In a harmless—yes, healthful—little tablet called midol.

Midol is a more remarkable means of relieving such pain than even a habit-forming drug. It acts directly on the organs affected by menstruation, and relief comes in five to seven minutes.

Don't have another day of forced quiet, of pain, low spirits or even discomfort! Midol is effective twelve hours or more. Yet it does not depress the heart, is not narcotic, and is utterly harmless. All druggists, 50 cents, in thin aluminum box that fits the smallest purse.

Tells Why He Can Now Eat Hearty

"A letter which I read in the paper about Carter's Little Liver Pills fitted my own case so closely that I could not help trying them and am very happy I did." So writes Mr. Frank J Trumbull of Jersey City, N J., whose letter goes on to say: "I had heard about Carter's Little Liver Pills for years but never knew they helped overcome poor appetite and sour stomach until I read about another man in the same plight who took Carter's with good results. I tried them and can honestly say that they freed me of nasty gas on stomach, so that I can now eat without getting bilious, and they improved my appetite fully 100%. You can rest assured that from now on I will boost Carter's Little Liver Pills whenever I can."

Nature Doesn't Punish Her Any Longer

Menstruation is Nature—but menstrual pain is NOT natural, and not necessary. Science has conquered the painful part. In a harmless—yes, healthful—little tablet called midol.

Midol is a more remarkable means of relieving such pain than even a habit-forming drug. It acts directly on the organs affected by menstruation, and relief comes in five to seven minutes.

Don't have another day of forced quiet, of pain, low spirits or even discomfort! Midol is effective twelve hours or more. Yet it does not depress the heart, is not narcotic, and is utterly harmless. All druggists, 50 cents, in thin aluminum box that fits the smallest purse.

HENRY FORD'S COUNSEL ASKS MISTRIAL IN LIBEL SUIT

OPPOSE CHANGE IN SAPIRO'S DECLARATION

Detroit Judge Defers Ruling on Plea and Motion.

ARGUMENT HEARD

Chicago Man's Lawyer Says Amendment is Within Rules.

FEDERAL BUILDING, Detroit, March 28.—After formally objecting to any change in Aaron Sapiro's declaration of libel, counsel for Henry Ford today moved for a mistrial in the $1,000,000 Ford-Sapiro libel suit.

The court took under consideration both Sapiro's plea and the defense motion for a mistrial. He said he would announce a decision later in the day.

Stewart Hanley, of Ford's counsel, first filed the objection before Judge Fred M. Raymond in federal court here and then asked that a mistrial be declared and the jury dismissed if the court accepted Sapiro's amended complaint. Judge Raymond tentatively accepted the amended declaration last week.

Hanley declared that the Sapiro move, eliminating 54 of his allegations of libel, had changed the whole cause of action. The changes, if allowed, said Hanley, will seriously jeopardize the rights of Henry Ford

Object to Amendment.

Hanley made a long argument, urging the court to reject all changes in the declaration.

"We wish to object to the acceptance of the amendment to the declaration of libel," said Hanley, "we oppose both the portion, amending the cause to action and the second section relating to the limitation of fifty or more of the allege' libels."

Hanley said that nothing had occurred during the trial to justify the changes proposed by Sapiro.

"We now ask, that if the amendment is allowed," Hanley added, "that the jury be dismissed and this trial declared a mistrial. This amendment changes the whole cause of action and we have a right to a new trial."

William Henry Gallagher declared the amendment was strictly within the usual rules of court procedure.

"Amendments to a declaration of libel can be allowed," he added, "If they do not change the form of action nor introduce any new subjects. Our amendment does neither, so it is in order."

and young Mr. Kahn expects to have $1,000,000 a year profit. That isn't much in these days, but it will do for a start.

THE French parliament votes 8,000,000,000 francs for the army and navy this coming year. That sounds a great deal, but it amounts to only $400,000,000, which wouldn't go far in this country.

You wonder how the French do it. They have the greatest flying fleet in the world, one that could wipe out every city in the United States in 10 days. In addition to that, they keep half a million men under arms, and maintain a great navy.

Automobile makers are more enthusiastic than ever, and, industrially speaking, the enterprising among them are "stepping on the gas." According to some whose predictions have been accurate hitherto the United States ought to be operating 38,000,000 cars in 1940.

BERTRAND RUSSELL, convinced, as many parents are, that no school is exactly right, will start a school of his own, for the sake of his two children, four and two years old. They will learn swimming, physical culture, tennis, but not football, cricket or hockey.

That is Bertrand Russell's first mistake. Make your children different mentally if you can, by stimulating their thought. But don't handicap them by forbidding them to do the comparatively harmless, even mildly foolish things that other children do.

To make a child "strange" among other children is to cut down its chances. Russell's school will be a good one, nevertheless.

LESSONS in auction bridge sent out on the radio are followed, it is said, by 6,000,000 men and women, and auction bridge teachers can earn as much as $50,000 a year. That will interest some other teachers paid barely enough to keep them alive.

How many do you think would "tune in" if the radio sent out lessons in history, astronomy, or chemistry.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, March 28.—A rush of week-end buying orders for the leading industrial and railroad shares resulted in a sharp advance in prices of the well known stocks in early trading today.

Geenral Motors and United States Steel repeated their almost daily performance of establishing new "peak" prices. Pools in the so-called specialty stocks pushed up the prices of their favorites in an active movement, and railroad stocks and independent steels surged forward in heavy trading.

Easy money and capitalistic confidence is Wall Street's explanation for the sharp advance of the high-priced industrial shares, following three years of steady climbing in the speculative markets. Investment demand for stocks today is reported larger than any time in Wall street history.

American Telephone & Telegraph sold at 169, the highest price in 24 years; General Motors at 182 and United States Steel at 165 7-8, these prices marking a new high record for the other members of this strong market trio.

MINERS AWAIT WALKOUT ORDER

Jacksonville Pact Will Expire on March 31.

COLUMBUS, O., March 28.—Union coal miners in the Ohio fields went to work today certain of only four more days at the prevailing rate of $7.50 for an eight-hour day as provided in the Jacksonville agreement which expires at midnight March 31. With their officers in session at Indianapolis determined to demand a continuation of the Jacksonville agreement, and operators firm in their demand for a wage reduction to $4 or $4.50 daily, the miners of the central competitive field, which includes Ohio, faced the prospect of indefinite idleness without the prospect of strike benefits.

Reports from the districts bordering on the Ohio river near the neighboring non-union fields of West Virginia and Kentucky today were the non-union "missionaries" were visiting the union Ohio fields and offering employment to union miners. Little success was met with. At Martins Ferry, two non-union organizers were driven from the town, and at other points their efforts bore no more fruit. Union sub-district officers reported.

In the union stronghold of northern West Virginia, miners were as determined to stand by the Jacksonville scale demand as Ohio workers, following a Sunday night mass meeting held at Fairmont.

Operators in Ohio and West Virginia, generally had little comment to offer today and seemed reconciled to a policy of watch and wait, following their reduced wage announcement submitted to employes last week in the weekly pay envelopes.

Three More Bills Are Approved by Governor Donahey

COLUMBUS, O., March 28.—Receiving the approving signature of Governor Vic Donahey today, three more bills, passed at the present session of the Ohio legislature, will become laws 90 days after being filed with the secretary of state.

The measures signed today by the governor are: — By representative Harry Ball, Scioto county, extending the jurisdiction of the state forester, providing for appointment of state forestry fire wardens, and revising restrictions on handling fires; by Representative Perry Green, Portage, providing for establishment of a demonstration forest, under direction of the state division of forestry, and, by Representative L. J. Tbele, Cleveland, authorizing the state insurance superintendent to require foreign brokers to furnish information which the superintendent may deem necessary in order to determine "the trustworthiness, competency and suitability of the applicant to act as an insurance broker" in Ohio.

After almost an hour's hard work with a resuscitator here yesterday, a rescue squad, directed by Sergeant Charles Crust, started the breath of life in a son of Mrs. Kenneth Benedict, which had been born with collapsed lungs.

A similar rescue was effected here last Thursday of a baby born to Mrs. John Adamsky.

Rini-Chorgas Trial

Frank McLain, taxicab driver, was twice convicted of manslaughter. Anderson's counsel carried the case to the state supreme court in a vain effort to obtain a third trial. The defendant entered the penitentiary last week to serve a term of four years eight months to 20 years.

Brookes most recent conviction was that of Roy Wallen, East Salineville coal miner, who was sentenced to the penitentiary for life after he had been found guilty of second degree murder in the death of Rodney Ogle, a neighbor.

Four of the eight murder trials during the last seven years originated in Wellsville, three in East Liverpool and one in Salineville. The arrest of Rini and Mrs. Chorgas, which occurred here, places East Liverpool on equal footing with the sister city of Wellsville so far as murder cases are concerned.

Naval Dirigible Los Angeles Ready For Test Flight

WASHINGTON, March 28. — The naval dirigible Los Angeles has again been inflated at Lakehurst and made ready to undertake a series of test flights, it was announcd today.

Naval officials declared the inflation of the giant airship had no possible connection with the Chinese situation, but was merely regular routine.

Withdrawal of marines from Lakehurst for duty in China, however, may delay or halt the training flight tests.

Gen. Smedley Butler, commander of the Americans, participated in a conference with the French and the commanders of the various international forces.

Large numbers of Japanese women and children are going home, every vessel for Japan being crowded.

"Drive all foreigners from China," is the slogan of men and women anti-foreign agitators, some of them Russians, who are active among the Cantonese troops and the workingmen in the Shanghai district.

Further bloodshed is feared. Admiral Williams, commander of the United State warchaft in Chinese waters, has taken official cognizance of the growing tensity of the situation and has warned Washington.

The situation at Nanking is quiet. The consular authorities have been notified that a handful of Americans are remaining there upon the United States warcraft anchored off the city to supervise the evacuation of Americans from the outlying districts.

Britain Sends Sharp Note.

LONDON, March 28.—Sir Austen Chamberlain, British foreign minister, has sent a sharp note to General Chiang Kai Shek, Nationalist military leader in China, stating that Great Britain can enter no further negotiations with the Nationalists until steps are taken to insure protection for foreign lives and property, according to reports circulated in semi-official circles today.

Sir Austen's action, it is understood, followed a request made upon the powers in Shanghai for a statement from them as to their plans for giving up the international settlement in Shanghai to Chinese control.

The demands of the Chinese for the return of all concessions are insistent, but it is understood here that Great Britain will give no further ground and that Chiang Kai Shek had been notified that the powers are prepared to defend their Shanghai concessions by force, if necessary.

A special cabinet meeting was summoned today to discuss Chinese situation and Sir Austen Chamberlain rendered a report.

Police found 110 bullets in the walls of the corridor. It was impossible to count the bullet wounds in Cohen and Bloom, Wright was badly shot up.

Immediately after the shooting, police learned, the occupants of the apartment took Bloomfield and the machine guns, loaded them into a car a the rear of the apartment, nad escaped.

A search of the apartment revealed a strong arsenal. There were 12 pistols, scores of rounds of amunition, dum-dum bullets, three shotguns, and large number of blackjacks and other strongarm implements. Women's clothes were also found.

The apartment was rented by John Telzdorf. Living with him were Miller, Simon Axler, 61 Clinton street, New York, and an unidentified man, believed to be Axler's brother, Abe, of 63 Clinton street, New York.

Brady admitted that Bloomfield was employed by him. He said he knew nothing of the kidnaping or of the demand for ransom.

Kent Killing Two Years Ago.

KENT, O., March 28.—Salvatore Mirogliotta, alias Sam Miller, reputed to have been a member of the Detroit "machine gun gang," which early today killed two men and seriously wounded a third, is wanted here for the murder of Clayton Apple, a policeman.

The killing occurred March 23, 1925, under somewhat mysterious circumstances. A man named Frank Mollicky, and Mirogliotta had some sort of an argument with Apple on the street, according to local police. Following the argument, eleven shots were fired, the policeman dropping with a bullet through the heart.

Mollicky was captured and indicted for first degree murder, but Mirogliotta escaped. Mollicky's trial was held up pending the capture of the other man.

According to local authorities the trial will probably be held some time next month. Mollicky, in the meantime is at liberty under bond.

GAMBLING RAID TRAPS SIX MEN

Carl Kelly Fined $125 for Maintaining Place.

Carl Kelly, lower Walnut street, was fined $125 and costs by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today, when he pleaded guilty of a charge of maintaining a gambling house, following a raid upon his home by Captain Conley and Patrolman Lister at 9:30 o'clock last evening.

Five other men, giving the names of Frank Hutchison, Henry Fisher, John Hutchison, Bert Hughes and Brady Larcombe, alleged to have been found in the place, forfeited $15.80 each upon charges of gambling.

Kelly, who had posted $55.80 for his appearance, failed to appear and his bond was declared forfeited. When advised by Chief of Police McDermott that Kelly had been arrested and fined $100 upon a gambling charge a week ago, Judge Hanley ordered that the defendant be taken into custody.

Chief McDermott made two fruitless visits to the Kelly home yesterday but claims that a lookout who had been posted at the front door gave the alarm before he could get to the second floor room, where the game is alleged to have been in progress. Captain Conley and Patrolman Lister later raided the house under the cover of darkness.

Kelly was charged with a liquor violation in connection with the raid a week ago but this charge was dismissed because of lack of evidence. He was committed to jail today in default of payment of the gambling fine.

HENRY FORD'S COUNSEL ASKS MISTRIAL IN LIBEL SUIT

OPPOSE CHANGE IN SAPIRO'S DECLARATION

Detroit Judge Defers Ruling on Plea and Motion.

ARGUMENT HEARD

Chicago Man's Lawyer Says Amendment is Within Rules.

FEDERAL BUILDING, Detroit, March 28.—After formally objecting to any change in Aaron Sapiro's declaration of libel, counsel for Henry Ford today moved for a mistrial in the $1,000,000 Ford-Sapiro libel suit.

The court took under consideration both Sapiro's plea and the defense motion for a mistrial. He said he would announce a decision later in the day.

Stewart Hanley, of Ford's counsel, first filed the objection before Judge Fred M. Raymond in federal court here and then asked that a mistrial be declared and the jury dismissed if the court accepted Sapiro's amended complaint. Judge Raymond tentatively accepted the amended declaration last week.

Hanley declared that the Sapiro move, eliminating 54 of his allegations of libel, had changed the whole cause of action. The changes, if allowed, said Hanley, will seriously jeopardize the rights of Henry Ford

Object to Amendment.

Hanley made a long argument, urging the court to reject all changes in the declaration.

"We wish to object to the acceptance of the amendment to the declaration of libel," said Hanley, "we oppose both the portion, amending the cause fo action and the second section relating to the limitation of fifty or more of the allege' libels."

Hanley said that nothing had occurred during the trial to justify the changes proposed by Sapiro.

"We now ask, that if the amendment is allowed." Hanley added, "that the jury be dismissed and this trial declared a mistrial. This amendment changes the whole cause of action and we have a right to a new trial."

William Henry Gallagher declared the amendment was strictly within the usual rules of court procedure.

"Amendments to a declaration of libel can be allowed," he added, "If they do not change the form of action nor introduce any new subjects. Our amendment does neither, so it is in order."

THE French parliament votes 8,000,000,000 francs for the army and navy this coming year. That sounds a great deal, but it amounts to only $400,000,000, which wouldn't go far in this country.

You wonder how the French do it. They have the greatest flying fleet in the world, one that could wipe out every city in the United States in 10 days. In addition to that, they keep half a million men under arms, and maintain a great navy.

Automobile makers are more enthusiastic than ever, and, industrially speaking, the enterprising among them are "stepping on the gas." According to some whose predictions have been accurate hitherto the United States ought to be operating 38,000,000 cars in 1940.

BERTRAND RUSSELL, convinced, as many parents are, that no school is exactly right, will start a school of his own, for the sake of his two children, four and two years old. They will learn swimming, physical culture, tennis, but not football, cricket or hockey.

That is Bertrand Russell's first mistake. Make your children different mentally if you can, by stimulating their thought. But don't handicap them by forbidding them to do the comparatively harmless, even mildly foolish things that other children do.

To make a child "strange" among other children is to cut down its chances. Russell's school will be a good one, nevertheless.

LESSONS in auction bridge sent out on the radio are followed, it is said, by 6,000,000 men and women, and auction bridge teachers can earn as much as $50,000 a year. That will interest some other teachers paid barely enough to keep them alive.

How many do you think would "tune in" if the radio sent out lessons in history, astronomy, or chemistry.

Kidnaped Child Ransomed.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 28. Virginia Josephine Frazier, two-year-old daughter of Commissioner Fred B. Frazier, was back home in the arms of her mother today after spending four days in the hands of kidnapers who stole her as she slept last Wednesday night.

The child was returned after Frazier paid $3,333 ransom demanded by the child thieves, it was officially announced.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, March 28.—A rush of week-end buying orders for the leading industrial and railroad shares resulted in a sharp advance in prices of the well known stocks in early trading today.

Geenral Motors and United States Steel repeated their almost daily performance of establishing new "peak" prices. Pools in the so-called specialty stocks pushed up the prices of their favorites in an active movement, and railroad stocks and independent steels surged forward in heavy trading.

Easy money and capitalistic confidence is Wall Street's explanation for the sharp advance of the high-priced industrial shares, following three years of steady climbing in the speculative markets. Investment demand for stocks today is reported larger than any time in Wall street history.

American Telephone & Telegraph sold at 169, the highest price in 24 years; General Motors at 182 and United States Steel at 165 7-8, these prices marking a new high record for the other members of this strong market trio.

Atchison and New York Central were the represent of the rails on the new upward move National Biscuit, Cast Iron Pipe, Dupont, Harvester and other high-priced industrials continued the spectacular forward movements which characterized their market course last week.

Call money was unchanged at 4 per cent.

MINERS AWAIT WALKOUT ORDER

Jacksonville Pact Will Expire on March 31.

COLUMBUS, O., March 28.—Union coal miners in the Ohio fields went to work today certain of only four more days at the prevailing rate of $7.50 for an eight-hour day as provided in the Jacksonville agreement which expires at midnight March 31. With their officers in session at Indianapolis determined to demand a continuation of the Jacksonville agreement, and operators firm in their demand for a wage reduction to $4 or $4.50 daily, the miners of the central competitive field, which includes Ohio, faced the prospect of indefinite idleness without the prospect of strike benefits.

Reports from the districts bordering on the Ohio river near the neighboring non-union fields of West Virginia and Kentucky today were the non-union "missionaries" were visiting the union Ohio fields and offering employment to union miners. Little success was met with. At Martins Ferry, two non-union organizers were driven from the town, and at other points their efforts bore no more fruit. Union sub-district officers reported.

In the union stronghold of northern West Virginia, miners were as determined to stand by the Jacksonville scale demand as Ohio workers, following a Sunday night mass meeting held at Fairmont.

Operators in Ohio and West Virginia, generally had little comment to offer today and seemed reconciled to a policy of watch and wait, following their reduced wage announcement submitted to employes last week in the weekly pay envelopes.

A similar rescue was effected here last Thursday of a baby born to Mrs. John Adamsky.

Frank McLain, taxicab driver, was twice convicted of manslaughter. Anderson's counsel carried the case to the state supreme court in a vain effort to obtain a third trial. The defendant entered the penitentiary last week to serve a term of four years eight months to 20 years.

Brookes most recent conviction was that of Roy Wallen, East Salineville coal miner, who was sentenced to the penitentiary for life after he had been found guilty of second degree murder in the death of Rodney Ogle, a neighbor.

Four of the eight murder trials during the last seven years originated in Wellsville, three in East Liverpool and one in Salineville. The arrest of Rini and Mrs. Chorgas, which occurred here, places East Liverpool on equal footing with the sister city of Wellsville so far as murder cases are concerned.

GAMBLING RAID TRAPS SIX MEN

Carl Kelly Fined $125 for Maintaining Place.

Carl Kelly, lower Walnut street, was fined $125 and costs by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today, when he pleaded guilty of a charge of maintaining a gambling house, following a raid upon his home by Captain Conley and Patrolman Lister at 9:30 o'clock last evening.

Five other men, giving the names of Frank Hutchison, Henry Fisher, John Hutchison, Bert Hughes and Brady Larcombe, alleged to have been found in the place, forfeited $15.80 each upon charges of gambling.

Kelly, who had posted $55.80 for his appearance, failed to appear and his bond was declared forfeited. When advised by Chief of Police McDermott that Kelly had been arrested and fined $100 upon a gambling charge a week ago, Judge Hanley ordered that the defendant be taken into custody.

HENRY FORD'S COUNSEL ASKS MISTRIAL IN LIBEL SUIT

OPPOSE CHANGE IN SAPIRO'S DECLARATION

Detroit Judge Defers Ruling on Plea and Motion.

ARGUMENT HEARD

Chicago Man's Lawyer Says Amendment is Within Rules.

FEDERAL BUILDING, Detroit, March 28.—After formally objecting to any change in Aaron Sapiro's declaration of libel, counsel for Henry Ford today moved for a mistrial in the $1,000,000 Ford-Sapiro libel suit.

The court took under consideration both Sapiro's plea and the defense motion for a mistrial. He said he would announce a decision later in the day.

Stewart Hanley, of Ford's counsel, first filed the objection before Judge Fred M. Raymond in federal court here and then asked that a mistrial be declared and the jury dismissed if the court accepted Sapiro's amended complaint. Judge Raymond tentatively accepted the amended declaration last week.

Hanley declared that the Sapiro move, eliminating 54 of his allegations of libel, had changed the whole cause of action. The changes, if allowed, said Hanley, will seriously jeopardize the rights of Henry Ford

Object to Amendment.

Hanley made a long argument, urging the court to reject all changes in the declaration.

"We wish to object to the acceptance of the amendment to the declaration of libel," said Hanley, "we oppose both the portion, amending the cause to action and the second section relating to the limitation of fifty or more of the alleged libels."

Hanley said that nothing had occurred during the trial to justify the changes proposed by Sapiro.

"We now ask, that if the amendment is allowed." Hanley added, "that the jury be dismissed and this trial declared a mistrial. This amendment changes the whole cause of action and we have a right to a new trial."

William Henry Gallagher declared the amendment was strictly within the usual rules of court procedure.

"Amendments to a declaration of libel can be allowed," he added, "If they do not change the form of action nor introduce any new subjects. Our amendment does neither, so it is in order."

and young Mr. Kahn expects to have $1,000,000 a year profit. That isn't much in these days, but it will do for a start.

THE French parliament votes 8,000,000,000 francs for the army and navy this coming year. That sounds a great deal, but it amounts to only $400,000,000, which wouldn't go far in this country.

You wonder how the French do it. They have the greatest flying fleet in the world, one that could wipe out every city in the United States in 10 days. In addition to that, they keep half a million men under arms, and maintain a great navy.

Automobile makers are more enthusiastic than ever, and, industrially speaking, the enterprising among them are "stepping on the gas." According to some whose predictions have been accurate hitherto the United States ought to be operating 38,000,000 cars in 1940.

BERTRAND RUSSELL, convinced, as many parents are, that no school is exactly right, will start a school of his own, for the sake of his two children, four and two years old. They will learn swimming, physical culture, tennis, but not football, cricket or hockey.

That is Bertrand Russell's first mistake. Make your children different mentally if you can, by stimulating their thought. But don't handicap them by forbidding them to do the comparatively harmless, even mildly foolish things that other children do.

To make a child "strange" among other children is to cut down its chances. Russell's school will be a good one, nevertheless.

LESSONS in auction bridge sent out on the radio are followed, it is said, by 6,000,000 men and women, and auction bridge teachers can earn as much as $50,000 a year. That will interest some other teachers paid barely enough to keep them alive.

How many do you think would "tune in" if the radio sent out lessons in history, astronomy, or chemistry.

Kidnaped Child Ransomed.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 28. Virginia Josephine Frazier, two-year-old daughter of Commissioner Fred B. Frazier, was back home in the arms of her mother today after spending four days in the hands of kidnapers who stole her as she slept last Wednesday night.

The child was returned after Frazier paid $3,333 ransom demanded by the child thieves, it was officially announced.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon. Burial will be made at Alliance.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, March 28.—A rush of week-end buying orders for the leading industrial and railroad shares resulted in a sharp advance in prices of the well known stocks in early trading today.

Geenral Motors and United States Steel repeated their almost daily performance of establishing new "peak" prices. Pools in the so-called specialty stocks pushed up the prices of their favorites in an active movement, and railroad stocks and independent steels surged forward in heavy trading.

Easy money and capitalistic confidence is Wall Street's explanation for the sharp advance of the high-priced industrial shares, following three years of steady climbing in the speculative markets. Investment demand for stocks today is reported larger than any time in Wall street history.

American Telephone & Telegraph sold at 169, the highest price in 24 years; General Motors at 182 and United States Steel at 165 7-8, these prices marking a new high record for the other members of this strong market trio.

Atchison and New York Central were the represent of the rails on the new upward move National Biscuit, Cast Iron Pipe, Dupont, Harvester and other high-priced industrials continued the spectacular forward movements which characterized their market course last week.

Call money was unchanged at 4 per cent.

MINERS AWAIT WALKOUT ORDER

Jacksonville Pact Will Expire on March 31.

COLUMBUS, O., March 28.—Union coal miners in the Ohio fields went to work today certain of only four more days at the prevailing rate of $7.50 for an eight-hour day as provided in the Jacksonville agreement which expires at midnight March 31. With their officers in session at Indianapolis determined to demand a continuation of the Jacksonville agreement, and operators firm in their demand for a wage reduction to $4 or $4.50 daily, the miners of the central competitive field, which includes Ohio, faced the prospect of indefinite idleness without the prospect of strike benefits.

Reports from the districts bordering on the Ohio river near the neighboring non-union fields of West Virginia and Kentucky today were the non-union "missionaries" were visiting the union Ohio fields and offering employment to union miners. Little success was met with. At Martins Ferry, two non-union organizers were driven from the town, and at other points their efforts bore no more fruit. Union sub-district officers reported.

In the union stronghold of northern West Virginia, miners were as determined to stand by the Jacksonville scale demand as Ohio workers, following a Sunday night mass meeting held at Fairmont.

Operators in Ohio and West Virginia, generally had little comment to offer today and seemed reconciled to a policy of watch and wait, following their reduced wage announcement submitted to employes last week in the weekly pay envelopes.

Three More Bills Are Approved by Governor Donahey

COLUMBUS, O., March 28.—Receiving the approving signature of Governor Vic Donahey today, three more bills, passed at the present session of the Ohio legislature, will become laws 90 days after being filed with the secretary of state.

The measures signed today by the governor are: — By representative Harry Ball, Scioto county, extending the jurisdiction of the state forester, providing for appointment of state forestry fire wardens, and revising restrictions on handling fires; by Representative Perry Green, Portage, providing for establishment of a demonstration forest, under direction of the state division of forestry, and, by Representative L. J. Tbele, Cleveland, authorizing the state insurance superintendent to require foreign brokers to furnish information which the superintendent may deem necessary in order to determine "the trustworthiness, competency and suitability of the applicant to act as an insurance broker" in Ohio.

Resuscitator Saves Second New-born Baby in Cleveland

CLEVELAND, O., March 28.—For the second time within a week, local police have saved the life of a newborn babe.

After almost an hour's hard work with a resuscitator here yesterday, a rescue squad, directed by Sergeant Charles Crust, started the breath of life in a son of Mrs. Kenneth Benedict, which had been born with collapsed lungs.

A similar rescue was effected here last Thursday of a baby born to Mrs. John Adamsky.

Frank McLain, taxicab driver, was twice convicted of manslaughter. Anderson's counsel carried the case to the state supreme court in a vain effort to obtain a third trial. The defendant entered the penitentiary last week to serve a term of four years eight months to 20 years.

Brookes most recent conviction was that of Roy Wallen, East Salineville coal miner, who was sentenced to the penitentiary for life after he had been found guilty of second degree murder in the death of Rodney Ogle, a neighbor.

Four of the eight murder trials during the last seven years originated in Wellsville, three in East Liverpool and one in Salineville. The arrest of Rini and Mrs. Chorgas, which occurred here, places East Liverpool on equal footing with the sister city of Wellsville so far as murder cases are concerned.

OHIO VILLAGE SWEPT BY FIRE

SANDUSKY, O., March 28.—The little village of Castalia, six miles south of here, was badly damaged by fire of undetermined origin early today. Heisman's garage and three smaller structures were totally destroyed with a total loss of about $12,000. The Sandusky fire department prevented the flames from spreading.

Naval Dirigible Los Angeles Ready For Test Flight

WASHINGTON, March 28. — The naval dirigible Los Angeles has again been inflated at Lakehurst and made ready to undertake a series of test flights, it was announcd today.

Naval officials declared the inflation of the giant airship had no possible connection with the Chinese situation, but was merely regular routine.

Withdrawal of marines from Lakehurst for duty in China, however, may delay or halt the training flight tests.

Anti-foreign Hatred

taches refused to make a statement pending instructions from Paris.

Gen. Smedley Butler, commander of the Americans, participated in a conference with the French and the commanders of the various international forces.

Large numbers of Japanese women and children are going home, every vessel for Japan being crowded.

"Drive all foreigners from China," is the slogan of men and women anti-foreign agitators, some of them Russians, who are active among the Cantonese troops and the workingmen in the Shanghai district.

Further bloodshed is feared. Admiral Williams, commander of the United State warchaft in Chinese waers, has taken official cognizance of the growing tensity of the situation and has warned Washington.

The situation at Nanking is quiet. The consular authorities have been notified that a handful of Americans are remaining there upon the United States warcraft anchored off the city to supervise the evacuation of Americans from the outlying districts.

Close Consulates.

PEKING, March 28.—The American state department has authorized the closing of the American consulates at Chunking and Changsha, the United States legation announced today.

Britain Sends Sharp Note.

LONDON, March 28.—Sir Austen Chamberlain, British foreign minister, has sent a sharp note to General Chiang Kai Shek, Nationalist military leader in China, stating that Great Britain can enter no further negotiations with the Nationalists until steps are taken to insure protection for foreign lives and property, according to reports circulated in semi-official circles today.

Sir Austen's action, it is understood, followed a request made upon the powers in Shanghai for a statement from them as to their plans for giving up the international settlement in Shanghai to Chinese control.

The demands of the Chinese for the return of all concessions are insistent, but it is understood here that Great Britain will give no further ground and that Chiang Kai Shek had been notified that the powers are prepared to defend their Shanghai concessions by force, if necessary.

A special cabinet meeting was summoned today to discuss Chinese situation and Sir Austen Chamberlain rendered a report.

Sex Play Author And Co-Producers Sent to Workhouse

NEW YORK, March 28.—William Francis Dugan, author of "The Virgin Man," one of the three Broadway sex plays raided by police, and Mack Cohan and Jacob Kromberg, co-producers, were sentenced to ten days in the workhouse and fined $250 each, or the alternative of 30 days more, by Justices Direnso, Murphy and Voorhes in special sessions court today.

They all paid the fines. The seven members of the cast, three women and four men, were given suspended sentences.

110 Bullets in Walls.

Police found 110 bullets in the walls of the corridor. It was impossible to count the bullet wounds in Cohen and Bloom, Wright was badly shot up.

Immediately after the shooting, police learned, the occupants of the apartment took Bloomfield and the machine guns, loaded them into a car a the rear of the apartment, nad escaped.

A search of the apartment revealed a strong arsenal. There were 12 pistols, scores of rounds of amunition. dum-dum bullets, three shotguns, and large number of blackjacks and other strongarm implements. Women's clothes were also found.

The apartment was rented by John Telzdorf. Living with him were Miller. Simon Axler, 61 Clinton street, New York, and an unidentified man, believed to be Axler's brother, Abe, of 63 Clinton street, New York.

Brady admitted that Bloomfield was employed by him. He said he knew nothing of the kidnaping or of the demand for ransom.

Kent Killing Two Years Ago.

KENT, O., March 28.—Salvatore Mirogliotta, alias Sam Miller, reputed to have been a member of the Detroit "machine gun gang," which early today killed two men and seriously wounded a third, is wanted here for the murder of Clayton Apple, a policeman.

The killing occurred March 23, 1925, under somewhat mysterious circumstances. A man named Frank Mollicky, and Mirogliotta had some sort of an argument with Apple on the street, according to local police. Following the argument, eleven shots were fired, the policeman dropping with a bullet through the heart.

Mollicky was captured and indicted for first degree murder, but Mirogliotta escaped. Mollicky's trial was held up pending the capture of the other man.

According to local authorities the trial will probably be held some time next month. Mollicky, in the meantime is at liberty under bond.

GAMBLING RAID TRAPS SIX MEN

Carl Kelly Fined $125 for Maintaining Place.

Carl Kelly, lower Walnut street, was fined $125 and costs by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today, when he pleaded guilty of a charge of maintaining a gambling house, following a raid upon his home by Captain Conley and Patrolman Lister at 9:30 o'clock last evening.

Five other men, giving the names of Frank Hutchison, Henry Fisher, John Hutchison, Bert Hughes and Brady Larcombe, alleged to have been found in the place, forfeited $15.80 each upon charges of gambling.

Kelly, who had posted $55.80 for his appearance, failed to appear and his bond was declared forfeited. When advised by Chief of Police McDermott that Kelly had been arrested and fined $100 upon a gambling charge a week ago, Judge Hanley ordered that the defendant be taken into custody.

Chief McDermott made two fruitless visits to the Kelly home yesterday but claims that a lookout who had been posted at the front door gave the alarm before he could get to the second floor room, where the game is alleged to have been in progress. Captain Conley and Patrolman Lister later raided the house under the cover of darkness.

Kelly was charged with a liquor violation in connection with the raid a week ago but this charge was dismissed because of lack of evidence. He was committed to jail today in default of payment of the gambling fine.

Set R. J. Powell to Work and Forget Moving Day Blues

To move or not to move?

The problem that revolves in the minds of countless busy home-seekers, usually in the springtime, as they look out for a little place with a garden in the back yard, or a home "close in" where the kids can get to school more easily, or a place in the suburbs where there's a little more freedom, or maybe the landlord's just been there.

Movin's trouble enough, and if you can get someone else to share your worries, even if you have to pay for it, it's worth it, especially when a transfer service such as R. J. Powell's is available.

Powell has established an enviable reputation in the moving business in recent years and his work well warrants all the praise that has been coming his way.

Regardless of whether it's two blocks, two miles, or 2,000 miles. Powell will give you the same careful, faultless service every inch of the way. And what's more, all of his loads are insured.

Furniture, pianos, freight and express of various descriptions are all in his line.

If you're thinking of moving, call him and reserve a date—his phone is 7500-R21.

No Excuse Now for "Limping" Motors; Deacon Fixes Them

Mr. Motor Car Owner, you'll have to admit it—There's no excuse at all for running your car with dented fenders, nicks in the body, one light burning, and that one very feeble because the battery is about gone, or perhaps a couple of leaves out of a rear spring, or something else, when a couple of hours at Deacon's garage can bring these things back to a state or normalcy.

Such minor flaws are as unnecessary as a rear seat driver and much easier to eliminate.

Harry Langdon is the proprietor of the Deacon garage and the availability of his place of business is another adtage to the motor car owner.

Many autos have been repaired and frayed tempers patched up at his shop just a little way above the Horn Switch in Walnut street.

A fetaure of his service is battery charging — batteries rented, called for and delivered—$1.00.

All of his work is guaranteed.

'Complete' is Best Way to Describe Owen's Paper Line

A well balanced stock of wall papers covering complete price range of domestic and imported papers with a very well chosen selection of the medium priced papers suited to the average buyer of moderate means.

That, in a few words, describes the Owen Wall Paper and Paint Company's brand of service. If only one word could be used, it would be, "Complete."

And another thing—while selecting a wide variety of papers, the Owen company keeps in mind always the customer, so that the latter can pick out something always that appeals and yet at a price that makes the purchase doubly satisfactory.

Many of the Owen company's designs are suited to the new method of painting which places the price of a paneled room well within the reach of the family with a modest income.

In addition, they carry, a complete line of the Foy Brand paints and varnishes (Foy's highest quality) as well as other painting and papering specialties.

Owen's place is located at 639 St. Clair avenue, a short distance from the Diamond.

New Coat of Paint At Drier's Shop Will Boost Auto's Value

Speaking of automobiles, if you save the surface, you might not be able to save all, but the chances are 100 to one that you'll get a bigger resale price out of the old bus than if you put it on the market with a decrepit covering of something that once was paint.

Regardless of how sweet the motor purrs, or how smoothly she slides along the open road, or how easily the gears click into place, or how staunchly she takes the rough spots, the automobile with a tawdry appearance is handicapped in the race for resale dollars right off the reel.

Drier's auto paint shop can stake you to all the inside information in this phase of the auto game. The Drier shop, located at the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and State street, in the East End, has restored the complexion of many wrinkled old road veterans that are still delivering miles, in a shiny new coat, that otherwise might have been doing duty on the pension list.

Drier's shop is an authorized Duco refinishing station. Let them trim up your car and the chances are it'll look so good you'll want to ride in it another season.

All Home Cooking Magnet That Draws Hungry to Graham's

As proof of the fact that the world will beat a path to the man who makes something or does something better than anyone else, the William Y. Graham restaurant, tucked away in Diamond alley, is doing more than its share of business these days.

A strictly American cuisine, with any number of appetizing specialties, tempts hundreds of folks for a tasty breakfast, a satisfying mid-day luncheon or an all-complete, more expansive evening meal.

All home cooking, a feature that cannot be stressed too much, probably is the secret, although the quality of Graham's foods is no secret to throngs of business men, professional men and followers of various other callings who inhabit this haven for the hungry at various times during the day.

"Try our T-bone steaks and chops" is Graham's tip to those who would achieve that square-meal feeling.

Graham's restaurant is located in Diamond alley, right back of Bulger's drug store, and if you haven't been there, it really isn't hard to find. And once you've been there, a desire for "eats like mother used to make" will turn your footsteps back when an empty tummy begins to cry for reinforcements.

Ervin Machine Co., Expands Business In Pottery Field

Having achieved an unusual degree of success and no small amount of recognition throughout the district for the excellence of their machine work, the Ervin Machine company, located in the rear of 644 St. Clair avenue, is negotiating the first steps of an expansion program that should swell its business far beyond the present bounds during the year.

Sometime ago the Ervin company stepped into the field of pottery, milling and mining machinery and the success of the concern's preliminary efforts indicates in a very substantial manner its ability in the new field.

Mechanical perfection, precision, accuracy and dependability are requisites of their line of endeavor and the Ervin forces have them all, plus the experience of Bert Bucher and C. E. Ervin.

Bucher was formerly with the Bucher-Smith company and his record in the field of general machine work will speak for itself. Ervin will direct his efforts largely toward work in the pottery field.

Set R. J. Powell to Work and Forget Moving Day Blues

To move or not to move?

The problem that revolves in the minds of countless busy home seekers, usually in the springtime, as they look out for a little place with a garden in the back yard, or a home "close in" where the kids can get to school more easily, or a place in the suburbs where there's a little more freedom, or maybe the landlord's just been there.

Movin's trouble enough, and if you can get somecne else to share your worries, even if you have to pay for it, it's worth it, especially when a transfer service such as R. J. Powell's is available.

Powell has established an enviable reputation in the moving business in recent years and his work well warrants all the praise that has been coming his way.

Regardless of whether it's two blocks, two miles, or 2,000 miles. Powell will give you the same careful, faultless service every inch of the way. And what's more, all of his loads are insured.

Furniture, pianos, freight and express of various descriptions are all in his line.

No Excuse Now for "Limping" Motors; Deacon Fixes Them

Mr. Motor Car Owner, you'll have to admit it—There's no excuse at all for running your car with dented fenders, nicks in the body, one light burning, and that one very feeble because the battery is about gone, or perhaps a couple of leaves out of a rear spring, or something else, when a couple of hours at Deacon's garage can bring these things back to a state or normalcy.

Such minor flaws are as unnecessary as a rear seat driver and much easier to eliminate.

Regardless of how sweet the motor purrs, or how smoothly she slides along the open road, or how easily the gears click into place, or how staunchly she takes the rough spots, the automobile with a tawdry appearance is handicapped in the race for resale dollars right off the reel.

Drier's auto paint shop can stake you to all the inside information in this phase of the auto game. The Drier shop, located at the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and State street, in the East End, has restored the complexion of many wrinkled old road veterans that are still delivering miles, in a shiny new coat, that otherwise might have been doing duty on the pension list.

Drier's shop is an authorized Duco refinishing station. Let them trim up your car and the chances are it'll look so good you'll want to ride in it another season.

All Home Cooking Magnet That Draws Hungry to Graham's

As proof of the fact that the world will beat a path to the man who makes something or does something better than anyone else, the William Y. Graham restaurant, tucked away in Diamond alley, is doing more than its share of business these days.

A strictly American cuisine, with any number of appetizing specialties, tempts hundreds of folks for a tasty breakfast, a satisfying mid-day luncheon or an all-complete, more expansive evening meal.

All home cooking, a feature that cannot be stressed too much, probably is the secret, although the quality of Graham's foods is no secret to throngs of business men, professional men and followers of various other callings who inhabit this haven for the hungry at various times during the day.

"Try our T-bone steaks and chops" is Graham's tip to those who would achieve that square-meal feeling.

Graham's restaurant is located in Diamond alley, right back of Bulger's drug store, and if you haven't been there, it really isn't hard to find. And once you've been there, a desire for "eats like mother used to make" will turn your footsteps back when an empty tummy begins to cry for reinforcements.

Ervin Machine Co., Expands Business In Pottery Field

Having achieved an unusual degree of success and no small amount of recognition throughout the district for the excellence of their machine work, the Ervin Machine company, located in the rear of 644 St. Clair avenue, is negotiating the first steps of an expansion program that should swell its business far beyond the present bounds during the year.

Sometime ago the Ervin company stepped into the field of pottery, milling and mining machinery and the success of the concern's preliminary efforts indicates in a very substantial manner its ability in the new field.

Mechanical perfection, precision, accuracy and dependability are requisites of their line of endeavor and the Ervin forces have them all, plus the experience of Bert Bucher and C. E. Ervin.

Bucher was formerly with the Bucher-Smith company and his record in the field of general machine work will speak for itself. Ervin will direct his efforts largely toward work in the pottery field.

Basketball Rivals Resume Warfare Tonight In Midland

Elks Strengthened As Guard Anderson Returns To Lineup

Third and Final Tilt Will Decide Inter-county Court Honors for Season; Large Delegation of Local Fans to Take in Game.

With the Columbiana-Beaver inter-county independent basketball title and the lion's share of the purse depending upon the result, the East Liverpool Elks and the Midland Collegians will resume basketball warfare tonight at Midland in the third and final clash of their series.

At a conference following the second series tussle last Friday night at Midland Manager Kissinger won the toss and took the deciding scrap to the Steel City court.

The series stands even at the present time. The Elks won the first contest here last Wednesday, but lost Ray Wilde and their chances of cleaning up the series in one-two order.

A burst of speed in the last few minutes of the Friday night battle gave the Collegians the decision in the second and an excellent chance for the title.

Captain and Guard Smith Anderson, who also was unable to play Friday night, will be back in uniform tonight and his presence in the lineup ought to be the deciding factor. Anderson has a faculty for getting the ball out from the danger zone under the basket and is an important cog in the defense, although there were few Midland shots made from under the basket Friday night. The deciding field goals, in fact, were sensational heaves by Campbell from a point a little short of mid court.

Dave Shupe and Nate Lippe will be back in action tonight, although at what positions, Coach Bill Powell has not yet decided. The absence of Wilde has thrown the team out of alignment and is making the problem of rearranging the players into an harmonious group rather difficult.

Dave Shupe does anything on the basketball court and does it well, but he is probably more valuable as a forward than in any other position. He jumped center against the Collegians Friday and did such a good job of it that he may be used there again tonight.

A large delegation of fans from the city probably will take in the concluding rumpus of the series, which, if anything like the second, in point of all around performance, class and thrills, should certainly be worth watching.

The construction of the new Midland high school gymnasium, where the event will be staged, makes it possible for everyone to see at any and all times and really provides a high class setting for the final scene of the series.

Nominating Augi Kieckhefer.

BECAUSE he is the world's newly crowned three-cushion billiard champion, winning the title at the championship tournament at Chicago.

Because in attaining the crown he has staged two comebacks, having held the title on two occasions before.

Because he is right-handed, except for two things, shooting billiards and shoveling coal.

Because he did plenty of the latter as a boy in his father's seventeen-room house in Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

BOWLING COLUMN

STAR duckpin shooters of the Liberty duckpin loop have one more week to crack away at league records and leaders.

Beginning tonight three more matches are slated before the conclusion of the second half with the Rankers leading at the present time. This delegation is not so far out in front however, that they can't be stopped and the efforts of their rivals should pep up the final week's action.

Johnny Green is leading in high average for the half, with a mark of 154, seven better than Forbes Alcock. The Bankers hold the high three-game record of 2,198, and Turk Nash the single game mark of 783.

Shaffer's 221 has topped all individual one-game performance to date and Manypenny's 596 leads the league for three gams.

The week's schedule.

Tonight—Altmans vs Smith News.
Tuesday—Turk Nash vs Roselawns.
Friday—Chryslers vs Bankers.

Training Camps

Pennock Down to Work.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 28.—After playing the St. Louis Cardinals here today, the Yankees will break camp and start north. Southpaw Herb Pennock has come to terms but will get into shape here instead of leaving with the team. Infielder Don Flickinger has been released to the Binghamton, N. Y. club.

Rickard After Bantams.

NEW YORK, March 28.—Promoter Tex Rickard was negotiating today for a bantamweight championship contest to be held here this summer between Bud Taylor of Terre Haute and Tony Canzoneri of Brooklyn, who fought a ten-round draw in Chicago on Saturday night. Chicago promoters also are angling for a return bout.

Robins-Nats Clash.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 28.—With three straight victories to their credit, the Brooklyn Robins meet the Washington Senators here today. Two rookie infielders, Partridge and Barrett, have won regular berths with the Robins.

Browns Seek Revenge.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 28.—Eager to even up matters for an earlier trouncing handed them by the Giants, the Browns arrived here today. In their first game New York won, 13 to 1. Cincinnati beat the Browns yesterday at Miami, 6 to 7

Bob O'Farrell, new pilot of the Cardinals, steps up from the ranks of that team to pilot it and so, though he does not move, will come in for a share.

The playing of Cobb and Speaker will be watched closely, not only because of their avowed intentions of letting out an extra notch simply to show their appreciation of their vindication by the fans and powers that be, but because it will be a crucial year for both as far as determining their future on the diamond.

Eddie Roush, passed up as a youngster by the Giants, joins that club in the sunset side of his career. Burleigh Grimes, Dodgers veteran, also totes a Giant uniform for the first time.

Donie Bush, new Priate leader, comes up from a successful stint as a minor league pilot at Indianapolis. He once managed the Senators, but at a time when Griffith used managers simply to fill the space on the office letter heads.

Stuffy McInnis, who rose to fame as a first baseman with the Philadelphia Athletics, goes back to Quakersville to seek fame as a manager with the National League club.

Truly a tough year for a rookie seeking headlines to clip and send home.

One little problem over which Bill Carrigan, pilot of the Red Sox, may ponder o' night while whipping his team into shape is the reason why Emory Rigney, fleet-footed shortstop, can't steal bases. Rigney accepted more chances afield than any other shortstop in the league last season. Yet the best he could do on the bases was to swipe just six. Of course he is not a .300 hitter, which lessens his chances for getting on base. But a man of his speed, when on bases, should be a bad hombre for a catcher to check.

MAROON-TIGER GRID SERIES

Princeton-Chicago Football Relations Resumed.

CHICAGO, March 28.—The University of Chicago campus, where football is discussed during baseball season, hummed today over the announcement made by A. A. Stagg, director of Athletics, that football relations had been re-established with Princeton.

A two-year contract, calling for a Maroon-Tiger game at Princeton in 1929 and a clash here in 1930, has been signed.

Chicago and Princeton met in 1921 and 1922. The Maroon eleven in the east defeated the Tigers 9-0 in 1921. The Roper eleven won the 1922 game here, 21-18.

"We are very glad to meet Princeton again," said Stagg in making the announcement. "If this new series is as good as the last one, it ought to satisfy everybody."

PRINCETON, N. J., March 28.—Princeton's football team will meet Ohio State and Chicago elevens in home and home games during the next four years, according to an announcement made public today by Princeton athletic officials.

Ohio State will come here on Nov. 5, next fall and Princeton will play a return engagement at Columbus on Nov. 3, 1928. The Chicago eleven will clash with the Tigers here on Nov. 2, 1929, and Princeton will meet the Maroon in Chicago on Nov. 1, 1930.

A Princeton eleven has not made a western trip since 1922, and the newly-arranged intersectional contests were made possible only by the collapse of the Big Three.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

THIS is the veteran's year in baseball.

The interest in the incoming stars, youthful phenoms etc., is overshadowed completely by the eagerness with which the average fan awaits the activities of the old timers—especially those cast in new environments.

Topping the list of veterans in this class, of course, are Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker, Rogers Hornsby, Eddie Roush, Zack Wheat, Burleigh Grimes, Steve O'Neill, Rober Peckinpaugh, Frankie Frisch (though scarcely a vet in years at least), and Jasques Fournier.

As newcomers in the managerial ranks such veteran campaigners as Jack McCallister of the Indians, Dorie Bush of the Pirates, Stuffy McInnis of the Phils, Dan Howley of the Browns, Bill Carrigan of the Red Sox, Ray Schalk of the White Sox, George Moriarty of the Tigers will draw their share.

Famous Pro Golfers Slip As Bobby Wins

Hagen's Performance Not Like That of Former Years; Hutchison, Barnes and Others Outclassed.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, March 28.—It may be bad taste to call the embalmer before the corpse is cold but that as it might, it seemed self evident today that some of the revered figures of professional golf have reached a pass where they no longer are worthy of even illusionary reverence. I am referring in general to men who finished anywhere from eight to eighty strokes, or thereabout, behind Bobby Jones in the southern open on Saturday and in particular to Walter Hagen.

Hagen these many years has been famous as the Houdini of golf, the man who could get out of any trouble, the great pinch hitter of the game who promised you that the bigger the prize, the better the round. They put up $4,000 as the first money prize at Atlanta and Hagen finished in a tie for seventeenth place or something o' the sort.

Others I wish to recommend as probable dead ones, or at least among the dying, are Jock Hutchison, former British open champion; Jim Barnes, holder of both British and American National titles during the last six years, and Gene Sarazen, quasi-famous to the point five years ago that they named a horse for him, a cigar alone being a greater honor.

Judged by their records during recent years, inclusive of the southern open, they ceased sometime ago to be of international calibre and now are golfers of little more than minor consequence, except for the traditional glamor to which their great past entitles them.

Hutch hasn't won anything of more than local moment since his great victory at St. Andrews' in 1921 and his 297 for one of the low money prizes at Atlanta has become more or less typical of the man. Barnes did come back to win the British title several years after his victory in the American open at Washington but otherwise he has just been one of the boys, doing the best he can. His best at Atlanta was like Kipling's worst at Suez, for he failed to get into the money at all, although thirty cash prizes were up.

Sarazen neither was as bad as Barnes nor as good as Hutchison at Atlanta, which means that there were a few ordinary golfers around and he was one of them. Sarazen really has sunk to mediocrity after his one great year as open and P. G. A. champion and the winner over Hagen in a special match.

Few suspected back in 1922 that he was a one-year champion but he inference is almost inescapable now. Cyril Walker and Willie Macfarlane, by the way, seem to be excellent examples of this type.

In a less obvious degree than Hutchison, Barnes and Sarazen, the bland Mr. Hagen's name has been ebbing away from him for two years and this winter it reached the low level of his career. At Atlanta, in fact, there semed to be nothing left but the swagger. He couldn't keep going for more than nine holes at a stretch and, with $4,000 in front of him, the question with the old Hagen would have been to stop him before dark.

Instead, he was stopped before he started. Bobby Jones beat him eighteen strokes; Johnny Farrell and John Golden ten each; Al Watrous eight; Leo Diegel seven; Bobby Cruikshank and several others, five strokes, and so on down the line.

Those strokes represented money, money to Hagen represents about everything except vanity and honor. Hagen most certainly was doing as well as he could in the southern open and, frankly, it might have been much better without being very good.

Alex to Face Yanks.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 28—Manager O'Farrell probably will call upon the veteran Alexander to serve them over the plate for the Yankees here today. The Cardinal's ace has pitched 14 scoreless innings in exhibition games this season and appears to be ready for another good season.

Greenfield Hit Hard.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 28.—Kent Greenfield, one of the Giants' regular boxmen, is not yet "ready." The Senators knocked him off the rubber yesterday and trimmed the New Yorkers, 9 to 4, despite a homer by Hornsby.

Dallas "Champs of Chicago."

DALLAS, Texas, March 28. — The Dallas Steers today were claiming the baseball championship of Chicago, having defeated the White Sox two games out of three. The White Sox are rated as city champions. Dallas won yesterday, 4 to 2.

JUNIOR COURT RIVALS PLAY

Two Contests Billed Tonight in 'Y' Tournament.

Eight basketbal teams are still in the running for "Y" Junior basketball tournament honors, including the Silents, Newell Reserves, All Stars, Dinosaurs, Bulgers, Buckeyes, Five Horsemen and the Hill Tops.

Tonight's clashes, starting at 8 p. m., on the 'Y' floor will bring the Silents and the Newell Juniors together, and the Dinosaurs and the All Stars.

On Wednesday night two games are scheduled, the Buckeyes playing the Bulgers at 7:30 and the Five Horsemen clashing with the Hill Tops. The semi-finals will be played Thursday night and the final contest will be played Saturday.

Tribe Starting North.

LAKELAND, Fla., March 28.—With the Cleveland Indians showing better form than at this time last year, according to Manager Jack McCallister, the tribe starts northward tonight. A heavy practice session will take place today.

The New York Giants play the Redskins at St. Augustine Tuesday, according to present schedule.

Emil Levsen will probably start on the mound for the American leaguers.

One little problem over which Bill Carrigan, pilot of the Red Sox, may ponder o' night while whipping his team into shape is the reason why Emory Rigney, fleet-footed shortstop, can't steal bases. Rigney accepted more chances afield than any other shortstop in the league last season. Yet the best he could do on the bases was to swipe just six. Of course he is not a .300 hitter, which lessens his chances for getting on base. But a man of his speed, when on bases, should be a bad hombre for a catcher to check.

Famous Pro Golfers Slip As Bobby Wins

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, March 28.—It may be bad taste to call the embalmer before the corpse is cold but that as it might, it seemed self evident today that some of the revered figures of professional golf have reached a pass where they no longer are worthy of even illusionary reverence. I am referring in general to men who finished anywhere from eight to eighty strokes, or thereabout, behind Bobby Jones in the southern open on Saturday and in particular to Walter Hagen.

Hagen these many years has been famous as the Houdini of golf, the man who could get out of any trouble, the great pinch hitter of the game who promised you that the bigger the prize, the better the round. They put up $4,000 as the first money prize at Atlanta and Hagen finished in a tie for seventeenth place or something o' the sort.

Others I wish to recommend as probable dead ones, or at least among the dying, are Jock Hutchison, former British open champion; Jim Barnes, holder of both British and American National titles during the last six years, and Gene Sarazen, quasi-famous to the point five years ago that they named a horse for him, a cigar alone being a greater honor.

Judged by their records during recent years, inclusive of the southern open, they ceased sometime ago to be of international calibre and now are golfers of little more than minor consequence, except for the traditional glamor to which their great past entitles them.

Hutch hasn't won anything of more than local moment since his great victory at St. Andrews' in 1921 and his 297 for one of the low money prizes at Atlanta has become more or less typical of the man. Barnes did come back to win the British title several years after his victory in the American open at Washington but otherwise he has just been one of the boys, doing the best he can. His best at Atlanta was like Kipling's worst at Suez, for he failed to get into the money at all, although thirty cash prizes were up.

Sarazen neither was as bad as Barnes nor as good as Hutchison at Atlanta, which means that there were a few ordinary golfers around and he was one of them. Sarazen really has sunk to mediocrity after his one great year as open and P. G. A. champion and the winner over Hagen in a special match.

Few suspected back in 1922 that he was a one-year champion but he inference is almost inescapable now. Cyril Walker and Willie Macfarlane, by the way, seem to be excellent examples of this type.

In a less obvious degree than Hutchison, Barnes and Sarazen, the bland Mr. Hagen's name has been ebbing away from him for two years and this winter it reached the low level of his career. At Atlanta, in fact, there semed to be nothing left but the swagger. He couldn't keep going for more than nine holes at a stretch and, with $4,000 in front of him, the question with the old Hagen would have been to stop him before dark.

Instead, he was stopped before he started. Bobby Jones beat him eighteen strokes; Johnny Farrell and John Golden ten each; Al Watrous eight; Leo Diegel seven; Bobby Cruikshank and several others, five strokes, and so on down the line.

Those strokes represented money, money to Hagen represents about everything except vanity and honor. Hagen most certainly was doing as well as he could in the southern open and, frankly, it might have been much better without being very good.

Alex to Face Yanks.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 28—Manager O'Farrell probably will call upon the veteran Alexander to serve them over the plate for the Yankees here today. The Cardinal's ace has pitched 14 scoreless innings in exhibition games this season and appears to be ready for another good season.

Greenfield Hit Hard.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 28.—Kent Greenfield, one of the Giants' regular boxmen, is not yet "ready." The Senators knocked him off the rubber yesterday and trimmed the New Yorkers, 9 to 4, despite a homer by Hornsby.

Dallas "Champs of Chicago."

DALLAS, Texas, March 28. — The Dallas Steers today were claiming the baseball championship of Chicago, having defeated the White Sox two games out of three. The White Sox are rated as city champions. Dallas won yesterday, 4 to 2.

The New York Giants play the Redskins at St. Augustine Tuesday, according to present schedule.

Emil Levsen will probably start on the mound for the American leaguers.

Basketball Rivals Resume Warfare Tonight In Midland

Elks Strengthened As Guard Anderson Returns To Lineup

Third and Final Tilt Will Decide Inter-county Court Honors for Season; Large Delegation of Local Fans to Take in Game.

With the Columbiana-Beaver inter-county independent basketball title and the lion's share of the purse depending upon the result, the East Liverpool Elks and the Midland Collegians will resume basketball warfare tonight at Midland in the third and final clash of their series.

At a conference following the second series tussle last Friday night at Midland Manager Kissinger won the toss and took the deciding scrap to the Steel City court.

The series stands even at the present time. The Elks won the first contest here last Wednesday, but lost Ray Wilde and their chances of cleaning up the series in one-two order.

A burst of speed in the last few minutes of the Friday night battle gave the Collegians the decision in the second and an excellent chance for the title.

Captain and Guard Smith Anderson, who also was unable to play Friday night, will be back in uniform tonight and his presence in the lineup ought to be the deciding factor. Anderson has a faculty for getting the ball out from the danger zone under the basket and is an important cog in the defense, although there were few Midland shots made from under the basket Friday night. The deciding field goals, in fact, were sensational heaves by Campbell from a point a little short of mid court.

Dave Shupe and Nate Lippe will be back in action tonight, although at what positions, Coach Bill Powell has not yet decided. The absence of Wilde has thrown the team out of alignment and is making the problem of rearranging the players into an harmonious group rather difficult.

Dave Shupe does anything on the basketball court and does it well, but he is probably more valuable as a forward than in any other position. He jumped center against the Collegians Friday and did such a good job of it that he may be used there again tonight.

A large delegation of fans from the city probably will take in the concluding rumpus of the series, which, if anything like the second, in point of all around performance, class and thrills, should certainly be worth watching.

The construction of the new Midland high school gymnasium, where the event will be staged, makes it possible for everyone to see at any and all times and really provides a high class setting for the final scene of the series.

Nominating Augi Kieckhefer.

BECAUSE he is the world's newly crowned three-cushion billiard champion, winning the title at the championship tournament at Chicago.

Because in attaining the crown he has staged two comebacks, having held the title on two occasions before.

BOWLING COLUMN

STAR duckpin shooters of the Liberty duckpin loop have one more week to crack away at league records and leaders.

Beginning tonight three more matches are slated before the conclusion of the second half with the Rankers leading at the present time. This delegation is not so far out in front however, that they can't be stopped and the efforts of their rivals should pep up the final week's action.

Johnny Green is leading in high average for the half, with a mark of 154, seven better than Forbes Alcock. The Bankers hold the high three-game record of 2,198, and Turk Nash the single game mark of 783.

Shaffer's 221 has topped all individual one-game performance to date and Manypenny's 596 leads the league for three gams.

The week's schedule.

Tonight—Altmans vs Smith News.
Tuesday—Turk Nash vs Roselawns.
Friday—Chryslers vs Bankers.

Training Camps

Pennock Down to Work.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 28.—After playing the St. Louis Cardinals here today, the Yankees will break camp and start north. Southpaw Herb Pennock has come to terms but will get into shape here instead of leaving with the team. Infielder Don Flickinger has been released to the Binghamton, N. Y. club.

Rickard After Bantams.

NEW YORK, March 28.—Promoter Tex Rickard was negotiating today for a bantamweight championship contest to be held here this summer between Bud Taylor of Terre Haute and Tony Canzoneri of Brooklyn, who fought a ten-round draw in Chicago on Saturday night. Chicago promoters also are angling for a return bout.

Robins-Nats Clash.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 28.—With three straight victories to their credit, the Brooklyn Robins meet the Washington Senators here today. Two rookie infielders, Partridge and Barrett, have won regular berths with the Robins.

Browns Seek Revenge.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 28.—Eager to even up matters for an earlier trouncing handed them by the Giants, the Browns arrived here today. In their first game New York won, 13 to 1. Cincinnati beat the Browns yesterday at Miami, 6 to 7

MAROON-TIGER GRID SERIES

Princeton-Chicago Football Relations Resumed.

CHICAGO, March 28.—The University of Chicago campus, where football is discussed during baseball season, hummed today over the announcement made by A. A. Stagg, director of Athletics, that football relations had been re-established with Princeton.

A two-year contract, calling for a Maroon-Tiger game at Princeton in 1929 and a clash here in 1930, has been signed.

Chicago and Princeton met in 1921 and 1922. The Maroon eleven in the east defeated the Tigers 9-0 in 1921. The Roper eleven won the 1922 game here, 21-18.

"We are very glad to meet Princeton again," said Stagg in making the announcement. "If this new series is as good as the last one, it ought to satisfy everybody."

PRINCETON, N. J., March 28.—Princeton's football team will meet Ohio State and Chicago elevens in home and home games during the next four years, according to an announcement made public today by Princeton athletic officials.

Ohio State will come here on Nov. 5, next fall and Princeton will play a return engagement at Columbus on Nov. 3, 1928. The Chicago eleven will clash with the Tigers here on Nov. 2, 1929, and Princeton will meet the Maroon in Chicago on Nov. 1, 1930.

A Princeton eleven has not made a western trip since 1922, and the newly-arranged intersectional contests were made possible only by the collapse of the Big Three.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

THIS is the veteran's year in baseball.

The interest in the incoming stars, youthful phenoms etc., is overshadowed completely by the eagerness with which the average fan awaits the activities of the old timers—especially those cast in new environments.

Topping the list of veterans in this class, of course, are Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker, Rogers Hornsby, Eddie Roush, Zack Wheat, Burleigh Grimes, Steve O'Neill, Rober Peckinpaugh, Frankie Frisch (though scarcely a vet in years at least), and Jasques Fournier.

As newcomers in the managerial ranks such veteran campaigners as Jack McCallister of the Indians, Dorie Bush of the Pirates, Stuffy McInnis of the Phils, Dan Howley of the Browns, Bill Carrigan of the Red Sox, Ray Schalk of the White Sox, George Moriarty of the Tigers will draw their share.

Bob O'Farrell, new pilot of the Cardinals, steps up from the ranks of that team to pilot it and so, though he does not move, will come in for a share.

The playing of Cobb and Speaker will be watched closely, not only because of their avowed intentions of letting out an extra notch simply to show their appreciation of their vindication by the fans and powers that be, but because it will be a crucial year for both as far as determining their future on the diamond.

Eddie Roush, passed up as a youngster by the Giants, joins that club in the sunset side of his career. Burleigh Grimes, Dodgers veteran, also totes a Giant uniform for the first time.

Donie Bush, new Priate leader, comes up from a successful stint as a minor league pilot at Indianapolis. He once managed the Senators, but at a time when Griffith used managers simply to fill the space on the office letter heads.

Stuffy McInnis, who rose to fame as a first baseman with the Philadelphia Athletics, goes back to Quakersville to seek fame as a manager with the National League club.

Truly a tough year for a rookie seeking headlines to clip and send home.

One little problem over which Bill Carrigan, pilot of the Red Sox, may ponder o' night while whipping his team into shape is the reason why Emory Rigney, fleet-footed shortstop, can't steal bases. Rigney accepted more chances afield than any other shortstop in the league last season. Yet the best he could do on the bases was to swipe just six. Tony Paulsey's Campbell Quint Wins Tri-State Cage Title

Noose Out Wooster Passers In Final Tournament Clash

Paulsey Wins High Point and Most Valuable Man Awards as Well as Being Placed at Center on All Star Team; Zarlengo Fruits, Runners-up, Play Great Brand of Ball.

Tony Paulsey, husky, tow-headed Youngstown youth, who probably played enough basketball during the week-end to last him for a couple of years, Saturday night received the reward for one of the pluckiest, scrappiest exhibitions of basketball that has been seen on the high school court here for a long time when he won the second annual Tri-State independent cage tournament. Tony won, as he led the Campbell (O.) Merchants, to victory in the championship game over the Wooster Zarlengo Fruits, 35 to 30, for without Tony there would have been no Campbell Merchants.

Tony and his Merchants waded through the ranks of tournament entries, brushing aside high school and independent stars and showing an utter disregard for the reputations of a whole flock of Ohio conference basketball stars as they dark-horsed their way to the tourney title.

Paulsey Most Valuable.

Paulsey, voted the most valuable man award, aided by and inspiring his mates, brushed by the Pittsburgh Hoyles, the Western Reserve Phi Gamma Deltas, the Mt. Union Sigma Nus, led by the redoubtable "Lefty" Miller, the R. G. Brian Clothiers of East Liverpool, and finally the Zarlengo Fruits, composed entirely of Wooster basketball and football celebrities.

In every game, the Merchants had tough opposition. In fact they were almost eliminated in the opener with Hoyles, only a desperate last half rally bringing them through on top, 31 to 28.

The Merchants then hooked up with the Phi Gamma Deltas, of Western Reserve, led by Firth Smith, East Liverpool lad, and the Clevelanders bowed, 26 to 21, Paulsey practically winning the game himself as he slipped in eight field goals.

They clashed with the Mount Union Sigma Nus, last year's champions, and the Alliance combine was swept off its feet in a 34 to 18 conquest by the Merchants.

Defeat Brian Clothiers.

In the semi-finals they continued their advance by stopping the R. G. Brian Clothiers, composed of local high schools stars. The tally was 18 to 8.

The Campbellites and the Wooster Zarlengo Fruits battled then in the final and the Merchants' fighting spirit carried them to victory over one of the smoothest working fives that has ever stepped on the high school court.

The Wooster lads, led by Blough, great Ohio conference performer, Beeler, Dodez and Al McGlashen, outclassed the Merchants in tactics and skill, in fact they were the class of the tourrament in this respect, but the Merchants were demons for field goals and they finally finished on the big end of a 35 to 30 clash in a contest that provides a sensational tournament finish.

The contest was anybody's until the last few minutes when the Merchants slipped through a couple of field goals to win.

Wooster-Muskingum Clash.

The Wooster combine got into the final by a victory over the Muskingum Stags, boasting the services of Cliff "Red" Orr, star conference forward Guard Bain and others. This engagement probably was the cleanest and best played tilt of the tournament.

The Brian Clothiers enjoy the distinction of holding the tournament winners to their lowest score during the two-day meet. Paulsey's lads defeated the Brians by a count of 18 to 8.

In addition to the Merchants, the outstanding teams of the tournament were the Wooster Zarlengo Fruits, the Muskingum Stags, the Brian Clothiers, Youngstown Eagles, East Liverpool Peacocks, Mount Union Sigma Nus, the Knickerbockers and Hoyles, of Pittsburgh.

The outstanding stars probably could be enumerated as follows:

Pauley, Minehart and Check of the Merchants; Blough, Beeler nad Dodez of Wooster; Bain, Leeper and Orr, of the Stags; Larkins of the Brian Clothiers; Weith, Peacocks; Bush and Flynn, Knickerbockers; Burkle, Miller and Orr, Mount Union; and Lawry, of the Pittsburgh Hoyles.

WEAK WOMEN SHOULD READ THIS

Men do not understand why women are so subject to occasional weakness and often real illnesses. The housewife often forces herself to go through a day's work when if her husband left as miserable he would be in bed with the doctor at his bedside.

Much of this suffering is entirely unnecessary. A great deal of it is due to catarrh in the system— quite often unknown. The same mucous membrane as exists in the nose and throat lines all other cavities of the body and is subject to the same catarrh, with all its weakening effect.

Women Have Approved

The manufacturers of World's Tonic have many grateful letters from women who through the use of this remarkable medicine have been relieved of this weakness, and have gained strength to attend to their duties cheerfully and well.

World's Tonic has done this because it conquers catarrh, strengthens all bodily functions and restores vigor and strength.

Tony Paulsey's Campbell Quint Wins Tri-State Cage Title

Noose Out Wooster Passers In Final Tournament Clash

Paulsey Wins High Point and Most Valuable Man Awards as Well as Being Placed at Center on All Star Team; Zarlengo Fruits, Runners-up, Play Great Brand of Ball.

Tony Paulsey, husky, tow-headed Youngstown youth, who probably played enough basketball during the week-end to last him for a couple of years, Saturday night received the reward for one of the pluckiest, scrappiest exhibitions of basketball that has been seen on the high school court here for a long time when he won the second annual Tri-State independent cage tournament. Tony won, as he led the Campbell (O.) Merchants, to victory in the championship game over the Wooster Zarlengo Fruits, 35 to 30, for without Tony there would have been no Campbell Merchants.

Tony and his Merchants waded through the ranks of tournament entries, brushing aside high school and independent stars and showing an utter disregard for the reputations of a whole flock of Ohio conference basketball stars as they dark-horsed their way to the tourney title.

Paulsey Most Valuable.

Paulsey, voted the most valuable man award, aided by and inspiring his mates, brushed by the Pittsburgh Hoyles, the Western Reserve Phi Gamma Deltas, the Mt. Union Sigma Nus, led by the redoubtable "Lefty" Miller, the R. G. Brian Clothiers of East Liverpool, and finally the Zarlengo Fruits, composed entirely of Wooster basketball and football celebrities.

In every game, the Merchants had tough opposition. In fact they were almost eliminated in the opener with the Hoyles, only a desperate last half rally bringing them through on top, 31 to 28.

The Merchants then hooked up with the Phi Gamma Deltas, of Western Reserve, led by Firth Smith, East Liverpool lad, and the Clevelanders bowed, 26 to 21, Paulsey practically winning the game himself as he slipped in eight field goals.

They clashed with the Mount Union Sigma Nus, last year's champions, and the Alliance combine was swept off its feet in a 34 to 18 conquest by the Merchants.

Defeat Brian Clothiers.

In the semi-finals they continued their advance by stopping the R. G. Brian Clothiers, composed of local high schools stars. The tally was 18 to 8.

The Campbellites and the Wooster Zarlengo Fruits battled then in the final and the Merchants' fighting spirit carried them to victory over one of the smoothest working fives that has ever stepped on the high school court.

The Wooster lads, led by Blough, great Ohio conference performer, Beeler, Dodez and Al McGlashen, outclassed the Merchants in tactics and skill, in fact they were the class of the tourrament in this respect, but the Merchants were demons for field goals and they finally finished on the big end of a 35 to 30 clash in a contest that provides a sensational tournament finish.

The contest was anybody's until the last few minutes when the Merchants slipped through a couple of field goals to win.

Wooster-Muskingum Clash.

The Wooster combine got into the final by a victory over the Muskingum Stags, boasting the services of Cliff "Red" Orr, star conference forward Guard Bain and others. This engagement probably was the cleanest and best played tilt of the tournament.

The Brian Clothiers enjoy the distinction of holding the tournament winners to their lowest score during the two-day meet. Paulsey's lads defeated the Brians by a count of 18 to 8.

In addition to the Merchants, the outstanding teams of the tournament were the Wooster Zarlengo Fruits, the Muskingum Stags, the Brian Clothiers, Youngstown Eagles, East Liverpool Peacocks, Mount Union Sigma Nus, the Knickerbockers and Hoyles, of Pittsburgh.

The outstanding stars probably could be enumerated as follows:

Pauley, Minehart and Check of the Merchants; Blough, Beeler nad Dodez of Wooster; Bain, Leeper and Orr, of the Stags; Larkins of the Brian Clothiers; Weith, Peacocks; Bush and Flynn, Knickerbockers; Burkle, Miller and Orr, Mount Union; and Lawry, of the Pittsburgh Hoyles.

WEAK WOMEN SHOULD READ THIS

Men do not understand why women are so subject to occasional weakness and often real illnesses. The housewife often forces herself to go through a day's work when if her husband left as miserable he would be in bed with the doctor at his bedside.

Much of this suffering is entirely unnecessary. A great deal of it is due to catarrh in the system— quite often unknown. The same mucous membrane as exists in the nose and throat lines all other cavities of the body and is subject to the same catarrh, with all its weakening effect.

Women Have Approved

The manufacturers of World's Tonic have many grateful letters from women who through the use of this remarkable medicine have been relieved of this weakness, and have gained strength to attend to their duties cheerfully and well.

World's Tonic has done this because it conquers catarrh, strengthens all bodily functions and restores vigor and strength.

Women who suffer will find it a great friend. It can be obtained for $1.00 a bottle at Carnahan's, also Brannon, Wellsville, and other good druggists. (224)

A star of the Metropolitan Opera, says "Lucky Strikes are my favorite"

Lucky Strikes are mild and mellow—the finest cigarettes you ever smoked. They are made of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process in treating the tobacco. "It's toasted"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

FRANK NEILSON FUND PASSES MARK OF $225

Potters Renew Appeal in Behalf of Mine Victim.

BACK IS BROKEN

Wife and Eight Children Live on Small Farm.

The "Frank Neilson Fund" being raised in East Liverpool for the relief of the Bell school house potter, who is in the City hospital, suffering from a broken back sustained in a mine cave-in about three weeks ago, and his family of eight children, passed the $225 mark today, according to a report of the depository, the First National bank.

Mrs. Neilson and her children, the eldest 15, are living on the small farm about seven miles north of here. Neilson's recovery is slow and it is doubtful, in the event of his recovery, whether he will be able to do any manual labor.

A committee from Local Union No. 10, Turners and Handlers, of which Neilson is a member, launched the relief movement. The First National bank will pay the bills of the family by check.

Beats Confidence Men at Their Game.

CINCINNATI, March 28.—Charles Everitt, Miami, Fla., today was several dollars richer because he beat two confidence men at their own game here last night. Drawn into a coin matching game with a couple of strangers, Everitt told police he won considerable of their "come on" money and as soon as they boosted the stakes and won two tosses in succession, he politely withdrew from the game.

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES A STEWART

Just How Coolidge Sprained Wrist Told In Many Versions

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—More stories than anybody can shake a stick at are in circulation, to account for that bad wrist of President Coolidge.s.

The one about United States Marshal Oscar Gunwaldsen of North Dakota is a r ere guess, like the automatic hypothesis or the Einstein theory of relativity or any of those other scientific surmises.

There's a school of thought which holds that Rebecca bit the president.

Then there's the version that he stumbled over a pile of building matrial, while inspecting repairs on the White House, and sprained his own wrist.

It's just a swelling, which he can't account for. That's another explanation.

You can hear a fresh yarn any time you care to visit the executive offices.

The mystery is why the "presidental spokesman" doesn't give the public the "low down" on the subject

A good many people think the president hurt himself in some funny way, like falling out of bed or off his electric horse, and is afraid of being laughed at.

To Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota goes the credit for being first in print, with his Gunwaldsen story. He took Gunwaldsen to see the president, watched them shake hands and noticed, immediately afterwards, that the chief executive was using his left mitt.

As to Rebecca? Rebecca's a raccoon. The Coolidges were to have eaten her, or originally intended, but the president liked her better as a pet. When he moved up to Dupont Circle he missed her. So ond day, he brought her home with him from the White House, in his own automobile. The next morning he appeared with his wrist bandaged, and Becky was bundled off to the Rock Creek zoo that same forenoon.

It's also a fact that the president was bustled about a bit, to get him out of danger, while giving the White House repairs the once over The movie folks shot a picture of him, being brushed aside by the workmen, with mighty little ceremony. That he hurt his wrist isn't so certain. It was censored out of the film if he did.

It's gossiped that the president doesn't like that particular movie of himself very well.

His objection's said to be based on the ground, not that the White House workmen made him more rather fast, but that the picture shows him with such an extraordinary number of freckles.

President Coolidge really is extremely freckled. He has the kind of sandy complexion that they show up on admirably, but generally they're touched out before his pictures are given any publicity. This one slipped by, somehow.

It also reveals the chief magistrate in very striking full length profile, with quite a noticeable little bay window.

That may be another thing he doesn't approve of.

That the president doesn't get anything like the exercise he should, is common talk among those who are closest to him.

He intended to get at least a couple of daily walks between Dupont circle and the executive offices, while the White House was under repairs. For a few days he did, but now he relies mainly on an auto.

He doesn't fancy the idea of having people think he's out of condition.

If his wrist really did swell without any adequate excuse furnished by Oscar Gunwaldsen, Rebecca or an accident as White House superintendent of construction, it's understandable that he may be sensitive about it.

study of selected problems in a small specialized group.

The Jardine Commodity Basis Plan.

Secretary of Agriculture Jardine is an ardent advocate of organizing farmers' cooperative marketing associations on the commodity basis, and there is interest in what the Institute at Chicago will have to say as to that idea.

"Gluts and wastes can not be overcome," says the secretary, "nor can the spread between what the farmer receives and what the consumer pays be narrowed sufficiently until effective machinery has been set up to feed farm products into the markets of the country in an orderly manner and at a rate consistent with consumption requirements.

"This is a formidable undertaking. There is a natural division of interests between different agricultural tions of the country. Farmers of the East are heavy buyers of western grain. The South is a heavy buyer of northern pork products, grains, and feedstuffs. The North is a buyer of cotton products. Even within the same region the grain growers' finished product may be the livestock feeder's raw material.

"Our marketing policy should have regard for the interests of agriculture as a whole. plan of organization that will work fairly and effectively as between the cotton producers of the South and the mill producers of the New England states, the corn growers and the hog raisers of the corn belt, the citrus growers of California, Florida, and Texas, the cattlemen of the range and beef-cattle states, the potato growers of Maine, Idaho, Wisconsin, and Minnesota, and the producers of all the other crops grown in this country, can not be improvised in a moment. I believe, however, we are on the right track when we emphasize the commodity principle in cooperative organization."

Secretary Jardine not only believes there should be separate cooperatives for each leading farm commodity, but holds that there should be as few as possible competing organizations handling the same product.

His department is now engaged in studying the cooperative marketing of cotton, grain, livestock, fluid milk, and fruits and vegetables, which is to be considered by the Institute, and is likewise conducting analysis of the business of individual associations with the idea of accumulating a sufficient number of cases to set up operating ratios and standards, and of studying by the case system the economics of cooperative marketing.

SCREEN TREAT AT AMERICAN

John Barrymore Has Dual Role in "Don Juan."

John Barrymore is "Don Juan!"

That is the treat promised for local picture-goers at the American theatre today where this spectacular Warner Brothers production is the attraction.

Barrymore plays a dual role. First he appears as Don Juan's father, Don Jose; a courtly, punctilious, subtle Spanish aristocrat, who, discovering his wife is unfaithful, dies with this warning to his boy, Juan: "Destroy women or they will destroy you."

Next Barrymore appears as Don Juan, grown to manhood amid the magnificence of the Rome of the Borgias. The role, as developed in the picture, bears points of resemblance to that memorable character of the Renaissance lover which Barry more played on the stage in Sem Bellini's "The Jest"; a silken, senssuous, seductive lover, who, with a smile on his lips, poisons the minds of the women who yield to his irresitible fascinations. Thus he becomes the destroyer.

Barrymore's magnetic personality has never, according to all reports been more effectively projected than in this picture. Excellent as were his performances in "Beau Brummel" and "The Sea Beast," these achievements are said to fall into insignificance beside that of his "Don Juan" the godlike pagan who made of his life the most glamorous romance.

The romance has been screened against backgrounds of splendor that ravish the eye. Here is the pomp and pageantry of the Eternal City in its most gloriously beautiful period. And through it all is the tingling excitement of love as realized by the greatest lover of all ages.

Just How Coolidge Sprained Wrist Told In Many Versions

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—More stories than anybody can shake a stick at are in circulation, to account for that bad wrist of President Coolidge.s.

The one about United States Marshal Oscar Gunwaldsen of North Dakota is a re ere guess, like the automatic hypothesis or the Einstein theory of relativity or any of those other scientific surmises.

There's a school of thought which holds that Rebecca bit the president.

Then there's the version that he stumbled over a pile of building matrial, while inspecting repairs on the White House, and sprained his own wrist.

It's just a swelling, which he can't account for. That's another explanation.

You can hear a fresh yarn any time you care to visit the executive offices.

The mystery is why the "presidental spokesman" doesn't give the public the "low down" on the subject

A good many people think the president hurt himself in some funny way, like falling out of bed or off his electric horse, and is afraid of being laughed at.

To Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota goes the credit for being first in print, with his Gunwaldsen story. He took Gunwaldsen to see the president, watched them shake hands and noticed, immediately afterwards, that the chief executive was using his left mitt.

As to Rebecca? Rebecca's a raccoon. The Coolidges were to have eaten her, or originally intended, but the president liked her better as a pet. When he moved up to Dupont Circle he missed her. So ond day, he brought her home with him from the White House, in his own automobile. The next morning he appeared with his wrist bandaged, and Becky was bundled off to the Rock Creek zoo that same forenoon.

It's also a fact that the president was bustled about a bit, to get him out of danger, while giving the White House repairs the once over The movie folks shot a picture of him, being brushed aside by the workmen, with mighty little ceremony. That he hurt his wrist isn't so certain. It was censored out of the film if he did.

It's gossiped that the president doesn't like that particular movie of himself very well.

His objection's said to be based on the ground, not that the White House workmen made him more rather fast, but that the picture shows him with such an extraordinary number of freckles.

President Coolidge really is extremely freckled. He has the kind of sandy complexion that they show up on admirably, but generally they're touched out before his pictures are given any publicity. This one slipped by, somehow.

It also reveals the chief magistrate

study of selected problems in a small specialized group.

The Jardine Commodity Basis Plan.

Secretary of Agriculture Jardine is an ardent advocate of organizing farmers' cooperative marketing associations on the commodity basis, and there is interest in what the Institute at Chicago will have to say as to that idea.

"Gluts and wastes can not be overcome," says the secretary, "nor can the spread between what the farmer receives and what the consumer pays be narrowed sufficiently until effective machinery has been set up to feed farm products into the markets of the country in an orderly manner and at a rate consistent with consumption requirements.

"This is a formidable undertaking. There is a natural division of interests between different agricultural tions of the country. Farmers of the East are heavy buyers of western grain. The South is a heavy buyer of northern pork products, grains, and feedstuffs. The North is a buyer of cotton products. Even within the same region the grain growers' finished product may be the livestock feeder's raw material.

"Our marketing policy should have regard for the interests of agriculture as a whole. plan of organization that will work fairly and effectively as between the cotton producers of the South and the mill producers of the New England states, the corn growers and the hog raisers of the corn belt, the citrus growers of California, Florida, and Texas, the cattlemen of the range and beef-cattle states, the potato growers of Maine, Idaho, Wisconsin, and Minnesota, and the producers of all the other crops grown in this country, can not be improvised in a moment. I believe, however, we are on the right track when we emphasize the commodity principle in cooperative organization."

Secretary Jardine not only believes there should be separate cooperatives for each leading farm commodity, but holds that there should be as few as possible competing organizations handling the same product.

His department is now engaged in studying the cooperative marketing of cotton, grain, livestock, fluid milk, and fruits and vegetables, which is to be considered by the Institute, and is likewise conducting analysis of the business of individual associations with the idea of accumulating a sufficient number of cases to set up operating ratios and standards, and of studying by the case system the economics of cooperative marketing.

SCREEN TREAT AT AMERICAN

John Barrymore Has Dual Role in "Don Juan."

John Barrymore is "Don Juan!"

That is the treat promised for local picture-goers at the American theatre today where this spectacular Warner Brothers production is the attraction.

Barrymore plays a dual role. First he appears as Don Juan's father, Don Jose; a courtly, punctilious, subtle Spanish aristocrat, who, discovering his wife is unfaithful, dies with this warning to his boy, Juan: "Destroy women or they will destroy you."

Next Barrymore appears as Don Juan, grown to manhood amid the magnificence of the Rome of the Borgias. The role, as developed in the picture, bears points of resemblance to that memorable character of the Renaissance lover which Barry more played on the stage in Sem Bellini's "The Jest"; a silken, senssuous, seductive lover, who, with a smile on his lips, poisons the minds of the women who yield to his irresitible fascinations. Thus he becomes the destroyer.

Barrymore's magnetic personality has never, according to all reports been more effectively projected than in this picture. Excellent as were his performances in "Beau Brummel" and "The Sea Beast," these achievements are said to fall into insignificance beside that of his "Don Juan" the godlike pagan who made of his life the most glamorous romance.

The romance has been screened against backgrounds of splendor that ravish the eye. Here is the pomp and pageantry of the Eternal City in its most gloriously beautiful period. And through it all is the tingling excitement of love as realized by the greatest lover of all ages.

in very striking full length profile, with quite a noticeable little bay window.

That may be another thing he doesn't approve of.

That the president doesn't get anything like the exercise he should, is common talk among those who are closest to him.

He intended to get at least a couple of daily walks between Dupont circle and the executive offices, while the White House was under repairs. For a few days he did, but now he relies mainly on an auto.

He doesn't fancy the idea of having people think he's out of condition.

If his wrist really did swell without any adequate excuse furnished by Oscar Gunwaldsen, Rebecca or an accident as White House superintendent of construction, it's understandable that he may be sensitive about it.

Just How Coolidge Sprained Wrist Told In Many Versions

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—More stories than anybody can shake a stick at are in circulation, to account for that bad wrist of President Coolidge.s.

The one about United States Marshal Oscar Gunwaldsen of North Dakota is a r ere guess, like the automatic hypothesis or the Einstein theory of relativity or any of those other scientific surmises.

There's a school of thought which holds that Rebecca bit the president.

Then there's the version that he stumbled over a pile of building matrial, while inspecting repairs on the White House, and sprained his own wrist.

It's just a swelling, which he can't account for. That's another explanation.

You can hear a fresh yarn any time you care to visit the executive offices.

The mystery is why the "presidental spokesman" doesn't give the public the "low down" on the subject

A good many people think the president hurt himself in some funny way, like falling out of bed or off his electric horse, and is afraid of being laughed at.

To Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota goes the credit for being first in print, with his Gunwaldsen story. He took Gunwaldsen to see the president, watched them shake hands and noticed, immediately afterwards, that the chief executive was using his left mitt.

As to Rebecca? Rebecca's a raccoon. The Coolidges were to have eaten her, or originally intended, but the president liked her better as a pet. When he moved up to Dupont Circle he missed her. So ond day, he brought her home with him from the White House, in his own automobile. The next morning he appeared with his wrist bandaged, and Becky was bundled off to the Rock Creek zoo that same forenoon.

It's also a fact that the president was bustled about a bit, to get him out of danger, while giving the White House repairs the once over The movie folks shot a picture of him, being brushed aside by the workmen, with mighty little ceremony. That he hurt his wrist isn't so certain. It was censored out of the film if he did.

It's gossiped that the president doesn't like that particular movie of himself very well.

His objection's said to be based on the ground, not that the White House workmen made him more rather fast, but that the picture shows him with such an extraordinary number of freckles.

President Coolidge really is extremely freckled. He has the kind of sandy comlexion that they show up on admirably, but generally they're touched out before his pictures are given any publicity. This one slipped by, somehow.

It also reveals the chief magistrate in very striking full length profile, with quite a noticeable little bay window.

That may be another thing he doesn't approve of.

That the president doesn't get anything like the exercise he should, is common talk among those who are closest to him.

He intended to get at least a couple of daily walks between Dupont circle and the executive offices, while the White House was under repairs. For a few days he did, but now he relies mainly on an auto.

He doesn't fancy the idea of having people think he's out of condition.

If his wrist really did swell without any adequate excuse furnished by Oscar Gunwaldsen, Rebecca or an accident as White House superintendent of construction, it's understandable that he may be sensitive about it.

study of selected problems in a small specialized group.

The Jardine Commodity Basis Plan.

Secretary of Agriculture Jardine is an ardent advocate of organizing farmers' cooperative marketing associations on the commodity basis, and there is interest in what the Institute at Chicago will have to say as to that idea.

"Gluts and wastes can not be overcome," says the secretary, "nor can the spread between what the farmer receives and what the consumer pays be narrowed sufficiently until effective machinery has been set up to feed farm products into the markets of the country in an orderly manner and at a rate consistent with consumption requirements.

"This is a formidable undertaking. There is a natural division of interests between different agricultural tions of the country. Farmers of the East are heavy buyers of western grain. The South is a heavy buyer of northern pork products, grains, and feedstuffs. The North is a buyer of cotton products. Even within the same region the grain growers' finished product may be the livestock feeder's raw material.

"Our marketing policy should have regard for the interests of agriculture as a whole. plan of organization that will work fairly and effectively as between the cotton producers of the South and the mill producers of the New England states, the corn growers and the hog raisers of the corn belt, the citrus growers of California, Florida, and Texas, the cattlemen of the range and beef-cattle states, the potato growers of Maine, Idaho, Wisconsin, and Minnesota, and the producers of all the other crops grown in this country, can not be improvised in a moment. I believe, however, we are on the right track when we emphasize the commodity principle in cooperative organization."

Secretary Jardine not only believes there should be separate cooperatives for each leading farm commodity, but holds that there should be as few as possible competing organizations handling the same product.

His department is now engaged in studying the cooperative marketing of cotton, grain, livestock, fluid milk, and fruits and vegetables, which is to be considered by the Institute, and is likewise conducting analysis of the business of individual associations with the idea of accumulating a sufficient number of cases to set up operating ratios and standards, and of studying by the case system the economics of cooperative marketing.

SCREEN TREAT AT AMERICAN

John Barrymore Has Dual Role in "Don Juan."

John Barrymore is "Don Juan!"

That is the treat promised for local picture-goers at the American theatre today where this spectacular Warner Brothers production is the attraction.

Barrymore plays a dual role. First he appears as Don Juan's father, Don Jose; a courtly, punctilious, subtle Spanish aristocrat, who, discovering his wife is unfaithful, dies with this warning to his boy, Juan: "Destroy women or they will destroy you."

Next Barrymore appears as Don Juan, grown to manhood amid the magnificence of the Rome of the Borgias. The role, as developed in the picture, bears points of resemblance to that memorable character of the Renaissance lover which Barry more played on the stage in Sem Bellini's "The Jest"; a silken, senssuous, seductive lover, who, with a smile on his lips, poisons the minds of the women who yield to his irresitible fascinations. Thus he becomes the destroyer.

Barrymore's magnetic personality has never, according to all reports been more effectively projected than in this picture. Excellent as were his performances in "Beau Brummel" and "The Sea Beast," these achievements are said to fall into insignificance beside that of his "Don Juan" the godlike pagan who made of his life the most glamorous romance.

The romance has been screened against backgrounds of splendor that ravish the eye. Here is the pomp and pageantry of the Eternal City in its most gloriously beautiful period. And through it all is the tingling excitement of love as realized by the greatest lover of all ages.

CROWD HEARS REV. J. B. EDIE

Youngstown Delegation Attends Orchard Grove Church.

Before a large crowd of people that necessitated utilizatfon of the Sunday school room for the overflow, Rev. Joseph B. Edie, of Youngstown, assisting Rev. C. B. Conn, the pastor, at Orchard Grove Methodist Episcopal church, in a two-weeks' revival began the final interim of the local engagement last evening with an appealing discourse on "The Good Shepherd."

Compelled to return to his church in the Mahoning county city for the morning service his place was filled by Rev. Mr. Conn. Returning for the evening meeting he brought with him fraternal greetings from his own congregation which later as he started his sermon was further indicated by the arrival in the auditorium of several of his parishioners, who made the trip here by motor cars. At the conclusion of the preaching they were given a cordial reception by their East Liverpool brethren.

Directed by Charles A. Price a period of song preceded the address of the pastor-evangelist. This was supplemented by an arresting duet by Rev. and Mrs. Conn, "James Leads." They were accompanied by Mrs. Edie, who at the conclusion of her husband's speaking very tellingly sang "The Ninety And Nine." She in the latter number was assisted by Mrs. H. M. Burns at the piano. The organist during the evening was Miss Mary Burnes. The invocation was by Rev. Mr. Conn.

Except on Saturday services will be held each night this week, the series concluding on Sunday. Rev. Mr. Edie will preach at all these meeting. Mrs. Edie, Rev. and Mrs. Conn will sing at intervals in them. Sunday school classes with their teachers will attend together on Thursday evening, while Family night will be celebrated on Friday evening, when the largest present will be given a token by the pastor.

All services are to begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock.

Rheumatism can't be rubbed away

Are you one of those unfortunates who suffer with pains in your muscles and joints, making you miserable, less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep?

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S. S. S? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

"I suffered from rheumatism for a good many years. At times my joints would swell so, I couldn't walk. I tried most everything. Went to Hot Springs and finally I decided to try S. S. S. I took a course. In a short time the rheumatic pains entirely left me. I also had a breaking out on my hands for years that nothing would heal, but now this has disappeared, and I am sure that it was S. S. S. which removed the cause. I am now in perfect health, and want to add that I have tried all kinds of medicines but I think S. S. S. is the best." Carl C. Campbell, 115 West Main street, Johnson City, Tenn.

S. S. S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

FRANK NEILSON FUND PASSES MARK OF $225

Potters Renew Appeal in Behalf of Mine Victim.

BACK IS BROKEN

Wife and Eight Children Live on Small Farm.

The "Frank Neilson Fund" being raised in East Liverpool for the relief of the Bell school house potter, who is in the City hospital, suffering from a broken back sustained in a mine cave-in about three weeks ago, and his family of eight children, passed the $225 mark today, according to a report of the depository, the First National bank.

Mrs. Neilson and her children, the eldest 15, are living on the small farm about seven miles north of here. Neilson's recovery is slow and it is doubtful, in the event of his recovery, whether he will be able to do any manual labor.

A committee from Local Union No. 10, Turners and Handlers, of which Neilson is a member, launched the relief movement. The First National bank will pay the bills of the family by check.

CINCINNATI, March 28.—Charles Everitt, Miami, Fla., today was several dollars richer because he beat two confidence men at their own game here last night. Drawn into a coin matching game with a couple of strangers, Everitt told police he won considerable of their "come on" money and as soon as they boosted the stakes and won two tosses in succession, he politely withdrew from the game.

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES R STEWART

Just How Coolidge Sprained Wrist Told In Many Versions

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—More stories than anybody can shake a stick at are in circulation, to account for that bad wrist of President Coolidge.s.

The one about United States Marshal Oscar Gunwaldsen of North Dakota is a rr ere guess, like the automatic hypothesis or the Einstein theory of relativity or any of those other scientific surmises.

There's a school of thought which holds that Rebecca bit the president.

Then there's the version that he stumbled over a pile of building matrial, while inspecting repairs on the White House, and sprained his own wrist.

It's just a swelling, which he can't account for. That's another explanation.

You can hear a fresh yarn any time you care to visit the executive offices.

The mystery is why the "presidental spokesman" doesn't give the public the "low down" on the subject

A good many people think the president hurt himself in some funny way, like falling out of bed or off his electric horse, and is afraid of being laughed at.

To Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota goes the credit for being first in print, with his Gunwaldsen story. He took Gunwaldsen to see the president, watched them shake hands and noticed, immediately afterwards, that the chief executive was using his left mitt.

As to Rebecca? Rebecca's a raccoon. The Coolidges were to have eaten her, or originally intended, but the president liked her better as a pet. When he moved up to Dupont Circle he missed her. So ond day, he brought her home with him from the White House, in his own automobile. The next morning he appeared with his wrist bandaged, and Becky was bundled off to the Rock Creek zoo that same forenoon.

It's also a fact that the president was bustled about a bit, to get him out of danger, while giving the White House repairs the once over The movie folks shot a picture of him, being brushed aside by the workmen, with mighty little ceremony. That he hurt his wrist isn't so certain. It was censored out of the film if he did.

It's gossiped that the president doesn't like that particular movie of himself very well.

His objection's said to be based on the ground, not that the White House workmen made him more rather fast, but that the picture shows him with such an extraordinary number of freckles.

President Coolidge really is extremely freckled. He has the kind of sandy complexion that they show up on admirably, but generally they're touched our before his pictures are given any publicity. This one slipped by, somehow.

It also reveals the chief magistrate in very striking full length profile, with quite a noticeable little bay window.

That may be another thing he doesn't approve of.

That the president doesn't get anything like the exercise he should, is common talk among those who are closest to him.

He intended to get at least a couple of daily walks between Dupont circle and the executive offices, while the White House was under repairs. For a few days he did, but now he relies mainly on an auto.

He doesn't fancy the idea of having people think he's out of condition.

If his wrist really did swell without any adequate excuse furnished by Oscar Gunwaldsen, Rebecca or an accident as White House superintendent of construction, it's understandable that he may be sensitive about it.

study of selected problems in a small specialized group.

The Jardine Commodity Basis Plan.

Secretary of Agriculture Jardine is an ardent advocate of organizing farmers' cooperative marketing associations on the commodity basis, and there is interest in what the Institute at Chicago will have to say as to that idea.

"Gluts and wastes can not be overcome," says the secretary, "nor can the spread between what the farmer receives and what the consumer pays be narrowed sufficiently until effective machinery has been set up to feed farm products into the markets of the country in an orderly manner and at a rate consistent with consumption requirements.

"This is a formidable undertaking. There is a natural division of interests between different agricultural tions of the country. Farmers of the East are heavy buyers of western grain. The South is a heavy buyer of northern pork products, grains, and feedstuffs. The North is a buyer of cotton products. Even within the same region the grain growers' finished product may be the livestock feeder's raw material.

"Our marketing policy should have regard for the interests of agriculture as a whole. plan of organization that will work fairly and effectively as between the cotton producers of the South and the mill producers of the New England states, the corn growers and the hog raisers of the corn belt, the citrus growers of California, Florida, and Texas, the cattlemen of the range and beef-cattle states, the potato growers of Maine, Idaho, Wisconsin, and Minnesota, and the producers of all the other crops grown in this country, can not be improvised in a moment. I believe, however, we are on the right track when we emphasize the commodity principle in cooperative organization."

Secretary Jardine not only believes there should be separate cooperatives for each leading farm commodity, but holds that there should be as few as possible competing organizations handling the same product.

His department is now engaged in studying the cooperative marketing of cotton, grain, livestock, fluid milk, and fruits and vegetables, which is to be considered by the Institute, and is likewise conducting analysis of the business of individual associations with the idea of accumulating a sufficient number of cases to set up operating ratios and standards, and of studying by the case system the economics of cooperative marketing.

SCREEN TREAT AT AMERICAN

John Barrymore Has Dual Role in "Don Juan."

John Barrymore is "Don Juan!"

That is the treat promised for local picture-goers at the American theatre today where this spectacular Warner Brothers production is the attraction.

Barrymore plays a dual role. First he appears as Don Juan's father, Don Jose; a courtly, punctilious, subtle Spanish aristocrat, who, discovering his wife is unfaithful, dies with this warning to his boy, Juan: "Destroy women or they will destroy you."

Next Barrymore appears as Don Juan, grown to manhood amid the magnificence of the Rome of the Borgias. The role, as developed in the picture, bears points of resemblance to that memorable character of the Renaissance lover which Barry more played on the stage in Sem Bellini's "The Jest"; a silken, senssuous, seductive lover, who, with a smile on his lips, poisons the minds of the women who yield to his irresistible fascinations. Thus he becomes the destroyer.

Barrymore's magnetic personality has never, according to all reports been more effectively projected than in this picture. Excellent as were his performances in "Beau Brummel" and "The Sea Beast," these achievements are said to fall into insignificance beside that of his "Don Juan" the godlike pagan who made of his life the most glamorous romance.

The romance has been screened against backgrounds of splendor that ravish the eye. Here is the pomp and pageantry of the Eternal City in its most gloriously beautiful period. And through it all is the tingling excitement of love as realized by the greatest lover of all ages.

Just How Coolidge Sprained Wrist Told In Many Versions

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—More stories than anybody can shake a stick at are in circulation, to account for that bad wrist of President Coolidge.s.

The one about United States Marshal Oscar Gunwaldsen of North Dakota is a r ere guess, like the automatic hypothesis or the Einstein theory of relativity or any of those other scientific surmises.

There's a school of thought which holds that Rebecca bit the president.

Then there's the version that he stumbled over a pile of building matrial, while inspecting repairs on the White House, and sprained his own wrist.

It's just a swelling, which he can't account for. That's another explanation.

You can hear a fresh yarn any time you care to visit the executive offices.

The mystery is why the "presidental spokesman" doesn't give the public the "low down" on the subject.

A good many people think the president hurt himself in some funny way, like falling out of bed or off his electric horse, and is afraid of being laughed at.

To Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota goes the credit for being first in print, with his Gunwaldsen story. He took Gunwaldsen to see the president, watched them shake hands and noticed, immediately afterwards, that the chief executive was using his left mitt.

As to Rebecca? Rebecca's a raccoon. The Coolidges were to have eaten her, or originally intended, but the president liked her better as a pet. When he moved up to Dupont Circle he missed her. So ond day, he brought her home with him from the White House, in his own automobile. The next morning he appeared with his wrist bandaged, and Becky was bundled off to the Rock Creek zoo that same forenoon.

It's also a fact that the president was bustled about a bit, to get him out of danger, while giving the White House repairs the once over. The movie folks shot a picture of him, being brushed aside by the workmen, with mighty little ceremony. That he hurt his wrist isn't so certain. It was censored out of the film if he did.

It's gossiped that the president doesn't like that particular movie of himself very well.

His objection's said to be based on the ground, not that the White House workmen made him more rather fast, but that the picture shows him with such an extraordinary number of freckles.

President Coolidge really is extremely freckled. He has the kind of sandy complexion that they show up on admirably, but generally they're touched out before his pictures are given any publicity. This one slipped by, somehow.

It also reveals the chief magistrate

study of selected problems in a small specialized group.

The Jardine Commodity Basis Plan.

Secretary of Agriculture Jardine is an ardent advocate of organizing farmers' cooperative marketing associations on the commodity basis, and there is interest in what the Institute at Chicago will have to say as to that idea.

"Gluts and wastes can not be overcome," says the secretary, "nor can the spread between what the farmer receives and what the consumer pays be narrowed sufficiently until effective machinery has been set up to feed farm products into the markets of the country in an orderly manner and at a rate consistent with consumption requirements.

"This is a formidable undertaking. There is a natural division of interests between different agricultural tions of the country. Farmers of the East are heavy buyers of western grain. The South is a heavy buyer of northern pork products, grains, and feedstuffs. The North is a buyer of cotton products. Even within the same region the grain growers' finished product may be the livestock feeder's raw material.

"Our marketing policy should have regard for the interests of agriculture as a whole. plan of organization that will work fairly and effectively as between the cotton producers of the South and the mill producers of the New England states, the corn growers and the hog raisers of the corn belt, the citrus growers of California, Florida, and Texas, the cattlemen of the range and beef-cattle states, the potato growers of Maine, Idaho, Wisconsin, and Minnesota, and the producers of all the other crops grown in this country, can not be improvised in a moment. I believe, however, we are on the right track when we emphasize the commodity principle in cooperative organization."

Secretary Jardine not only believes there should be separate cooperatives for each leading farm commodity, but holds that there should be as few as possible competing organizations handling the same product.

His department is now engaged in studying the cooperative marketing of cotton, grain, livestock, fluid milk, and fruits and vegetables, which is to be considered by the Institute, and is likewise conducting analysis of the business of individual associations with the idea of accumulating a sufficient number of cases to set up operating ratios and standards, and of studying by the case system the economics of cooperative marketing.

SCREEN TREAT AT AMERICAN

John Barrymore Has Dual Role in "Don Juan."

John Barrymore is "Don Juan!"

That is the treat promised for local picture-goers at the American theatre today where this spectacular Warner Brothers production is the attraction.

Barrymore plays a dual role. First he appears as Don Juan's father, Don Jose; a courtly, punctilious, subtle Spanish aristocrat, who, discovering his wife is unfaithful, dies with this warning to his boy, Juan: "Destroy women or they will destroy you."

Next Barrymore appears as Don Juan, grown to manhood amid the magnificence of the Rome of the Borgias. The role, as developed in the picture, bears points of resemblance to that memorable character of the Renaissance lover which Barry more played on the stage in Sem Bellini's "The Jest"; a silken, senssuous, seductive lover, who, with a smile on his lips, poisons the minds of the women who yield to his irresistible fascinations. Thus he becomes the destroyer.

Barrymore's magnetic personality has never, according to all reports been more effectively projected than in this picture. Excellent as were his performances in "Beau Brummel" and "The Sea Beast," these achievements are said to fall into insignificance beside that of his "Don Juan" the godlike pagan who made of his life the most glamorous romance.

The romance has been screened against backgrounds of splendor that ravish the eye. Here is the pomp and pageantry of the Eternal City in its most gloriously beautiful period. And through it all is the tingling excitement of love as realized by the greatest lover of all ages.

in very striking full length profile, with quite a noticeable little bay window.

That may be another thing he doesn't approve of.

That the president doesn't get anything like the exercise he should, is common talk among those who are closest to him.

He intended to get at least a couple of daily walks between Dupont circle and the executive offices, while the White House was under repairs. For a few days he did, but now he relies mainly on an auto.

He doesn't fancy the idea of having people think he's out of condition.

If his wrist really did swell without any adequate excuse furnished by Oscar Gunwaldsen, Rebecca or an accident as White House superintendent of construction, it's understandable that he may be sensitive about it.

CROWD HEARS REV. J. B. EDIE

Youngstown Delegation Attends Orchard Grove Church.

Before a large crowd of people that necessitated utilizatfon of the Sunday school room for the overflow, Rev. Joseph B. Edie, of Youngstown, assisting Rev. C. B. Conn, the pastor, at Orchard Grove Methodist Episcopal church, in a two-weeks' revival began the final interim of the local engagement last evening with an appealing discourse on "The Good Shepherd."

Compelled to return to his church in the Mahoning county city for the morning service his place was filled by Rev. Mr. Conn. Returning for the evening meeting he brought with him fraternal greetings from his own congregation which later as he started his sermon was further indicated by the arrival in the auditorium of several of his parishioners, who made the trip here by motor cars. At the conclusion of the preaching they were given a cordial reception by their East Liverpool brethren.

Directed by Charles A. Price a period of song preceded the address of the pastor-evangelist. This was supplemented by an arresting duet by Rev. and Mrs. Conn, "James Leads." They were accompanied by Mrs. Edie, who at the conclusion of her husband's speaking very tellingly sang "The Ninety And Nine." She in the latter number was assisted by Mrs. H. M. Burns at the piano. The organist during the evening was Miss Mary Burnes. The invocation was by Rev. Mr. Conn.

Except on Saturday services will be held each night this week, the series concluding on Sunday. Rev. Mr. Edie will preach at all these meeting. Mrs. Edie, Rev. and Mrs. Conn will sing at intervals in them. Sunday school classes with their teachers will attend together on Thursday evening, while Family night will be celebrated on Friday evening, when the largest present will be given a token by the pastor.

All services are to begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock.

Rheumatism can't be rubbed away

Are you one of those unfortunates who suffer with pains in your muscles and joints, making you miserable, less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep?

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S. S. S? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

"I suffered from rheumatism for a good many years. At times my joints would swell so, I couldn't walk. I tried most everything. Went to Hot Springs and finally I decided to try S. S. S. I took a course. In a short time the rheumatic pains entirely left me. I also had a breaking out on my hands for years that nothing would heal, but now this has disappeared, and I am sure that it was S. S. S. which removed the cause. I am now in perfect health, and want to add that I have tried all kinds of medicines but I think S. S. S. is the best." Carl C. Campbell, 115 West Main street, Johnson City, Tenn.

S. S. S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

A Cut in Taxes.
Saturn Causes Trouble.
Lady Housemaids.
Starts New School.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE expects another good sized cut in taxes. Good management by Secretary Mellon and good times will find Uncle Sam with an enormous surplus, and five hundred million dollars, at least, will be cut from taxes this coming year. That will be an agreeable national present for the 1928 convention year.

There is the "if." It reads: "If business and conditions continue to be good. Conditions will continue to be good, if nobody interferes with them."

MR. OPPERMANN, a Viennese astrologist, says the planet Saturn is causing some of our troubles just now. In consequence there will be a business crisis in Spain next month, and "a great economic crisis in America beginning next December. Even worse things would happen were it not for the assistance of Jupiter."

In these days only a few of the weak-minded ones will pay any attention to this.

Once such an announcement would have had importance.

When Kepler needed the emperor's help in his serious scientific work he was compelled to pretend that he believed in astrology, keeping the emperor interested by making the stars tell about his future.

DEAN INGE of St. Paul's in London, says, "there ought to be 'lady housemaids.'" Also, "the social status of domestic service should be raised, so that it could be recognized as an honorable profession for the daughters of professional men." He thinks that would solve one great social problem.

It would, temporarily.

The real solution is to develop electrical apparatus to take the place of "housemaids." Any woman good enough to be a good housemaid ought to be married and taking care of a family.

You would have been told in India, a while ago, that you must always have servants, otherwise who would work the "punkah," a fan to keep the air moving, while you slept? Now a small noiseless electric fan will do that and cost less than the cheapest Hindu servant.

If you have it in you to make money, you make money. Young Roger Kahn, son of an able financial father took to music. People said "too bad, he might have made himself a rich man."

But wait. Now he is organizing to distribute innumerable jazz bands to bring in an income of $3,000,000 a year,

Is Europe Moving Into Asia?

Europe is about 100,000 square miles smaller than it was ten years ago. One great city of more than 100,000 people, Perm, has been moved out of Europe, into Asia.

The boundary between these continents has been radically altered by the Soviet government, great slices of land now being considered in Asia although west of the Ural Mountains, which formed the old boundary line. An area almost as large as Italy or Poland has been shifted to another continent.

These changes are shown for the first time on any map in the new MAP OF EUROPE secured by our Washington Information Bureau. Copies of this up-to-date map, in full colors, with complete statistical data about Europe, may be had by any reader for a postage and handling charge of ten cents.

CHESTER FIRM PLANS $600,000 TUNNEL KILN SHOP PROGRAM

Capacity Will be Increased to 27 Kilns.

CONTRACTS LET

Work Will be Started Immediately, Company Announces.

Contracts for a new plant, to be used in the production of ivory ware, and tunnel kiln additions and other improvements to the present factory, costing approximately $600,000, were awarded today by the Taylor, Smith & Taylor Pottery company, of Chester.

Will Erect Three Kilns.

The Harrop Ceramic Service company, Columbus, recently given tunnel kiln contracts for the new No. 7 plant of the Homer Laughlin China company, Newell, and for the Newell plant of the Edwin M. Knowles China company, will erect two of the Chester company's three proposed tunnel kilns.

The bisque kiln will be 332 feet in length, while the glost kiln will be 308 feet in length. Type of the continuous decorating kiln has not been selected.

Work on the improvements, which will increase the capacity from 17 to 27 kilns, both ivory and white ware lines, will be started immediately. The job will be completed on or about October 1.

One-Story Addition.

The new plant, which will be one story with a slip house in the basement, will occupy a site 140 to 110 feet, south of the present building, adjoining the railroad switch. Five of the old style bisque and six glost kilns are to be razed to make room for the tunnel kilns.

Two two-story and one one-story additions will be erected on the north side of the present factory. A new packing department will also be provided.

The Harrop company will erect the necessary factory additions where the new kilns are to be located, while the other addition on the south side of the plant will be constructed under a separate contract by the plant owners.

New Machinery Ordered.

Capacity of the new tunnel kilns to be erected will be approximately 21 upright kilns. Two of the old type

Edgar Vess and Robert Edgell Face Court.

ANOTHER SOUGHT

Two Suspects are Bound Over to Grand Jury.

Edgar Vess, 18, Burford street, and Robert Edgell, 24, Moore street, were held for the Columbiana county grand jury under $1,200 bond each by Municipal Judge Hanley today upon charge of larceny of an automobile, belonging to W. J. Berry, from its parking place in Broadway on the night of March 19.

Vess was arrested Saturday in Lisbon street by Chief of Police McDermott. Edgell was taken into custody at his home by Patrolman Leslie Curran.

Vess, accord' to police was arrested in Ches a few days ago in connection with the theft of tires from the Cord Tire Corporation's plant.

Edgell, who pleaded guilty, testified against Vess, who was represented by Attorney Ben L. Bennett, at the preliminary hearing. Edgell asserted that Vess took Berry's Ford roadster, drove it to the Carnegie library where he entered it. The car was then driven to a point back of Congo where it was stripped, police charge. A third party, whom Edgell named, paid them $5 each for the theft, Edgell said.

A warrant for the arrest of the third party has been issued.

A property bond was posted for Vess but Edgell was committed to jail in default of bond.

ANTI-FOREIGN HATRED RULES IN SHANGHAI

Additional American Refugees Arrive in International City.

MANY ARE ILL

Rain Helps Keep Crowds Off Streets in Foreign Settlement.

NEW YORK, March 28.—Smiling farewell to a huge crowd, 107 United States marines left the Brooklyn navy yard today bound for the war zone in China. They entrained for Philadelphia from where they will go to the coast. The "leathernecks" were fully equipped for action.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Hoping for the best and fearing the worst, official Washington continued preparations today to meet any exigencies in China.

Overnight reports from Admiral C. S. Williams, commanding the Asiatic fleet from Shanghai, emphasized the tensity of the situation throughout the Yangtze river district where agitators are whipping up anti-foreign sentiment Japanese Troops Land.

LONDON, March 28.—The Shanghai defense commissioner has succeeded in establishing order in the Chinese city and no fears are held for an immediate attack from the Nationalists, according to dispatches to the foreign office today.

No unified military action has been agreed upon as yet, the dispatches said.

Seven additional Japanese destroyers are reported to have arrived at Shanghai and are landing troops.

SHANGHAI, March 28.—Anti-foreign agitators redoubled their activities today in the Chinese districts of Shanghai.

All was quiet in the foreign settlements.

Rain fell heavily throughout the day which helped keep crowds off the streets.

The U. S. S. Preble arrived here today, being the sixth vessel to arrive here with refugees from Nanking.

Sleep on Ship Decks.

Owing to lack of accommodations, men, women and children slept upon the decks, huddled close together for warmth.

Many of the refugees and some of the sailors on the United States destroyer Noa were ill of ptomaine poisoning from eating canned food on board the Noa where they took refuge when they fled from Nanking. None of the sailors was in serious condition, but 12 of the refugees were so ill that they had to be removed to a hospital for treatment.

Two of the victims were believed to be dying.

A majority of the refugees wore Chinese garments, their own being torn off by Nationalist soldiers during their flight.

After landing the refugees were carried in motor cars to the Astor house where hot food, baths and clean beds were awaiting them. It was their first taste of real, clean civilization since they fled the orgy of terrorism at Nanking.

ARCHITECTURAL EXHIBIT OPENS IN STORE HERE

Chamber of Commerce Presents Sixth of Series.

Selection From Grand Central Palace Display.

An architectural exhibit, arranged through the courtesy of the Philadelphia chapter, American Institute of Architects and circulated by the American Federation of Arts, opened today in the show windows of the Washington street annex of the D. M. Ogilvie store. The exhibition, secured through the Chamber of Commerce, is the sixth of a series to be presented here.

The collection includes approximately 117 drawings of some of the nation's leading architects.

Nucleus of the exhibit is a selection by a special committee from the Philadelphia chapter's exhibits at the Grand Central Palace, New York, held in connection with the 125th convention of the American Institute of Architects. The displays, which consist chiefly of photographic enlargements uniformly mounted with silver edgings, have been supplemented by 30 original water color perspectives, several original line nad colored elevations and plans and many reproductions of pen and ink with pencil drawings.

Among notable contributions of individuals and firms are 15 original samples of the renderings of Wilson Eyre in his own inimitable style. Several examples of the country house architecture of Mellor, Meigs and Howe, which was awarded the Architectural League of New York's gold medal last spring, are included. Day and Klauder are represented by 10 exhibits, including colleges, educational institutions, power houses and a special rendering of the 50-story "Cathedral of Learning" for Pittsburgh university.

Zantzinger, Borie and Medary and Paul P. Cret have several examples of collegiate architecture and public buildings and the latter shows not only the Quentin Roosevelt Memorial at Chamery, France, and a crillon at Washington, but designs for the Delaware river bridge.

U. S. IS SILENT ON REPORTS OF MEXICAN PLOT

Kellogg Declines to Confirm or Deny Forged Documents.

NOTE DISPATCHED

Speedy Investigation Made by Both Governments.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Silence was maintained by the state department today concerning reports that a cleverly executed plot to embroil the United States and Mexico through the use of forged international documents had been discovered and frustrated. Secretary of State Kellogg declined to either confirm or deny that the existence of these forged documents had been established.

"I have nothing whatever to say about it," he said.

The latest American note to Mexico, the so-called "mystery note" is reported to have dealt with this alleged plot. According to rumors which have filtered through the capital, while the relations between Mexico City and Washington were most strained an apparently authentic American note found its way through regular channels into the hands of the Mexican foreign office. It was of a nature calculated to inflame already intense Mexican feeling. Simultaneously there appeared in Washington a Mexican note of similar import.

Speedy investigation was undertaken by both governments, according to reports, and the misunderstandings were cleared up.

According to some officials, the rumore of the plat have greatly exagger ated the matter. The real knowledge of the ramifications of the plot, however, is confined to Secretary Kellogg and a few associates. They decline to throw any light on it, or to reveal the identity of the perpetrators, if known

Willard, Ohio, Boy Hangs Himself as He Plays at Home

WILLARD, O., March 28.—Francis A. Richards, 14, is dead here today following a hanging which police believe was accidental. The boy is said to have fastened a rope to a beam at his home, tying a noose about his neck with the evident intention of feeling the pressure on his neck by swinging from side to side. His body was found last night with the head about a foot from the floor.

THIRD WOUNDED AFTER DETROIT GAMBLER AIDE IS KIDNAPED

Suspect in Kent, O., Murder Blamed for Attack.

SLAYERS ESCAPE

Bodies of Victims Are Riddled With Bullets.

DETROIT, March 28.—Two men were killed and a third was seriously wounded today in Detroit's first machine gun shooting.

Joe Bloom and George Cohen were mowed down with an unaccountable number of bullets. Frank Wright, alias Burke, 23, of Chicago, was seriously injured.

The shooting resulted from the kidnaping of "Fish" Bloomfield, employee of "Doc" Brady, operator of a gambling establishment.

Gunmen Imported.

Wright registered at the Book-Cadillac October 20, 1926. Piles of Chicago newspapers telling of beer and gambling feuds in which machine guns have been used, were found in Wright's room.

Police expressed the belief that gunmen from Chicago and New York have been imported to carry on a gambling war here.

In the apartment occupied by the operators of the machine gun, police found a circular bearing the picture of Salvatore Mirogliotta, alias Sam Miller, said to be wanted for the slaying of Patrolman Clayton Apple of the Kent police department, Kent, O., March 23, 1925. The landlady identified the picture as that of Miller.

Wright received a call at hotel Book-Cadillas early today that Bloomfield had been kidnaped and was being held for ransom. He was asked to come to apartment 308, 106 East Canfield, to discuss negotiations for Bloomfield's release.

Arming themselves Wright, Cohen and Bloom went to the apartment. A few minutes later they started to leave the building, the negotiations for ransom apparently having failed.

BELLEFONTAINE JUDGE WILL PRESIDE AT MAY TRIAL OF TWO SUSPECTS IN ALLEGED MURDER OF PASQUALE ANANIA

Judge H. M. Whitcraft, of Bellefontaine, probably will preside at the trial of Salvatore Rini, 26, of East Liverpool, and Mrs. Marie Chorgas, 28, Minneapolis, charged with the murder of Pasquale (Patsy) Anania, 25, if they are indicted at the April 11 session of the grand jury, it was announced today.

The trial probably will be assigned during early May.

Hearing is expected to be held Thursday or Friday before Probate Judge Lodge Riddle, Lisbon, on the motion of defense attorneys for bond for Rini and his sister-in-law, who are prisoners in the county jail.

Prosecutor Robert M. Brookes will seek first degree indictments against the suspects in the death of Anania, whose body, with a stab wound in the heart, was found in a Walnut street apartment last Tuesday night.

Eleven Arrests for Murder.

Arrest of Rini and Mrs. Chorgas made a total of eleven persons who have faced homicide charges in Columbiana county during the last seven years.

During the four-year incumbency of Prosecutor J. C. Hanley, there were three murder trials, two of which resulted in convictions and another in acquittal.

Although he served out three years, Prosecutor Brookes, who was assistant to Hanley, has had five murder trials and now faces his sixth should indictments be returned against Rini and Mrs. Chorgas.

Brookes obtained conviction in four of the five cases which he prosecuted although one case—that of Nick Scacuto of Wellsville, under life sentence in the death of Patrolman James Kenney, Wellsville—has been carried to the court of appeals on error.

Hanley's first murder trial was that of James Memone, Wellsville, charged with the killing of Frank Nance, Wellsville grocer. Memone was acquitted.

Edward Johnson, colored, was the next man against whom a murder indictment was returned. He was charged with slaying Special Patrolman Hyatt in Wellsville. Johnson was found guilty and sentenced to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary where he died.

Prosecutor Brookes' First Case.

William Wolfe, charged with killing Mrs. Deborah Dearth, Mulberry street restaurant keeper in October 1924, was found guilty of murder in the second degree and sentenced to the state penitentiary. He also died in prison after he had served less than a year. This was Hanley' third and last murder trial.

Prosecutor Brookes' first homicide case was that of James Gaglaridi, Wellsville, charged with killing Rocco Benvento, also of Wellsville. Gaglaridi was convicted.

Then followed the acquittal of Fred Longo and Nick Shatti, Canton, in connection with the death of Vencenzo Desmona, of Wellsville.

The long fought George Anderson case was the next homicide trial in which Brookes was the prosecutor. Anderson, charged with the death of

HATTIE

By Samuel Merwin

SYNOPSIS

HATTIE JOHNSON, Just 17, is a somewhat colorless little girl, who works in the mailing room of a printing and bookbinding establishment. She and the office boy have been seen holding hands—otherwise there has been no romance in her life. One day a girl who had formerly worked in the mailing room comes to call. Her name is

LUCILLE OVERMAN, and she is now working in pictures. She takes Hattie to the studio where she, Lucille, is to have a screen test. Hattie there is seen by the famous director,

De BRISSAC, who makes a screen test of her. Hattie lives with her married sister,

ALICE and her baby daughter, Emily, and

GRANDMA, a querulous semi-invalid. Hattie is scolded for being late home and resolves it shall not happen again, but that night she again goes to the studio and is again late. Alice and Grandma are wondering and worrying.

Hattie tells Alice that she has had the test, that it is a success and that she is to have a job in the movies.

CHAPTER SEVEN.

"Will you, or will you not go to your room?" demanded Gran'ma.

"I don't mean to be impertinent, Gran'ma, but I must ask you to be reasonable."

"You are very impertinent. You are turning against me."

"No I'm not—but—"

"How dare you—"

"Hattie" — Alice was surprisingly abrupt, was indeed, rather sharply businesslike—"you're going down there at ten o'clock?"

"Mm-hmm!"

"I'm going with you. You can't make a contract anyway. You're a minor. They'll dock me at the office, but—" She turned in a burst of nervous emotion on the gaunt, crippled old woman in the doorway. "Oh, Gran'ma won't you at least try to rise out of these old prejudices and see what this may mean?"

"Prejudices!" The thin face was drawn sternly down; the eyes were blazing.

"Oh, I dont' mean that either, but can't you see that just by a wonderful chance we may be swept up out of all this squalor—plenty of money, everything easy—we could take such beautiful care of you—"

"Are you trying to tell me that for a little dirty money you'd sell the virtue of your own sister? Beverly!"

"But Gran'ma, you're utterly unreasonable!"

"Oh, I am?"

Gran'ma turned, with what Alice felt, even at the moment, to be pathetic dignity, and stumped angrily back to her room. Shut the door with a bang.

Hattie, though her eyes were still mistily radiant, spoke in an oddly practical little voice.

"It's going to be an awful night, Alice. She'll get back at us."

"I know." But Alice couldn't quite permit the girl to persue that line of talk. Though she did know, Gran'ma would be ill; would be calling on first one and then the other; there would be hot water bags to fill; she herself would have to run over to the all-night drugstore for spirits of ammonia. And merely trying again to be kind would get them nowhere. Gran'ma would be unforgiving. To her crabbed nature that would seem just. She would be implacable. She certainly wouldn't let them sleep. Doubtless she'd wake Emily up.

Alice sighed. Then she looked down at her dreamily happy little sister. Queer business! A topsy-turvy world! . . .. Misgivings came. "Beverly"—a queerly make-believe far-off place, out of which whispery stories drifted like smoke. The girls in the store talked pruriently of it. And what sad influences mightn't a lot of happy-go-lucky picture people have on a colorless little girl like Hattie. Not that they need be worse than other people. They couldn't be worse than New Yorkers. For that matter, almost every house back in Elizabeth, up and down the simple street, had had its whispery story of intrigue, even of blood. But those houses weren't dangerously attractive. They'd never lure a girl into wrong. About Beverly hovered a glamour. It was even possible that the money might come too easily Money did change people; lot of it, pouring in all at once. And in the pictures every one seemed to deal in tens and hundreds of thousands. Even in millions. Millions . .. . !

They sat, Alice and Hattie, in the spacious office of the pleasant Mr. Kremmer.

"How—how much will you pay?" It was Alice who phrased the question. They had come to it.

"Now, I'll tell you." Thus the smilingly shrewd Mr. Kremmer. Hattie's mouth curled again in that quite complacent smile; Alice hung on his words in a nervous tension that was nearly unbearable. "Miss Johnson is a very fortunate young lady. Mr. de Brissac believes he can do great things with her—that she really has a future. And Mr. de Brissac doesn't often go wrong in his judgment. You understand, of course, that it is an unusual thing to hire an untried girl on a salary basis and pay her expenses to the Coast and back. But that is Mr. de Brissac's wish. It is a very unusual opportunity. Mr. de Brissac plans to make this his greatest picture. We stand ready to spend up to a half million dollars—"

The sisters looked at each other.

"—if necessary to see it through. And we are willing to guarantee employment for not less than four months."

"How much will you—"

"I'm coming to that. In view of all the circumstances, we feel that seventy-five dollars a week would be—"

The sisters looked again. Hattie's eyes clouded, and her under lip quivered. Mr. Kremmer studied her narrowly. Alice felt a flash of anger coming into her eyes, and fought it back.

"Oh!" breathed Hattie, unhappily.

You see, Alice explained, nervously brisk. "I can't let my sister go alone . . ."

"No, indeed. We are quite willing to—"

". . . and I should have to give up my own job in the store. My sister'd have to give up her job, too. Then there's my little girl and an invalid grandmother. They're both helpless. We couldn't leave them. I'm really afraid we can't—"

Hattie put out a fluttering hand to stop this. She couldn't consider not going.

Mr. Kremmer hesitated; drew pictures on an envelope. Alice rushed eagerly on. But he said he'd have to talk it over with both Mr. de Brissac and Mr. Veach. He finally told them to come back at four and bowed them out.

The sisters ate unhappily at Child's. Then they went to see a picture. And toward four their courage nearly failed. But Alice stuck grimly to it; dragged the girl into the elevator that led up to the headquarters of nearly all Filmdom, and after a brief time of waiting was arguing again.

Mr. Kremmer's next proposition, however, proved nearly as surprising as the first. He insisted on tying Hattie up for three years, starting at a hundred dollars a week, and increasing by a hundred during each of the other years.

"But she might make a hit," cried Alice.

"Then she must keep her contract. She takes that chance. On the other hand, we take the chance of a failure. We will, besides, give you a drawing room for four people to the Coast—and return at the end of the three years! We will pay for any other transportation that may be necessary. And if you need a little money to clear up here and get away—say two or three hundred dollars—we'll give you that . .. . This is the best offer we can make. I'm afraid I must ask you to take it or leave it. And I don't mind adding that you are very fortunate in having Mr. de Brissac on your side.

There was to be no overnight fortune. But as they walked over to the subway, their spirits rose somewhat. At least it was something—a change and a chance.

"Peaches" Browning Signs $100,000 Stage Contract

NEW YORK, March 28.—"Peaches" Heenan Browning, whose wealthy middle-aged husband, Edward W. Browning, recently obtained a separation, has become a vaudeville headliner, having signed a contract for $100,000.

She signed up with Arnold Stoltz, producer, to appear in vaudeville and picture theatres. Her first public appearance — outside of a courtroom — will take place April 18 in a little town in her native Ohio.

And she's going to do a song and dance.

Her tour will take her as far west as Chicago and in each theatre she will be on the stage 20 minutes.

"Ma" Heenan will be with her. And she's going to walk right out on the stage with her daughter, and prove to people that even though Peaches may be "on the stage," she is quite properly chaperoned.

Special scenery is being made for "Peaches" act.

A dancing team will perform and there will be two pianists.

A SMALL dry goods, shoe and clothing store was opened in a small town in the West, serving a few hundred homes.

1927

THE one small store has grown into a Nation-wide Institution of 773 Department Stores, serving millions of homes.

A quarter of a century of achievement . . . a period of human helpfulness

BEGINNING April 1st, we will celebrate with pride and thankfulness, our Twenty-fifth or Silver Anniversary —with pride for the privilege of serving the American public—with thankfulness for the generous response that has come to our effort.

ORIGINAL STORE AT KEMMERER, WYO.

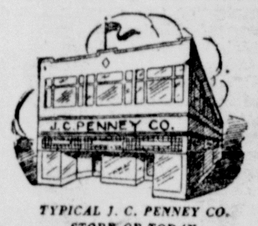
SINCE the Spring day in April, 1902, when Mr. Penney inaugurated, in a small and inconspicuous manner, a Retail Shopping Service which was destined to become one of Nation-wide Helpfulness, a quarter of a century has passed.

IT has been a period of notable growth and expansion, of winning millions of friends, of serving them faithfully, of basing achievement upon the good will of mutual satisfaction.

DURING all these eventful years, we have been mindful of our responsibilities to the legion of patrons who have contributed and are today contributing, so continuously and so generously, in helping making our Service one not of profit alone but of the confidence that rests on good will.

NEVER for a moment have we knowingly wavered from the responsibility of this relationship. It has always been to us an inspiration to reach out for greater things, that we might be the better prepared to render a Service which should prove to be more and more beneficial to the increasing numbers who come to us.

NOT only is that one little Golden Rule Store of 1902—now itself grown to far larger proportions—still serving the people in and about Kemmerer, Wyoming, but there has sprung from its applied principles and policies, others to a present total of 773 Department Stores, scattered over 46 States.



TYPICAL J. C. PENNEY CO. STORE OF TODAY

ALL these are children of what we now affectionately term The Mother Store; all happily operate in the Service of the public under the name of the J. C. Penney Company.

THE Founder of this Organization—Mr. James C. Penney—builded in his pioneering days more enduring and substantially than he knew.

HIS ideals and practices—square treatment alike to all always—and the extent to which he packed Value into every Dollar of purchase—these constitute the pattern according to which this enormous business has been shaped and which has caused it to grow until it has now become a Nation-wide Institution, serving more than 3,000,000 homes.

THE dynamic selective and buying power of the Company created by its tremendous volume of cash sales, which in 1926, amounted to $115,682,737.86, gives a saving power to the public which means much to the thrift and to the economic life of the people of every community where it operates a Store.

AT this milepost in our history, we pause only long enough to express our thanks to the great American people for their continued confidence and appreciation of our efforts in their behalf and to offer the assurance that in the future as in the past we shall strive to serve not only well but better and better with each succeeding business day.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 93

Mother! It's Cruel to "Physic" Your Child

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept constanly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even if the child is chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself.

LEGISLATURE IS FACING GRIND

FEAR SALESMAN IN LOVE CRIME MAY KILL SELF

Police Watch Man in Murder of Editor.

WOMAN CHEERFUL

Passionately Phrased Letters Found in New York Quiz.

NEW YORK, March 28.—Officials of the Queens county jail today redoubled their vigilance to prevent Henry Judd Gray, middle aged corset salesman and lover of Mrs. Ruth Snyder, from taking his own life. Gray is in a desperate state of mind and threats muttered while he restlessly paced his cell led the authorities to fear that he might try to commit suicide if an opportunity offered.

Mrs. Snyder who is jointly under murder indictment with Gray for the murder of her husband, Albert Snyder, art editor of "Motor Boating," is in a more cheerful frame of mind. Her sole determination is to free herself from the charge hanging over her head.

With the announcement by District Attorney Newcombe, of Queens county, that he has come into possession of a series of passionately-phrased love letters—all written in code—which passed between Mrs. Snyder and Gray, it was revealed that the state regards these missives as one of its strongest links of evidence against the accused pair. These love letters were exchanged during the last few weeks which proceded the murder of the woman's husband.

Third Party Involved.

The letters addressed to Mrs. Snyder, Newcombe said, had been mailed to the Snyder home, after arrangements had been made whereby she would receive them without fear of their interception by the husband.

He intimated that a third party had been involved in the plan for their delivery to the woman's home in Queens Village.

Snyder knew three years before he was murdered by his wife and her lover that the woman had been untrue to him. At that time he made the first moves for a divorce that would have saved his life, but he dropped the action before it reached the courts—actuated by his love for his daughter, Lorraine.

Police are trying to trace the source of the biehloride of mercury which Gray had mixed with a bottle of Scotch whisky that the authorities found in his baggage. They want to find whether it was purchased by Gray or Mrs. Snyder. They believe that Gray may have intended to use it to take his own life if the crime was fastened upon him, although the opinion is also advanced that Gray and his mistress may have planned to administer it to Snyder.

The National Parks

Visitors to the 19 national parks and 32 national monuments of the United States were more numerous by 260,343 in 1926 than in the preceding year. There is no doubt that enjoyment of the parks is gaining right along, and more and more Americans every year are becoming acquainted with these vast and beautiful playgrounds.

Extensive construction of new roads and trails has already begun throughout the park system, so that there will be new scenes and trips for repeaters and greater opportunities for those who enter the parks for the first time. The park system will soon include certain enchanting areas in the Blue Ridge mountains in Virginia and the Great Smokies in North Carolina.

All this is matter for real public pride and satisfaction. The slow but steady expansion of the national park system means the preservation to the American people of many beautiful and unusual regions, as worthy of attention as any of the scenic wonders of other lands and other continents.

A Million Colors

"Ask your friends how many distinct colors they can recognize," says a writer in Popular Science Monthly. "Most of them will guess that they can see 50 or a hundred separate colors."

This ridiculously low, it appears. Recent scientific tests have shown that even people with eyes not trained to be especially color sensitive can distinguish upwards of 60,000 colors, shades and hues, while artists can distinguish two or three times as many color variations. More surprising, still, it is said that new gauges recently developed by the nited States Bureau of Standards are able to distinguish a million different possible color shades.

Scientists and psychologists are studying colors with definite purposes in mind such as aiding health and sanity, stimulating certin emotions or abilities, and so on.

In the meantime, the people who name colors for fashion ads will have a glorious orgy of invention and will keep the long-suffering public busy guessing and trying to learn what names mean which shades and colors. Right now we defy even a salesgirl to pick out of a pile of colored yarns the ones exactly described by such shade names as "sonata," "illusion," "hoggar," "cascade," "Arab," and monkey-skin."

The Brainiest Businesses

"Which are the brainiest and most successful of America's huge enterprises" asks B. C. Forbes, prominent business commentator. He suggests this list of ten businesses:

General Motors.
General Electric.
J. P. Morgan & Co.
Steel Corporation.
Standard Oil.
American Telephone and Telegraph.
Metropolitan Life.
National City Bank.
Eastman Kodak.
Woolworth's.

"What is missing from this picture?" as the puzzle editors say. Many will suggest additions or changes. Perhaps the omission of Ford Motor company is the most notable thing about Mr. Forbes' list. It might make a good subject for debate—whether Ford's great and profitable enterprise should be in the first 10, and if not, why?

Buliding Too Strongly

Wreckers have been trying in vain for several weeks to destroy the vault of a bank building in New York City, in process of razing it to make room for a new skyscraper. The walls are two stories high and two feet thick, made of twisted steel and concrete. Dynamite accomplishes little. and the most effective modern drills make slow work.

Here is something to think about, in a country whose business sections, as a rule, are completely rebuilt every 20 or 30 years, and which nevertheless insists on erecting buildings "as durable as the pyramids." Many a structure erected in recent years would offer almost as much resistance to destruction, in every part, as that bank vault does.

If we're going to build so strongly, we shall not be able to tear down and reconstruct with the growth of cities. If we want to keep our cities plastic, and remodel them from generation to generation, we can't build so strongly.

Veteran Skater

A lively citizen named Hitchcock, aged 87, boasts himself the champion skater of Sarnia, Ontario, and is much put out because John Govette of Meaford claims the provincial championship. Govette is a mere stripling of 82 years. Hitchcock challenges him to a contest of anything that can be done on skates, and promises to show him some real fancy skating when the contest's over. He has been skating for 80 years, and thinks he ought to be pretty good by this time.

Such talk, while smacking of egotism, has a wholesome sound. It is good to know that there is still some regard on this continent for the ancient and invigorating sport of skating, which in these latter years is yielding shamefully to such pusillanimous diversions as indoor golf and jazz dancing.

WHEN DAVIS TAKES PEN IN HAND

"Bob" Davis, editor of Munsey's magazine, is one of the best letter writers in the world, as those who have had personal or professional correspondence with him can testify. He packs as much of wisdom into three lines on a sheet of office notepaper as some people could put into a whole book.

I remember once that a friend of mine sent Davis a very bad short story. Davis returned the manuscript with these words:

"Dear Bill: This yarn smells to Heaven. Control yourself, my dear boy—control yourself."

But I think he rose to his most inspired heights here when he received from an unknown author a jingle. The sender, in a letter accompanying the verse, declared them to be his very own. But somehow or other, as Davis read them over, he was struck by a haunting note of familiarity. He pondered a bit and then he had the answer. Line for line, and almost word for word, the poem was copied from a lyric which had been sung years before in "The Yankee Prince."

So Davis fired the offering back to the plagiarist with this letter:

"My Dear Sir: I do not believe I care to use this work of yours. It may be original, as you claim. Far be if from me to take issue with you on that point. But I will say this:

"It is entirely too much of a George M. Cohancidence!"

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 28.—Diary of a modern Pepys: A sombre gray day much to my liking and Carl Seitz, of Shanghai, came and Mrs. Nancy Allen, too, and my labors neglected for pleasant talk. Then to a coffee house where I was holpen thrice to country sausage.

So to walk in a slashing downpour to the water front and the sun popped out in splendor and there was breath of blossoming verdure from Jersey hills. And some gamins in the street were stoning a wounded bat and jeered when I interfered.

In the evening Ray Long, Hugh Murray and their wives came, and all quite merry. So afterward to my task and at it until almost dawn. Then to bed.

Specialization has hit the laundries. One in the Fashionable Fifties catering exclusively to the Gold Coast charges 14 cents for each collar and 80 cents for each shirt. We wonder what the tax would be for Big Bill Edward's nightshirt.

A famous cotillion leader of the Gay Nineties was found recently living in obscurity of Harlem. His leisure hours are now devoted to coloring meerschaum pipes. Still one can't lead a cotillion all his life.

Many men whose early lives have been concentrated to the butterfly life seek old age Nepenthe amid the bees and flowers or similar simple pursuits. In Paris there is a group of ex patriates with a prurient past. New York knew them as young bloods who flew high. Many were involved in escapades that caused families to banish them. They took up the life of remittance men abroad and gather semi-annually for dinner at a little cafe near Eiffel Tower. All are past 60 and each spends his leisure time puttering around a garden.

Manhattan tales of quick success draw thousands here yearly who should, perhaps remain at home. Few men succeed here without suffering greater deprivations than those experienced by similar success in smaller cities. Competition is keener and there is less time for that friendly sympathy so needed by those struggling up. The world naturally hears of those who rise but nothing of those who sink among the millions. In a boarding house recently were found five people who came to New York more than 20 years ago hugging the Big Dream. All found positions but not one among them had ever received promotion or increase in salary. I doubt if that would happen in any other city in America. In the big shuffle here many are beaten and lost.

The elder Cornelius Vanderbilt's mansion on Fifth Avenue, just torn down, was perhaps the finest type of French architecture ever reproduced in America. It was suggested that it be preserved as a municipal art museum instead of being turned over to skyscraper builders, but New York is in such a hurry the suggestion came too late. For years it had a deserted, dingy look and was seldom occupied. Several months before it was razed a joker hung a sign on the grilled gates reading: "Boarders by the day or week."

The Helen Gould home at 47th and the Avenue is the only brown stone front left in the district once housing so many illustrious rich. The window boxes still bloom with fresh flowers and during the opera season the mansion often blazes with light.

Fifty-seventh street's smart window displays attract a nightly crowd of promenaders. And also many beggars who dart out from the shadows to whine a tale of woe.

A beggar there last night introduced a new one: He wanted 50 cents to attend a musicale. He got it and actually bought a ticket.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Cooperative Summer Meeting.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 28.—More than one thousand people, representing more than forty states, various provinces of Canada, and a number of foreign countries, are expected to be in attendance at the third session of the American Institute of Cooperation, which will be held in Chicago this year, June 20 to July 16, at the Northwestern University School of Commerce.

As lecturers and instructors at this school, for that is what it amounts to, 130 authorities on various phases of cooperation will be brought from Europe and different sections of the United States. This huge array of talent will be drawn from successful cooperative business enterprises, colleges and universities, research organizations, and federal and state agencies which are directly and indirectly in touch with the cooperative movement.

The subjects that will be featured at this year's Institute will be the problems of cooperatives engaged in marketing grain and cotton, livestock and wool, dairy and poultry products, and perishable fruits and vegetables. Cooperative buying and cooperative credit will be discussed, but only incidentally. For most of the organizations in the Institute, selling or marketing is regarded as the important thing. There are about twenty-five of these organizations that control the Institute, which has its headquarters in this city.

Connected with the sessions of the Institute will be a number of special meetings called by various agricultural associations. Another feature will be a joint meeting of the national organization of attorneys of cooperatives with the national association of cooperative accountants.

Special Courses for Students.

In addition to the trade conferences and intensive discussions of practical problems, it is announced, the Institute is offering five courses open to advanced college students. Those completing these courses will receive credit from the faculty of Northwestern university. Also there will be a special conference course so that a student may take it as well as two of the other courses and receive the equivalent of four hours of credit for work done while the Institute is in session. All of the special conferences and lectures will be open to these credit students.

The teachers who will conduct these courses include professors Fred E. Clark, of Northwestern university; H. E. Erdman, of the University of California; E. G. Nourse, of the Institute of Economics, of Washington, D. C.; J. T. Horner, of Michigan State college; and Paul L. Miller, of Iowa State college.

Professor Clark's course will be on terminal market functions and the cooperative association, and will deal with the methods of handling, storing, and selling farm products in the terminal market with special reference to Chicago. It will include a discussion of the manner in which cooperatives are represented in such trade centers and of problems arising in the course of this business.

The organization and membership problems of the California cooperative associations, with a discussion of the structure of several typical organizations, distribution of administrative control, member participation, and allied problems, will be the course conducted by Professor Erdman.

Professor Nourse will present the price objective of cooperatives. His course will include an examination of the price theories of cooperative leaders and executives, the purpose animating the formation of associations, and the determination of their form and general plan of operation. Against this background there will be discussion of the history and trend of actual commercial operations and the modifications in price policy which appear to have taken place.

Problems of cooperative dairy marketing, with special reference to price bases, classification, and the adjustment of supplies to market needs, will be offered by Professor Horner, while the Iowa member of this summer school faculty, Professor Miller, will give a course in cooperative management problems. The latter will cover the typical problems of practical management as handled by present-day cooperative organizations, and the class work will be arranged on the basis of the discussion presented in the regular program sessions of the Institute. It will be conducted largely by successful managers who are in attendance at the conference and will afford opportunity for a more intensive

POLA IS STAR IN WAR FILM

Miss Negri's Picture Opens at Ceramic Theatre.

The most unusual war drama arrived at the Ceramic theatre where Pola Negri's new Paramount starring vehicle, "Hotel Imperial," opened a two-day engagement.

The overwhelming realization of war is present every moment, yet the drama is centered upon a small group of individuals, rather than sweeping battle fronts, with numberless soldiers fighting through the holocaust of conflict in confused masses. The battles that form the story's background are suggested rather than pictured. Swift moving glimpses are given, conveying an indelible impressing of fighting hordes, paving the way for the drama itself which portrays the reactions of nations at war upon the individual human—their devastating effect upon mind, soul and physical conduct.

The three central figures are the chambermaid of the Hotel Imperial, in a town on the Austro-Russian frontier, captured by the invading Russians; the Russian general and a fugitive Hungarian officer. These portray one of the tensest dramas that has yet reached the screen.

Pola Negri gives what is declared to be the supreme characterization of her career, even surpassing Du Barry in "Passion," in the role of a chambermaid who is given luxury and tosses it aside in heroic sacrifice for her country and lover.

James Hall, Paramount's latest "find," is the Hungarian officer; and George Siegmann, the general. Others in the supporting cast include Max Davidson, Otto Fries, Nicholas Soussanin and Michael Vavitch. Erich Pommer, Europe's greatest film maker, produced the picture as his first for Paramount. Mauritz Stiller, directed.

How Children Quickly Gain Robust Health

For weak, puny, inactive children—and especially those that have rickets, and need a sure builder that promotes the growth of teeth and bones, cod liver oil is the one medicine supreme—nothing helps like it.

But it is nasty and repulsive and evil smelling and nearly always upsets children's stomachs—so now up-to-date pharmacists advise McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, with their wealth of vitamines.

Children love them as they do candy, because they are sugar coated and easy to take. One boy gained 11½ pounds in seven weeks, and is now healthy and happy—thousands of other children have grown strong and robust.

Sixty tablets for 60 cents at druggists everywhere. Try them for 30 days and if you are not happily satisfied with the test get your money back. But demand McCoy's—it pays to get the genuine.

BRITON SHOT BY COUNTESS IS NEAR DEATH

Chicago Woman Fails in Suicide Attempt After Crime.

LOVE TRIANGLE

Shooting Aftermath of Move for Divorce.

PARIS, March 28.—The condition of Raymond Vincent De Trafford, young scion of a titled British family, who was shot and seriously wounded by the Countess De Janze, the former Alice Silverthorne of Chicago, who later tried to kill herself, was very grave at noon today. His condition was more serious than that of the countess despite the fact that the bullet fired by the latter with suicidal intent pierced the stomach, intestines and kidneys.

Joseph Duvivier, attorney employed in behalf of the countess, revealed that she had filed suit for divorce in the Seine tribunal some time ago. The formalities of "attempted reconciliation," which is a preliminary in French divorce actions, had already been completed.

The countess, who is a cousin of Mrs. K. Ogden Armour, of Chicago, is technically under arrest at La Riboisiere hospital, although the seriousness of her condition makes it unecessary for a police guard. If she recovers sufficiently she will be transferred to a prison, charged with the shooting of De Trafford.

It is My Secret," Woman Says.

"If the countess recovers," said Attorney Duvivier," she undoubtedly will be tried for assault. If De Trafford should die the charge would be a more serious one."

Rudolph De Trafford, brother of Raymond, arrived from London and hurried to the hospital. The wounded man was so weak that he could only whisper monosyllables in response to his brother's questions.

Jealousy was the motive attributed to the shooting.

The countess was questioned briefly by Special Police Commissioner Cals, but she threw little light upon the affair.

"It is my secret," she gasped in a whisper. "You are asking me something I cannot answer. But it was I who shot my friend. I did it upon an impulse. Then I could think of nothing but suicide. Oh, I deeply regret this."

Shooting Occurs on Train.

The young Englishman was on his way to London when the shooting took place in a first class compartment of a train bound for Boulogne. The train had not yet left the Gare Du Nord.

A gendarme, who was attracted by the shots and the excited cries of nearby persons, rushed to the compartment. He found De Trafford lying upon the floor bleeding freely and the woman huddled nearby. The young man was unconscious, but the countess was conscious for a few moments and managed to gasp out a few words to the policeman before she too lost consciousness.

It is reported that the count threatened to divorce his wife some time ago because of her attachment for De Trafford, whom she had met first in America. The countess is said to have deserted her home and two children to be with her young lover.

Hissam seeks $1,500 for damages alleged to have been done to his car and personal injuries, while Hoover asks $1,500 for injuries purported to have been sustained when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a car driven by Swanson near "Hail Deaden" about three weeks ago.

Strength Sapped by Overwork Rebuilt by Tanlac

Ben Romano broke under long hours and heavy work. On verge of breakdown, tried Tanlac and regained lost vitality. Praises Tanlac highly

Ben Romano lives at 799 Bowery St., Akron, Ohio. A native of Birmingham, Ala., he has a host of friends in that city. While working for the Sloss-Sheffield Iron Company there, he spared no effort to succeed, putting all his strength and energy into his work. "Lugging pig iron ten hours a day takes strength and vitality," said Mr. Romano, "and in the end it got me. For three months I was played out, nervous—on the verge of a breakdown.

"My stomach and liver went back on me, and heartburn, gas and sourness, kept me in constant misery. I could neither eat, sleep nor digest normally, so grew steadily weaker. Shortly before coming to Akron I started on Tanlac and have been in the pink of condition ever since. My friends would congratulate me on my improvement and I would always say that Tanlac and nothing else is responsible for the change. It certainly put an end to my troubles."

If you feel below par, try Tanlac, nature's own tonic and body builder. Made from barks, roots and herbs. Your druggist has Tanlac. Over 52 millions bottles sold.

Kill that skin eruption at the start

Neglect of even the slightest skin rash, roughness, or chafing may have serious consequences. Painful, disfiguring complaints like eczema, stubborn sores, etc., all start in a small way.

The safest plan is to keep a jar of Resinol Ointment ready to use at the first sign of skin trouble. It promptly stops itching and reduces inflammation and burning. The tiny pores readily receive this soothing ointment, and its healing influence is carried far below the surface of the skin.

Midol is a more remarkable means of relieving such pain than even a habit-forming drug. It acts directly on the organs affected by menstruation, and relief comes in five to seven minutes.

Don't have another day of forced quiet, of pain, low spirits or even discomfort! Midol is effective twelve hours or more. Yet it does not depress the heart, is not narcotic, and is utterly harmless. All druggists, 50 cents, in thin aluminum box that fits the smallest purse.

HENRY FORD'S COUNSEL ASKS MISTRIAL IN LIBEL SUIT

OPPOSE CHANGE IN SAPIRO'S DECLARATION

Detroit Judge Defers Ruling on Plea and Motion.

ARGUMENT HEARD

Chicago Man's Lawyer Says Amendment is Within Rules.

FEDERAL BUILDING, Detroit, March 28.—After formally objecting to any change in Aaron Sapiro's declaration of libel, counsel for Henry Ford today moved for a mistrial in the $1,000,000 Ford-Sapiro libel suit.

The court took under consideration both Sapiro's plea and the defense motion for a mistrial. He said he would announce a decision later in the day.

Stewart Hanley, of Ford's counsel, first filed the objection before Judge Fred M. Raymond in federal court here and then asked that a mistrial be declared and the jury dismissed if the court accepted Sapiro's amended complaint. Judge Raymond tentatively accepted the amended declaration last week.

Hanley declared that the Sapiro move, eliminating 54 of his allegations of libel, had changed the whole cause of action. The changes, if allowed, said Hanley, will seriously jeopardize the rights of Henry Ford

Object to Amendment.

Hanley made a long argument, urging the court to reject all changes in the declaration.

"We wish to object to the acceptance of the amendment to the declaration of libel," said Hanley, "we oppose both the portion, amending the cause to action and the second section relating to the limitation of fifty or more of the alleged libels."

Hanley said that nothing had occurred during the trial to justify the changes proposed by Sapiro.

"We now ask, that if the amendment is allowed." Hanley added, "that the jury be dismissed and this trial declared a mistrial. This amendment changes the whole cause of action and we have a right to a new trial."

William Henry Gallagher declared the amendment was strictly within the usual rules of court procedure.

"Amendments to a declaration of libel can be allowed," he added, "If they do not change the form of action nor introduce any new subjects. Our amendment does neither, so it is in order."

THE French parliament votes 8,000,000,000 francs for the army and navy this coming year. That sounds a great deal, but it amounts to only $400,000,000, which wouldn't go far in this country.

You wonder how the French do it. They have the greatest flying fleet in the world, one that could wipe out every city in the United States in 10 days. In addition to that, they keep half a million men under arms, and maintain a great navy.

Automobile makers are more enthusiastic than ever, and, industrially speaking, the enterprising among them are "stepping on the gas." According to some whose predictions have been accurate hitherto the United States ought to be operating 38,000,000 cars in 1940.

BERTRAND RUSSELL, convinced, as many parents are, that no school is exactly right, will start a school of his own, for the sake of his two children, four and two years old. They will learn swimming, physical culture, tennis, but not football, cricket or hockey.

That is Bertrand Russell's first mistake. Make your children different mentally if you can, by stimulating their thought. But don't handicap them by forbidding them to do the comparatively harmless, even mildly foolish things that other children do.

To make a child "strange" among other children is to cut down its chances. Russell's school will be a good one, nevertheless.

LESSONS in auction bridge sent out on the radio are followed, it is said, by 6,000,000 men and women, and auction bridge teachers can earn as much as $50,000 a year. That will interest some other teachers paid barely enough to keep them alive.

How many do you think would "tune in" if the radio sent out lessons in history, astronomy, or chemistry.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, March 28.—A rush of week-end buying orders for the leading industrial and railroad shares resulted in a sharp advance in prices of the well known stocks in early trading today.

Geenral Motors and United States Steel repeated their almost daily performance of establishing new "peak" prices. Pools in the so-called specialty stocks pushed up the prices of their favorites in an active movement, and railroad stocks and independent steels surged forward in heavy trading.

Easy money and capitalistic confidence is Wall Street's explanation for the sharp advance of the high-priced industrial shares, following three years of steady climbing in the speculative markets. Investment demand for stocks today is reported larger than any time in Wall street history.

American Telephone & Telegraph sold at 169, the highest price in 24 years; General Motors at 182 and United States Steel at 165 7-8, these prices marking a new high record for the other members of this strong market trio.

Atchison and New York Central were the represent of the rails on the new upward move National Biscuit, Cast Iron Pipe, Dupont, Harvester and other high-priced industrials continued the spectacular forward movements which characterized their market course last week.

Call money was unchanged at 4 per cent.

MINERS AWAIT WALKOUT ORDER

Jacksonville Pact Will Expire on March 31.

COLUMBUS, O., March 28.—Union coal miners in the Ohio fields went to work today certain of only four more days at the prevailing rate of $7.50 for an eight-hour day as provided in the Jacksonville agreement which expires at midnight March 31. With their officers in session at Indianapolis determined to demand a continuation of the Jacksonville agreement, and operators firm in their demand for a wage reduction to $4 or $4.50 daily, the miners of the central competitive field, which includes Ohio, faced the prospect of indefinite idleness without the prospect of strike benefits.

Reports from the districts bordering on the Ohio river near the neighboring non-union fields of West Virginia and Kentucky today were the non-union "missionaries" were visiting the union Ohio fields and offering employment to union miners. Little success was met with. At Martins Ferry, two non-union organizers were driven from the town, and at other points their efforts bore no more fruit. Union sub-district officers reported.

In the union stronghold of northern West Virginia, miners were as determined to stand by the Jacksonville scale demand as Ohio workers, following a Sunday night mass meeting held at Fairmont.

Operators in Ohio and West Virginia, generally had little comment to offer today and seemed reconciled to a policy of watch and wait, following their reduced wage announcement submitted to employes last week in the weekly pay envelopes.

Three More Bills Are Approved by Governor Donahey

COLUMBUS, O., March 28.—Receiving the approving signature of Governor Vic Donahey today, three more bills, passed at the present session of the Ohio legislature, will become laws 90 days after being filed with the secretary of state.

The measures signed today by the governor are: — By representative Harry Ball, Scioto county, extending the jurisdiction of the state forester, providing for appointment of state forestry fire wardens, and revising restrictions on handling fires; by Representative Perry Green, Portage, providing for establishment of a demonstration forest, under direction of the state division of forestry, and, by Representative L. J. Tbele, Cleveland, authorizing the state insurance superintendent to require foreign brokers to furnish information which the superintendent may deem necessary in order to determine "the trustworthiness, competency and suitability of the applicant to act as an insurance broker" in Ohio.

Resuscitator Saves Second New-born Baby in Cleveland

After almost an hour's hard work with a resuscitator here yesterday, a rescue squad, directed by Sergeant Charles Crust, started the breath of life in a son of Mrs. Kenneth Benedict, which had been born with collapsed lungs.

A similar rescue was effected here last Thursday of a baby born to Mrs. John Adamsky.

Frank McLain, taxicab driver, was twice convicted of manslaughter. Anderson's counsel carried the case to the state supreme court in a vain effort to obtain a third trial. The defendant entered the penitentiary last week to serve a term of four years eight months to 20 years.

Brookes most recent conviction was that of Roy Wallen, East Salineville coal miner, who was sentenced to the penitentiary for life after he had been found guilty of second degree murder in the death of Rodney Ogle, a neighbor.

Four of the eight murder trials during the last seven years originated in Wellsville, three in East Liverpool and one in Salineville. The arrest of Rini and Mrs. Chorgas, which occurred here, places East Liverpool on equal footing with the sister city of Wellsville so far as murder cases are concerned.

OHIO VILLAGE SWEPT BY FIRE

SANDUSKY, O., March 28.—The little village of Castalia, six miles south of here, was badly damaged by fire of undetermined origin early today. Heisman's garage and three smaller structures were totally destroyed with a total loss of about $12,000. The Sandusky fire department prevented the flames from spreading.

Naval Dirigible Los Angeles Ready For Test Flight

WASHINGTON, March 28. — The naval dirigible Los Angeles has again been inflated at Lakehurst and made ready to undertake a series of test flights, it was announced today.

Naval officials declared the inflation of the giant airship had no possible connection with the Chinese situation, but was merely regular routine.

Withdrawal of marines from Lakehurst for duty in China, however, may delay or halt the training flight tests.

Anti-foreign Hatred

taches refused to make a statement pending instructions from Paris.

Gen. Smedley Butler, commander of the Americans, participated in a conference with the French and the commanders of the various international forces.

Large numbers of Japanese women and children are going home, every vessel for Japan being crowded.

"Drive all foreigners from China," is the slogan of men and women anti-foreign agitators, some of them Russians, who are active among the Cantonese troops and the workingmen in the Shanghai district.

Further bloodshed is feared. Admiral Williams, commander of the United State warcraft in Chinese waters, has taken official cognizance of the growing tensity of the situation and has warned Washington.

The situation at Nanking is quiet. The consular authorities have been notified that a handful of Americans are remaining there upon the United States warcraft anchored off the city to supervise the evacuation of Americans from the outlying districts.

Close Consulates.

PEKING, March 28.—The American state department has authorized the closing of the American consulates at Chunking and Changsha, the United States legation announced today.

Britain Sends Sharp Note.

LONDON, March 28.—Sir Austen Chamberlain, British foreign minister, has sent a sharp note to General Chiang Kai Shek, Nationalist military leader in China, stating that Great Britain can enter no further negotiations with the Nationalists until steps are taken to insure protection for foreign lives and property, according to reports circulated in semi-official circles today.

Sir Austen's action, it is understood, followed a request made upon the powers in Shanghai for a statement from them as to their plans for giving up the international settlement in Shanghai to Chinese control.

The demands of the Chinese for the return of all concessions are insistent, but it is understood here that Great Britain will give no further ground and that Chiang Kai Shek had been notified that the powers are prepared to defend their Shanghai concessions by force, if necessary.

A special cabinet meeting was summoned today to discuss Chinese situation and Sir Austen Chamberlain rendered a report.

Sex Play Author And Co-Producers Sent to Workhouse

NEW YORK, March 28.—William Francis Dugan, author of "The Virgin Man," one of the three Broadway sex plays raided by police, and Mack Cohan and Jacob Kromberg, co-producers, were sentenced to ten days in the workhouse and fined $250 each, or the alternative of 30 days more, by Justices Direnso, Murphy and Voorhes in special sessions court today.

They all paid the fines. The seven members of the cast, three women and four men, were given suspended sentences.

Two Die in Fight

As they went toward the door the machine gun was turned upon them.

110 Bullets in Walls.

Police found 110 bullets in the walls of the corridor. It was impossible to count the bullet wounds in Cohen and Bloom, Wright was badly shot up.

Immediately after the shooting, police learned, the occupants of the apartment took Bloomfield and the machine guns, loaded them into a car a the rear of the apartment, nad escaped.

A search of the apartment revealed a strong arsenal. There were 12 pistols, scores of rounds of amunition. dum-dum bullets, three shotguns, and large number of blackjacks and other strongarm implements. Women's clothes were also found.

The apartment was rented by John Telzdorf. Living with him were Miller, Simon Axler, 61 Clinton street, New York, and an unidentified man, believed to be Axler's brother, Abe, of 63 Clinton street, New York.

Brady admitted that Bloomfield was employed by him. He said he knew nothing of the kidnaping or of the demand for ransom.

Kent Killing Two Years Ago.

KENT, O., March 28.—Salvatore Mirogliotta, alias Sam Miller, reputed to have been a member of the Detroit "machine gun gang," which early today killed two men and seriously wounded a third, is wanted here for the murder of Clayton Apple, a policeman.

The killing occurred March 23, 1925, under somewhat mysterious circumstances. A man named Frank Mollicky, and Mirogliotta had some sort of an argument with Apple on the street, according to local police. Following the argument, eleven shots were fired, the policeman dropping with a bullet through the heart.

Mollicky was captured and indicted for first degree murder, but Mirogliotta escaped. Mollicky's trial was held up pending the capture of the other man.

According to local authorities the trial will probably be held some time next month. Mollicky, in the meantime is at liberty under bond.

GAMBLING RAID TRAPS SIX MEN

Carl Kelly Fined $125 for Maintaining Place.

Carl Kelly, lower Walnut street, was fined $125 and costs by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today, when he pleaded guilty of a charge of maintaining a gambling house, following a raid upon his home by Captain Conley and Patrolman Lister at 9:30 o'clock last evening.

Five other men, giving the names of Frank Hutchison, Henry Fisher, John Hutchison, Bert Hughes and Brady Larcombe, alleged to have been found in the place, forfeited $15.80 each upon charges of gambling.

Kelly, who had posted $55.80 for his appearance, failed to appear and his bond was declared forfeited. When advised by Chief of Police McDermott that Kelly had been arrested and fined $100 upon a gambling charge a week ago, Judge Hanley ordered that the defendant be taken into custody.

Chief McDermott made two fruitless visits to the Kelly home yesterday but claims that a lookout who had been posted at the front door gave the alarm before he could get to the second floor room, where the game is alleged to have been in progress. Captain Conley and Patrolman Lister later raided the house under the cover of darkness.

Kelly was charged with a liquor violation in connection with the raid a week ago but this charge was dismissed because of lack of evidence. He was committed to jail today in default of payment of the gambling fine.

Set R. J. Powell to Work and Forget Moving Day Blues

To move or not to move?

The problem that revolves in the minds of countless busy home-seekers, usually in the springtime, as they look out for a little place with a garden in the back yard, or a home "close in" where the kids can get to school more easily, or a place in the suburbs where there's a little more freedom, or maybe the landlord's just been there.

Movin's trouble enough, and if you can get someone else to share your worries, even if you have to pay for it, it's worth it, especially when a transfer service such as R. J. Powell's is available.

Powell has established an enviable reputation in the moving business in recent years and his work well warrants all the praise that has been coming his way.

Regardless of whether it's two blocks, two miles, or 2,000 miles, Powell will give you the same careful, faultless service every inch of the way. And what's more, all of his loads are insured.

Furniture, pianos, freight and express of various descriptions are all in his line.

No Excuse Now for "Limping" Motors; Deacon Fixes Them

Mr. Motor Car Owner, you'll have to admit it—There's no excuse at all for running your car with dented fenders, nicks in the body, one light burning, and that one very feeble because the battery is about gone, or perhaps a couple of leaves out of a rear spring, or something else, when a couple of hours at Deacon's garage can bring these things back to a state or normalcy.

Such minor flaws are as unnecessary as a rear seat driver and much easier to eliminate.

Harry Langdon is the proprietor of the Deacon garage and the availability of his place of business is another adtage to the motor car owner.

Many autos have been repaired and frayed tempers patched up at his shop just a little way above the Horn Switch in Walnut street.

A fetaure of his service is battery charging — batteries rented, called for and delivered—$1.00.

All of his work is guaranteed.

'Complete' is Best Way to Describe Owen's Paper Line

A well balanced stock of wall papers covering complete price range of domestic and imported papers with a very well chosen selection of the medium priced papers suited to the average buyer of moderate means.

That, in a few words, describes the Owen Wall Paper and Paint Company's brand of service. If only one word could be used, it would be, "Complete."

And another thing—while selecting a wide variety of papers, the Owen company keeps in mind always the customer, so that the latter can pick out something always that appeals and yet at a price that makes the purchase doubly satisfactory.

Many of the Owen company's designs are suited to the new method of painting which places the price of a paneled room well within the reach of the family with a modest income.

In addition, they carry, a complete line of the Foy Brand paints and varnishes (Foy's highest quality) as well as other painting and papering specialties.

Owen's place is located at 639 St. Clair avenue, a short distance from the Diamond.

New Coat of Paint At Drier's Shop Will Boost Auto's Value

Speaking of automobiles, if you save the surface, you might not be able to save all, but the chances are 100 to one that you'll get a bigger resale price out of the old bus than if you put it on the market with a decrepit covering of something that once was paint.

Regardless of how sweet the motor purrs, or how smoothly she slides along the open road, or how easily the gears click into place, or how staunchly she takes the rough spots, the automobile with a tawdry appearance is handicapped in the race for resale dollars right off the reel.

Drier's auto paint shop can stake you to all the inside information in this phase of the auto game. The Drier shop, located at the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and State street, in the East End, has restored the complexion of many wrinkled old road veterans that are still delivering miles, in a shiny new coat, that otherwise might have been doing duty on the pension list.

Drier's shop is an authorized Duco refinishing station. Let them trim up your car and the chances are it'll look so good you'll want to ride in it another season.

All Home Cooking Magnet That Draws Hungry to Graham's

As proof of the fact that the world will beat a path to the man who makes something or does something better than anyone else, the William Y. Graham restaurant, tucked away in Diamond alley, is doing more than its share of business these days.

A strictly American cuisine, with any number of appetizing specialties, tempts hundreds of folks for a tasty breakfast, a satisfying mid-day luncheon or an all-complete, more expansive evening meal.

All home cooking, a feature that cannot be stressed too much, probably is the secret, although the quality of Graham's foods is no secret to throngs of business men, professional men and followers of various other callings who inhabit this haven for the hungry at various times during the day.

"Try our T-bone steaks and chops" is Graham's tip to those who would achieve that square-meal feeling.

Graham's restaurant is located in Diamond alley, right back of Bulger's drug store, and if you haven't been there, it really isn't hard to find. And once you've been there, a desire for "eats like mother used to make" will turn your footsteps back when an empty tummy begins to cry for reinforcements.

Ervin Machine Co., Expands Business In Pottery Field

Having achieved an unusual degree of success and no small amount of recognition throughout the district for the excellence of their machine work, the Ervin Machine company, located in the rear of 644 St. Clair avenue, is negotiating the first steps of an expansion program that should swell its business far beyond the present bounds during the year.

Sometime ago the Ervin company stepped into the field of pottery, milling and mining machinery and the success of the concern's preliminary efforts indicates in a very substantial manner its ability in the new field.

Mechanical perfection, precision, accuracy and dependability are requisites of their line of endeavor and the Ervin forces have them all, plus the experience of Bert Bucher and C. E. Ervin.

Bucher was formerly with the Bucher-Smith company and his record in the field of general machine work will speak for itself. Ervin will direct his efforts largely toward work in the pottery field.

Basketball Rivals Resume Warfare Tonight In Midland

Elks Strengthened As Guard Anderson Returns To Lineup

Third and Final Tilt Will Decide Inter-county Court Honors for Season; Large Delegation of Local Fans to Take in Game.

With the Columbiana-Beaver inter-county independent basketball title and the lion's share of the purse depending upon the result, the East Liverpool Elks and the Midland Collegians will resume basketball warfare tonight at Midland in the third and final clash of their series.

At a conference following the second series tussle last Friday night at Midland Manager Kissinger won the toss and took the deciding scrap to the Steel City court.

The series stands even at the present time. The Elks won the first contest here last Wednesday, but lost Ray Wilde and their chances of cleaning up the series in one-two order.

A burst of speed in the last few minutes of the Friday night battle gave the Collegians the decision in the second and an excellent chance for the title.

Captain and Guard Smith Anderson, who also was unable to play Friday night, will be back in uniform tonight and his presence in the lineup ought to be the deciding factor. Anderson has a faculty for getting the ball out from the danger zone under the basket and is an important cog in the defense, although there were few Midland shots made from under the basket Friday night. The deciding field goals, in fact, were sensational heaves by Campbell from a point a little short of mid court.

Dave Shupe and Nate Lippe will be back in action tonight, although at what positions, Coach Bill Powell has not yet decided. The absence of Wilde has thrown the team out of alignment and is making the problem of rearranging the players into an harmonious group rather difficult.

Dave Shupe does anything on the basketball court and does it well, but he is probably more valuable as a forward than in any other position. He jumped center against the Collegians Friday and did such a good job of it that he may be used there again tonight.

A large delegation of fans from the city probably will take in the concluding rumpus of the series, which, if anything like the second, in point of all around performance, class and thrills, should certainly be worth watching.

The construction of the new Midland high school gymnasium, where the event will be staged, makes it possible for everyone to see at any and all times and really provides a high class setting for the final scene of the series.

STAR duckpin shooters of the Liberty duckpin loop have one more week to crack away at league records and leaders.

Beginning tonight three more matches are slated before the conclusion of the second half with the Rankers leading at the present time. This delegation is not so far out in front however, that they can't be stopped and the efforts of their rivals should pep up the final week's action.

Johnny Green is leading in high average for the half, with a mark of 154, seven better than Forbes Alcock. The Bankers hold the high three-game record of 2,198, and Turk Nash the single game mark of 783.

Shaffer's 221 has topped all individual one-game performance to date and Manypenny's 596 leads the league for three gams.

Friday—Chryslers vs Bankers.

Training Camps

Pennock Down to Work.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 28.—After playing the St. Louis Cardinals here today, the Yankees will break camp and start north. Southpaw Herb Pennock has come to terms but will get into shape here instead of leaving with the team. Infielder Don Flickinger has been released to the Binghamton, N. Y. club.

Rickard After Bantams.

NEW YORK, March 28.—Promoter Tex Rickard was negotiating today for a bantamweight championship contest to be held here this summer between Bud Taylor of Terre Haute and Tony Canzoneri of Brooklyn, who fought a ten-round draw in Chicago on Saturday night. Chicago promoters also are angling for a return bout.

Robins-Nats Clash.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 28.—With three straight victories to their credit, the Brooklyn Robins meet the Washington Senators here today. Two rookie infielders, Partridge and Barrett, have won regular berths with the Robins.

Browns Seek Revenge.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 28.—Eager to even up matters for an earlier trouncing handed them by the Giants, the Browns arrived here today. In their first game New York won, 13 to 1. Cincinnati beat the Browns yesterday at Miami, 6 to 7.

Maroon-Tiger Grid Series

Princeton-Chicago Football Relations Resumed.

CHICAGO, March 28.—The University of Chicago campus, where football is discussed during baseball season, hummed today over the announcement made by A. A. Stagg, director of Athletics, that football relations had been re-established with Princeton.

A two-year contract, calling for a Maroon-Tiger game at Princeton in 1929 and a clash here in 1930, has been signed.

Chicago and Princeton met in 1921 and 1922. The Maroon eleven in the east defeated the Tigers 9-0 in 1921. The Roper eleven won the 1922 game here, 21-18.

"We are very glad to meet Princeton again," said Stagg in making the announcement. "If this new series is as good as the last one, it ought to satisfy everybody."

PRINCETON, N. J., March 28.—Princeton's football team will meet Ohio State and Chicago elevens in home and home games during the next four years, according to an announcement made public today by Princeton athletic officials.

Ohio State will come here on Nov. 5, next fall and Princeton will play a return engagement at Columbus on Nov. 3, 1928. The Chicago eleven will clash with the Tigers here on Nov. 2, 1929, and Princeton will meet the Maroon in Chicago on Nov. 1, 1930.

A Princeton eleven has not made a western trip since 1922, and the newly-arranged intersectional contests were made possible only by the collapse of the Big Three.

Sports Done Brown

THIS is the veteran's year in baseball.

The interest in the incoming stars, youthful phenoms etc., is overshadowed completely by the eagerness with which the average fan awaits the activities of the old timers—especially those cast in new environments.

Topping the list of veterans in this class, of course, are Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker, Rogers Hornsby, Eddie Roush, Zack Wheat, Burleigh Grimes, Steve O'Neill, Rober Peckinpaugh, Frankie Frisch (though scarcely a vet in years at least), and Jasques Fournier.

As newcomers in the managerial ranks such veteran campaigners as Jack McCallister of the Indians, Dorie Bush of the Pirates, Stuffy McInnis of the Phils, Dan Howley of the Browns, Bill Carrigan of the Red Sox, Ray Schalk of the White Sox, George Moriarty of the Tigers will draw their share.

Bob O'Farrell, new pilot of the Cardinals, steps up from the ranks of that team to pilot it and so, though he does not move, will come in for a share.

The playing of Cobb and Speaker will be watched closely, not only because of their avowed intentions of letting out an extra notch simply to show their appreciation of their vindication by the fans and powers that be, but because it will be a crucial year for both as far as determining their future on the diamond.

Eddie Roush, passed up as a youngster by the Giants, joins that club in the sunset side of his career. Burleigh Grimes, Dodgers veteran, also totes a Giant uniform for the first time.

Donie Bush, new Priate leader, comes up from a successful stint as a minor league pilot at Indianapolis. He once managed the Senators, but at a time when Griffith used managers simply to fill the space on the office letter heads.

Stuffy McInnis, who rose to fame as a first baseman with the Philadelphia Athletics, goes back to Quakersville to seek fame as a manager with the National League club.

Truly a tough year for a rookie seeking headlines to clip and send home.

One little problem over which Bill Carrigan, pilot of the Red Sox, may ponder o' night while whipping his team into shape is the reason why Emory Rigney, fleet-footed shortstop, can't steal bases. Rigney accepted more chances afield than any other shortstop in the league last season. Yet the best he could do on the bases was to swipe just six. Of course he is not a .300 hitter, which lessens his chances for getting on base. But a man of his speed, when on bases, should be a bad hombre for a catcher to check.

Famous Pro Golfers Slip As Bobby Wins

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, March 28.—It may be bad taste to call the embalmer before the corpse is cold but that as it might, it seemed self evident today that some of the revered figures of professional golf have reached a pass where they no longer are worthy of even illusionary reverence. I am referring in general to men who finished anywhere from eight to eighty strokes, or thereabout, behind Bobby Jones in the southern open on Saturday and in particular to Walter Hagen.

Hagen these many years has been famous as the Houdini of golf, the man who could get out of any trouble, the great pinch hitter of the game who promised you that the bigger the prize, the better the round. They put up $4,000 as the first money prize at Atlanta and Hagen finished in a tie for seventeenth place or something o' the sort.

Others I wish to recommend as probable dead ones, or at least among the dying, are Jock Hutchison, former British open champion; Jim Barnes, holder of both British and American National titles during the last six years, and Gene Sarazen, quasi-famous to the point five years ago that they named a horse for him, a cigar alone being a greater honor.

Judged by their records during recent years, inclusive of the southern open, they ceased sometime ago to be of international calibre and now are golfers of little more than minor consequence, except for the traditional glamor to which their great past entitles them.

Hutch hasn't won anything of more than local moment since his great victory at St. Andrews' in 1921 and his 297 for one of the low money prizes at Atlanta has become more or less typical of the man. Barnes did come back to win the British title several years after his victory in the American open at Washington but otherwise he has just been one of the boys, doing the best he can. His best at Atlanta was like Kipling's worst at Suez, for he failed to get into the money at all, although thirty cash prizes were up.

Sarazen neither was as bad as Barnes nor as good as Hutchison at Atlanta, which means that there were a few ordinary golfers around and he was one of them. Sarazen really has sunk to mediocrity after his one great year as open and P. G. A. champion and the winner over Hagen in a special match.

Few suspected back in 1922 that he was a one-year champion but he inference is almost inescapable now. Cyril Walker and Willie Macfarlane, by the way, seem to be excellent examples of this type.

In a less obvious degree than Hutchison, Barnes and Sarazen, the bland Mr. Hagen's name has been ebbing away from him for two years and this winter it reached the low level of his career. At Atlanta, in fact, there semed to be nothing left but the swagger. He couldn't keep going for more than nine holes at a stretch and, with $4,000 in front of him, the question with the old Hagen would have been to stop him before dark.

Instead, he was stopped before he started. Bobby Jones beat him eighteen strokes; Johnny Farrell and John Golden ten each; Al Watrous eight; Leo Diegel seven; Bobby Cruikshank and several others, five strokes, and so on down the line.

Those strokes represented money, money to Hagen represents about everything except vanity and honor. Hagen most certainly was doing as well as he could in the southern open and, frankly, it might have been much better without being very good.

Alex to Face Yanks.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 28.—Manager O'Farrell probably will call upon the veteran Alexander to serve them over the plate for the Yankees here today. The Cardinal's ace has pitched 14 scoreless innings in exhibition games this season and appears to be ready for another good season.

Greenfield Hit Hard.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 28.—Kent Greenfield, one of the Giants' regular boxmen, is not yet "ready." The Senators knocked him off the rubber yesterday and trimmed the New Yorkers, 9 to 4, despite a homer by Hornsby.

Dallas "Champs of Chicago."

DALLAS, Texas, March 28. — The Dallas Steers today were claiming the baseball championship of Chicago, having defeated the White Sox two games out of three. The White Sox are rated as city champions. Dallas won yesterday, 4 to 2.

Junior Court Rivals Play

Two Contests Billed Tonight in 'Y' Tournament.

Eight basketbal teams are still in the running for "Y" Junior basketball tournament honors, including the Silents, Newell Reserves, All Stars, Dinosaurs, Bulgers, Buckeyes, Five Horsemen and the Hill Tops.

Tonight's clashes, starting at 8 p. m., on the 'Y' floor will bring the Silents and the Newell Juniors together, and the Dinosaurs and the All Stars.

On Wednesday night two games are scheduled, the Buckeyes playing the Bulgers at 7:30 and the Five Horsemen clashing with the Hill Tops. The semi-finals will be played Thursday night and the final contest will be played Saturday.

Tribe Starting North.

LAKELAND, Fla., March 28.—With the Cleveland Indians showing better form than at this time last year, according to Manager Jack McCallister, the tribe starts northward tonight. A heavy practice session will take place today.

The New York Giants play the Redskins at St. Augustine Tuesday, according to present schedule.

Emil Levsen will probably start on the mound for the American leaguers.

Tony Paulsey's Campbell Quint Wins Tri-State Cage Title

Noose Out Wooster Passers In Final Tournament Clash

Paulsey Wins High Point and Most Valuable Man Awards as Well as Being Placed at Center on All Star Team; Zarlengo Fruits, Runners-up, Play Great Brand of Ball.

Tony Paulsey, husky, tow-headed Youngstown youth, who probably played enough basketball during the week-end to last him for a couple of years, Saturday night received the reward for one of the pluckiest, scrappiest exhibitions of basketball that has been seen on the high school court here for a long time when he won the second annual Tri-State independent cage tournament. Tony won, as he led the Campbell (O.) Merchants, to victory in the championship game over the Wooster Zarlengo Fruits, 35 to 30, for without Tony there would have been no Campbell Merchants.

Tony and his Merchants waded through the ranks of tournament entries, brushing aside high school and independent stars and showing an utter disregard for the reputations of a whole flock of Ohio conference basketball stars as they dark-horsed their way to the tourney title.

Paulsey Most Valuable.

Paulsey, voted the most valuable man award, aided by and inspiring his mates, brushed by the Pittsburgh Hoyles, the Western Reserve Phi Gamma Deltas, the Mt. Union Sigma Nus, led by the redoubtable "Lefty" Miller, the R. G. Brian Clothiers of East Liverpool, and finally the Zarlengo Fruits, composed entirely of Wooster basketball and football celebrities.

In every game, the Merchants had tough opposition. In fact they were almost eliminated in the opener with [illegible] Hoyles, only a desperate last half rally bringing them through on top, 31 to 28.

The Merchants then hooked up with the Phi Gamma Deltas, of Western Reserve, led by Firth Smith, East Liverpool lad, and the Clevelanders bowed, 26 to 21, Paulsey practically winning the game himself as he slipped in eight field goals.

They clashed with the Mount Union Sigma Nus, last year's champions, and the Alliance combine was swept off its feet in a 34 to 18 conquest by the Merchants.

Defeat Brian Clothiers.

In the semi-finals they continued their advance by stopping the R. G. Brian Clothiers, composed of local high schools stars. The tally was 18 to 8.

The Campbellites and the Wooster Zarlengo Fruits battled then in the final and the Merchants' fighting spirit carried them to victory over one of the smoothest working fives that has ever stepped on the high school court.

The Wooster lads, led by Blough, great Ohio conference performer, Beeler, Dodez and Al McGlashen, outclassed the Merchants in tactics and skill, in fact they were the class of the tournament in this respect, but the Merchants were demons for field goals and they finally finished on the big end of a 35 to 30 clash in a contest that provides a sensational tournament finish.

The contest was anybody's until the last few minutes when the Merchants slipped through a couple of field goals to win.

Wooster-Muskingum Clash.

The Wooster combine got into the final by a victory over the Muskingum Stags, boasting the services of Cliff "Red" Orr, star conference forward. Guard Bain and others. This engagement probably was the cleanest and best played tilt of the tournament.

The Brian Clothiers enjoy the distinction of holding the tournament winners to their lowest score during the two-day meet. Paulsey's lads defeated the Brians by a count of 18 to 8.

In addition to the Merchants, the outstanding teams of the tournament were the Wooster Zarlengo Fruits, the Muskingum Stags, the Brian Clothiers, Youngstown Eagles, East Liverpool Peacocks, Mount Union Sigma Nus, the Knickerbockers and Hoyles, of Pittsburgh.

The outstanding stars probably could be enumerated as follows:

Pauley, Minehart and Check of the Merchants; Blough, Beeler nad Dodez of Wooster; Bain, Leeper and Orr, of the Stags; Larkins of the Brian Clothiers; Weith, Peacocks; Bush and Flynn, Knickerbockers; Burkle, Miller and Orr, Mount Union; and Lawry, of the Pittsburgh Hoyles.

WEAK WOMEN SHOULD READ THIS

Men do not understand why women are so subject to occasional weakness and often real illnesses. The housewife often forces herself to go through a day's work when if her husband left as miserable he would be in bed with the doctor at his bedside.

Much of this suffering is entirely unnecessary. A great deal of it is due to catarrh in the system— quite often unknown. The same mucous membrane as exists in the nose and throat lines all other cavities of the body and is subject to the same catarrh, with all its weakening effect.

Women Have Approved

The manufacturers of World's Tonic have many grateful letters from women who through the use of this remarkable medicine have been relieved of this weakness, and have gained strength to attend to their duties cheerfully and well.

World's Tonic has done this because it conquers catarrh, strengthens all bodily functions and restores vigor and strength.

Women who suffer will find it a great friend. It can be obtained for $1.00 a bottle at Carnahan's, also Brannon, Wellsville, and other good druggists. (224)

FRANK NEILSON FUND PASSES MARK OF $225

Potters Renew Appeal in Behalf of Mine Victim.

BACK IS BROKEN

Wife and Eight Children Live on Small Farm.

The "Frank Neilson Fund" being raised in East Liverpool for the relief of the Bell school house potter, who is in the City hospital, suffering from a broken back sustained in a mine cave-in about three weeks ago, and his family of eight children, passed the $225 mark today, according to a report of the depository, the First National bank.

Mrs. Neilson and her children, the eldest 15, are living on the small farm about seven miles north of here. Neilson's recovery is slow and it is doubtful, in the event of his recovery, whether he will be able to do any manual labor.

A committee from Local Union No. 10, Turners and Handlers, of which Neilson is a member, launched the relief movement. The First National bank will pay the bills of the family by check.

Beats Confidence Men at Their Game.

CINCINNATI, March 28.—Charles Everitt, Miami, Fla., today was several dollars richer because he beat two confidence men at their own game here last night. Drawn into a coin matching game with a couple of strangers, Everitt told police he won considerable of their "come on" money and as soon as they boosted the stakes and won two tosses in succession, he politely withdrew from the game.

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES R STEWART

Just How Coolidge Sprained Wrist Told In Many Versions

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—More stories than anybody can shake a stick at are in circulation, to account for that bad wrist of President Coolidge.s.

The one about United States Marshal Oscar Gunwaldsen of North Dakota is a r ere guess, like the automatic hypothesis or the Einstein theory of relativity or any of those other scientific surmises.

There's a school of thought which holds that Rebecca bit the president.

Then there's the version that he stumbled over a pile of building matrial, while inspecting repairs on the White House, and sprained his own wrist.

It's just a swelling, which he can't account for. That's another explanation.

You can hear a fresh yarn any time you care to visit the executive offices.

The mystery is why the "presidental spokesman" doesn't give the public the "low down" on the subject

A good many people think the president hurt himself in some funny way, like falling out of bed or off his electric horse, and is afraid of being laughed at.

To Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota goes the credit for being first in print, with his Gunwaldsen story. He took Gunwaldsen to see the president, watched them shake hands and noticed, immediately afterwards, that the chief executive was using his left mitt.

As to Rebecca? Rebecca's a raccoon. The Coolidges were to have eaten her, or originally intended, but the president liked her better as a pet. When he moved up to Dupont Circle he missed her. So ond day, he brought her home with him from the White House, in his own automobile. The next morning he appeared with his wrist bandaged, and Becky was bundled off to the Rock Creek zoo that same forenoon.

It's also a fact that the president was bustled about a bit, to get him out of danger, while giving the White House repairs the once over The movie folks shot a picture of him, being brushed aside by the workmen, with mighty little ceremony. That he hurt his wrist isn't so certain. It was censored out of the film if he did.

It's gossiped that the president doesn't like that particular movie of himself very well.

His objection's said to be based on the ground, not that the White House workmen made him more rather fast, but that the picture shows him with such an extraordinary number of freckles.

President Coolidge really is extremely freckled. He has the kind of sandy complexion that they show up on admirably, but generally they're touched out before his pictures are given any publicity. This one slipped by, somehow.

It also reveals the chief magistrate in very striking full length profile, with quite a noticeable little bay window.

That may be another thing he doesn't approve of.

That the president doesn't get anything like the exercise he should, is common talk among those who are closest to him.

He intended to get at least a couple of daily walks between Dupont circle and the executive offices, while the White House was under repairs. For a few days he did, but now he relies mainly on an auto.

He doesn't fancy the idea of having people think he's out of condition.

If his wrist really did swell without any adequate excuse furnished by Oscar Gunwaldsen, Rebecca or an accident as White House superintendent of construction, it's understandable that he may be sensitive about it.

study of selected problems in a small specialized group.

The Jardine Commodity Basis Plan.

Secretary of Agriculture Jardine is an ardent advocate of organizing farmers' cooperative marketing associations on the commodity basis, and there is interest in what the Institute at Chicago will have to say as to that idea.

"Gluts and wastes can not be overcome," says the secretary, "nor can the spread between what the farmer receives and what the consumer pays be narrowed sufficiently until effective machinery has been set up to feed farm products into the markets of the country in an orderly manner and at a rate consistent with consumption requirements.

"This is a formidable undertaking. There is a natural division of interests between different agricultural tions of the country. Farmers of the East are heavy buyers of western grain. The South is a heavy buyer of northern pork products, grains, and feedstuffs. The North is a buyer of cotton products. Even within the same region the grain growers' finished product may be the livestock feeder's raw material.

"Our marketing policy should have regard for the interests of agriculture as a whole. plan of organization that will work fairly and effectively as between the cotton producers of the South and the mill producers of the New England states, the corn growers and the hog raisers of the corn belt, the citrus growers of California, Florida, and Texas, the cattlemen of the range and beef-cattle states, the potato growers of Maine, Idaho, Wisconsin, and Minnesota, and the producers of all the other crops grown in this country, can not be improvised in a moment. I believe, however, we are on the right track when we emphasize the commodity principle in cooperative organization."

Secretary Jardine not only believes there should be separate cooperatives for each leading farm commodity, but holds that there should be as few as possible competing organizations handling the same product.

His department is now engaged in studying the cooperative marketing of cotton, grain, livestock, fluid milk, and fruits and vegetables, which is to be considered by the Institute, and is likewise conducting analysis of the business of individual associations with the idea of accumulating a sufficient number of cases to set up operating ratios and standards, and of studying by the case system the economics of cooperative marketing.

SCREEN TREAT AT AMERICAN

John Barrymore Has Dual Role in "Don Juan."

John Barrymore is "Don Juan!"

That is the treat promised for local picture-goers at the American theatre today where this spectacular Warner Brothers production is the attraction.

Barrymore plays a dual role. First he appears as Don Juan's father, Don Jose; a courtly, punctilious, subtle Spanish aristocrat, who, discovering his wife is unfaithful, dies with this warning to his boy, Juan: "Destroy women or they will destroy you."

Next Barrymore appears as Don Juan, grown to manhood amid the magnificence of the Rome of the Borgias. The role, as developed in the picture, bears points of resemblance to that memorable character of the Renaissance lover which Barry more played on the stage in Sem Bellini's "The Jest"; a silken, senssuous, seductive lover, who, with a smile on his lips, poisons the minds of the women who yield to his irresitible fascinations. Thus he becomes the destroyer.

Barrymore's magnetic personality has never, according to all reports been more effectively projected than in this picture. Excellent as were his performances in "Beau Brummel" and "The Sea Beast," these achievements are said to fall into insignificance beside that of his "Don Juan" the godlike pagan who made of his life the most glamorous romance.

The romance has been screened against backgrounds of splendor that ravish the eye. Here is the pomp and pageantry of the Eternal City in its most gloriously beautiful period. And through it all is the tingling excitement of love as realized by the greatest lover of all ages.

FRANK NEILSON FUND PASSES MARK OF $225

Potters Renew Appeal in Behalf of Mine Victim.

Wife and Eight Children Live on Small Farm.

The "Frank Neilson Fund" being raised in East Liverpool for the relief of the Bell school house potter, who is in the City hospital, suffering from a broken back sustained in a mine cave-in about three weeks ago, and his family of eight children, passed the $225 mark today, according to a report of the depository, the First National bank.

Mrs. Neilson and her children, the eldest 15, are living on the small farm about seven miles north of here. Neilson's recovery is slow and it is doubtful, in the event of his recovery, whether he will be able to do any manual labor.

A committee from Local Union No. 10, Turners and Handlers, of which Neilson is a member, launched the relief movement. The First National bank will pay the bills of the family by check.

Drawn into a coin matching game with a couple of strangers, Everitt told police he won considerable of their "come on" money and as soon as they boosted the stakes and won two tosses in succession, he politely withdrew from the game.

Just How Coolidge Sprained Wrist Told In Many Versions

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—More stories than anybody can shake a stick at are in circulation, to account for that bad wrist of President Coolidge.s.

The one about United States Marshal Oscar Gunwaldsen of North Dakota is a r ere guess, like the automatic hypothesis or the Einstein theory of relativity or any of those other scientific surmises.

There's a school of thought which holds that Rebecca bit the president.

Then there's the version that he stumbled over a pile of building matrial, while inspecting repairs on the White House, and sprained his own wrist.

It's just a swelling, which he can't account for. That's another explanation.

You can hear a fresh yarn any time you care to visit the executive offices.

The mystery is why the "presidental spokesman" doesn't give the public the "low down" on the subject.

A good many people think the president hurt himself in some funny way, like falling out of bed or off his electric horse, and is afraid of being laughed at.

To Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota goes the credit for being first in print, with his Gunwaldsen story. He took Gunwaldsen to see the president, watched them shake hands and noticed, immediately afterwards, that the chief executive was using his left mitt.

As to Rebecca? Rebecca's a raccoon. The Coolidges were to have eaten her, or originally intended, but the president liked her better as a pet. When he moved up to Dupont Circle he missed her. So ond day, he brought her home with him from the White House, in his own automobile. The next morning he appeared with his wrist bandaged, and Becky was bundled off to the Rock Creek zoo that same forenoon.

It's also a fact that the president was bustled about a bit, to get him out of danger, while giving the White House repairs the once over. The movie folks shot a picture of him, being brushed aside by the workmen, with mighty little ceremony. That he hurt his wrist isn't so certain. It was censored out of the film if he did.

It's gossiped that the president doesn't like that particular movie of himself very well.

His objection's said to be based on the ground, not that the White House workmen made him more rather fast, but that the picture shows him with such an extraordinary number of freckles.

President Coolidge really is extremely freckled. He has the kind of sandy complexion that they show up on admirably, but generally they're touched out before his pictures are given any publicity. This one slipped by, somehow.

It also reveals the chief magistrate in very striking full length profile, with quite a noticeable little bay window.

That may be another thing he doesn't approve of.

That the president doesn't get anything like the exercise he should, is common talk among those who are closest to him.

He intended to get at least a couple of daily walks between Dupont circle and the executive offices, while the White House was under repairs. For a few days he did, but now he relies mainly on an auto.

He doesn't fancy the idea of having people think he's out of condition.

If his wrist really did swell without any adequate excuse furnished by Oscar Gunwaldsen, Rebecca or an accident as White House superintendent of construction, it's understandable that he may be sensitive about it.

The Jardine Commodity Basis Plan.

Secretary of Agriculture Jardine is an ardent advocate of organizing farmers' cooperative marketing associations on the commodity basis, and there is interest in what the Institute at Chicago will have to say as to that idea.

"Gluts and wastes can not be overcome," says the secretary, "nor can the spread between what the farmer receives and what the consumer pays be narrowed sufficiently until effective machinery has been set up to feed farm products into the markets of the country in an orderly manner and at a rate consistent with consumption requirements.

"This is a formidable undertaking. There is a natural division of interests between different agricultural tions of the country. Farmers of the East are heavy buyers of western grain. The South is a heavy buyer of northern pork products, grains, and feedstuffs. The North is a buyer of cotton products. Even within the same region the grain growers' finished product may be the livestock feeder's raw material.

"Our marketing policy should have regard for the interests of agriculture as a whole. plan of organization that will work fairly and effectively as between the cotton producers of the South and the mill producers of the New England states, the corn growers and the hog raisers of the corn belt, the citrus growers of California, Florida, and Texas, the cattlemen of the range and beef-cattle states, the potato growers of Maine, Idaho, Wisconsin, and Minnesota, and the producers of all the other crops grown in this country, can not be improvised in a moment. I believe, however, we are on the right track when we emphasize the commodity principle in cooperative organization."

Secretary Jardine not only believes there should be separate cooperatives for each leading farm commodity, but holds that there should be as few as possible competing organizations handling the same product.

His department is now engaged in studying the cooperative marketing of cotton, grain, livestock, fluid milk, and fruits and vegetables, which is to be considered by the Institute, and is likewise conducting analysis of the business of individual associations with the idea of accumulating a sufficient number of cases to set up operating ratios and standards, and of studying by the case system the economics of cooperative marketing.

SCREEN TREAT AT AMERICAN

John Barrymore Has Dual Role in "Don Juan."

John Barrymore is "Don Juan!"

That is the treat promised for local picture-goers at the American theatre today where this spectacular Warner Brothers production is the attraction.

Barrymore plays a dual role. First he appears as Don Juan's father, Don Jose; a courtly, punctilious, subtle Spanish aristocrat, who, discovering his wife is unfaithful, dies with this warning to his boy, Juan: "Destroy women or they will destroy you."

Next Barrymore appears as Don Juan, grown to manhood amid the magnificence of the Rome of the Borgias. The role, as developed in the picture, bears points of resemblance to that memorable character of the Renaissance lover which Barry more played on the stage in Sem Bellini's "The Jest"; a silken, senssuous, seductive lover, who, with a smile on his lips, poisons the minds of the women who yield to his irresistible fascinations. Thus he becomes the destroyer.

Barrymore's magnetic personality has never, according to all reports been more effectively projected than in this picture. Excellent as were his performances in "Beau Brummel" and "The Sea Beast," these achievements are said to fall into insignificance beside that of his "Don Juan" the godlike pagan who made of his life the most glamorous romance.

The romance has been screened against backgrounds of splendor that ravish the eye. Here is the pomp and pageantry of the Eternal City in its most gloriously beautiful period. And through it all is the tingling excitement of love as realized by the greatest lover of all ages.

MARINE BAND CONCERT HERE ON OCTOBER 9

Sunday Program for Police and Firemen's Pension Fund.

MID-WEST TOUR

Ceramic Theatre Owner Donates Use of Playhouse.

The 60-piece United States Marine band will visit East Liverpool on Sunday, October 9 for afternoon and evening concerts at the Ceramic theatre for the benefit of the police and firemen's pension fund.

Arrangements for the engagement were completed yesterday. Members of the band have been given a two-month leave of absence from the marine base for a tour through the mid-west.

The ministerial association approved the plan after arrangements had been made to start the evening concert at 9 o'clock after church services are concluded. The afternoon program will start at 2:30 o'clock.

No tickets will be sold on Sunday. Manager William Tallman has donated the use of the theatre.

Profits will go toward the fund started about a year to provide pensions for retired members of the police and fire departments.

CROWD HEARS REV. J. B. EDIE

Youngstown Delegation Attends Orchard Grove Church.

Before a large crowd of people that necessitated utilizatfon of the Sunday school room for the overflow, Rev. Joseph B. Edie, of Youngstown, assisting Rev. C. B. Conn, the pastor, at Orchard Grove Methodist Episcopal church, in a two-weeks' revival began the final interim of the local engagement last evening with an appealing discourse on "The Good Shepherd."

Compelled to return to his church in the Mahoning county city for the morning service his place was filled by Rev. Mr. Conn. Returning for the evening meeting he brought with him fraternal greetings from his own congregation which later as he started his sermon was further indicated by the arrival in the auditorium of several of his parishioners, who made the trip here by motor cars. At the conclusion of the preaching they were given a cordial reception by their East Liverpool brethren.

Directed by Charles A. Price a period of song preceded the address of the pastor-evangelist. This was supplemented by an arresting duet by Rev. and Mrs. Conn, "James Leads." They were accompanied by Mrs. Edie, who at the conclusion of her husband's speaking very tellingly sang "The Ninety And Nine." She in the latter number was assisted by Mrs. H. M. Burns at the piano. The organist during the evening was Miss Mary Burnes. The invocation was by Rev. Mr. Conn.

Except on Saturday services will be held each night this week, the series concluding on Sunday. Rev. Mr. Edie will preach at all these meeting. Mrs. Edie, Rev. and Mrs. Conn will sing at intervals in them. Sunday school classes with their teachers will attend together on Thursday evening, while Family night will be celebrated on Friday evening, when the largest present will be given a token by the pastor.

All services are to begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock.

Rheumatism can't be rubbed away

Are you one of those unfortunates who suffer with pains in your muscles and joints, making you miserable, less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep?

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S. S. S? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

"I suffered from rheumatism for a good many years. At times my joints would swell so, I couldn't walk. I tried most everything. Went to Hot Springs and finally I decided to try S. S. S. I took a course. In a short time the rheumatic pains entirely left me. I also had a breaking out on my hands for years that nothing would heal, but now this has disappeared, and I am sure that it was S. S. S. which removed the cause. I am now in perfect health, and want to add that I have tried all kinds of medicines but I think S. S. S. is the best." Carl C. Campbell, 115 West Main street, Johnson City, Tenn.

S. S. S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.
